CATEGOLIC DO(OTR)

OF A

RINI

PROVED BY ABOVE AN HUNDRED SHORT AND CLEAR ARGUMENTS. EXPRESSED IN THE TERMS OF THE

Y SCRIPTURE,

Compared after a Manner entirely New, and Digetted under the Four following TITLES:

1. The Divinity of Christ. [3. The Plurality of Parlans.
2. The Divinity of the Holy Gooft. [4. The Trinity in Unity.

With a few REFLECTIONS, occasionally interspersed, upon fome of the ARIAN WRITERS, particularly Dr. S. CLARKE:

To which is added,

A LETTER to the COMMON PROPLE, in Answer to some POPULAR ARGUMENTS against THE TRINITY,

BY WILLIAM JONES, M.A. F.R.S.

ERCTOR OF PASTON, IN NORTHAMPTONSHIER, AND MINISTER OF NAYLAND, IN SUFFICIAL,

Thou shalt answer for me, O Lord my God. Pfal. xxxviii. 15. eds which man's wifdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghoft teac comparing spiritual things with spiritual. 1 Cor. ii. 13.

THE SEVENTH EDITION.

LONDON:

PRINTED FOR F. AND C. RIVINGTON, Nº 62, ST. PAUL'S CHURCH-TARD. 1795.

This TRACT is in the List of Books, dispersed by "The Society for Promoting Christian Know-"Ledge," as a Work well calculated to disseminate the Knowledge of evangelical Truth, at a Time, when the Enemies of our boly Faith are busy in their Endeavours to undermine it; and it may be bad, by the Members, on the Terms of the Society.

46 1 's

son constant much sometrace milit

AND STORESTON

processor has been been all with a first

Commenter of the second of the second

T A B L E

OF THE

CONTENTS.

of the contract in a section of the contract of

With Many and Introductory Discourse.

Religions, by it	国际中国企业工程的发展的		the truth	7-12
Whence this differen	国际的 "不是一个一个		e esta produce	14-20
Men differ about	SELECTION OF THE PARTY OF THE P	as well a	s Christian	中国安全和
Doctrines				16, 17
Men are subject to a bear the Truth	state of min	d, in which	they cannot	1 48
Remedy against Err	or -	-		20
The fundamental Er	rer of mode	m Arianifo	0	28

The Divinity of Christ demonstrated by a comparison of fuch texts as serve to interpret one another

CONTENTS.

	Rage
Single texts abused by Arians, chared up by a com	to the second
parifon with other texts	43
Divinity of Christ proved, by another series of arguments II- I II I	59
The word Consubstantial justified by the terms of ESTATE SECURIOR AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY.
Scripture 7	53
C'H'A P. 'II.	1 + 1 1
The Divinity of the Holy Ghost demonstrated by a 2000年1月1日日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本日本 comparison of different texts - T) 55
Objections answered by the Scripture -	68
The great usefulness of the Old Testament, in this Subject of the Trinity	79
Dr. Clarke's sophistical treatment of the Bible	71
CHAP. III.
	1-4
God is distinguished in the Old Testament, by a great. variety of Plural names and expressions	74
The Divine Plurality is a Trinity of persons	82
The controverted text of I John v. 7. cited by the	NOTE OF THE PARTY
Latins before the council of Nice	86
了一个大型的大型,更是不够重要的一种的大型,但是一个大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大型的大 An instance of Dr. Clarke's distress and sophistry, in evading the terms Lord of Hosts, as applied to Christ by St. John	89
A caution against a trite artifice of the Arian writers	89, 90
62 1
CHAP. IV.
The Unity of the Trinity demonstrated. 1. By the application of the incommunicable name Jehovah,
and other Supreme appellations, to the three Persons	1/1 00
2. By the same divine Attributes equally ascribed to	24
。
them -	96
3. By an ineffable communion, in the same acts of omnipotence -	98
	A Sum-
	A ALL TO THE BEATT

CONTENTS.

	Page
A Summary of the whole work, in a conclusion	Tot
A practical address to the Catholic reader	105
A Letter to the Common People,
The origin and iffue of Arianism
I. Arian writers work upon the pride of the common	LLI people
II. They tell them their common sense is a sufficient	113
guide without the Clergy	114
III. They invest the people with a right of judging
as they please	116
IV. They try to fet them against the Athanasian Creed	117
Their objection returns much stronger upon themselves	118
V. They forge a contradiction, and put it into the Athanasian Creed -	ibid,
VI. Fallible Arians rail at the orthodox for being fallible men: yet these fallible men do not deliver their own doctrines, but such as they receive from an infallible God	ibid.
VII. Their profitution of Protestant principles	119
VIII. Faith of the first Reformers reflected upon by	4
Arian writers; but is an argument against them-Selves -	122
IX. They think the reformed faith as bad as Popish	11
Idolatry: but the ground of their accufation is	full!
weak and blasphemous -	123
They alter the Scripture to keep this accusation in coun-	11-1-
tenance	127
X. A sophistical objection to the Litany, by the author of The Confessional	ibid.
XI. The Arians plead seriously for the removal of the	111 orthodox faith, because it is offensive to Jews and Turks	128
	XII.

CONTENTS

 \odot

XII. 7	bey encourage the people	with the example of	Page
	frian Clergymen art the mob for their	affiltance against the	137
Churc		Diameter A	132
1 their	own suin; from which i	there will probably be	i i s si i
no sec	and Restoration.		133
秦科 ·	The second second		a with the
	What was a second	the three little with the	WYA" .11
$ T2 30	1-11-11 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Les and the state of the second of	Trace and
		William Williams	STAME
dis.	A CONTRACT OF STATE OF THE STAT	The Arms - work Linear telephone	Water Harry
The Contract of the Contract o	Suit Bring Million	ar a sales are a	34-1
222 Se	The state of the s	All and the second of the second Contraction of a Sales
		Car Aller and Car	3
W AA
Transc Sk
Author.
	A Commission of the Commission
227		Anna Park
			N2 . X.I
No.		Section Alexander	wholes to
12/1/02		SHOW WHEN IN
4. 4	Commence of the second	MARKET THE THE MENT
ATEST		77	1
		A Company of the Comp	-
			1
	What is well		41/10

(life

TO THE

REVEREND AND WORTHY
THE VICE-CHANCELLOR,

THE HEADS OF HOUSES,

AND OTHER MEMBERS OF

THE UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD,

THE FOLLOWING DEFENCE

OF THE

DOCTRINE OF THE EVER-BLESSED TRINITY IS MOST RESPECTFULLY INSCRIBED,

BY

THE AUTHOR.

TO FEEL OF AMELIOAN CLUM CINE CINE SANGER IN THE shing vice entrope and PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE 40 saven san san to total V The Content of Carolin, 11. TO ar charles eve and the arbid

PREFACE

The remaindered the Chief Stewart of Co.

TO THE CONT

THIRD EDITION.

M Y Bookseller having solicited me to re-publish this little Treatise, I have corrected the typographical errors of the last edition, and enlarged some passages of the work itself.

The attempt of a late Bishop of Clogher to propagate Arianism in the Church of Ireland, induced me to keep the doctrine of the Trinity in my thoughts for some years; and I had a particular attention to it as often as the Scriptures, either of the Old or New Testament, were before me, This little book was the fruit of my study; of which I have seen some good effects already, and ought not to despair of seeing more before I die.

Many other observations have occurred to me fince the first publication, which I should willingly have added. But some readers might have been discouraged, if I had presented them with a book of too large a fize: and the merits of the cause lie-

B 2

THE re-publication of this work, though merely accidental, is not unseasonable at this time, when we are taught from the press*, (and the author seems to be very much in earnest) that the only sure way of reducing Christianity to its primitive purity, is to abolish all Creeds and Articles. But the great rock of offence with this writer, is the Trinity; to get rid of which, he would at once dissolve our whole ecclesiastical constitution, and form of worship.

This wild project furnishes a melancholy confirmation of the censure passed upon us by some learned Protestants abroad, who have reflected upon England as a country productive of literary monsters †; where some old heresy is frequently rising up, as old comets have been supposed to do, with new and portentous appearances. And the reader whose sight can penetrate through the vehement accusations of popery, bigotry, persecution, imposition, and other stery vapours with which this author hath surrounded his personnance, will discover little, if any thing, more than Arianism at the centre.

THE Scripture is the only rule that can enable us to judge whether that or the Catholic doctrine of the Trinity is more agreeable to truth: there-

^{*} In a new work, intitled The Confessional. † Carpzov. Pref. in Pseudo Critic: Whistonii.

2

y

n ar

ly

ve

ut

he ce

ad

n-

ne

on

n-ng

ith

ler ent

osi-

nor ver

the Total .

ble

inc

ere-

FREE

1.0

fore

fore I have confined myself to this unexceptionable kind of evidence for the proof of the latter, and have made the Scripture its own interpreter. But our adversaries, though they allow the sufficiency of the Scripture, and unjustly pretend to distinguish themselves from us by insisting upon it, do nevertheless make such frequent use of a lower fort of evidence to bias common readers, and shew the expediency of what they are pleafed to call Reformation; that I have thought proper to exhibit a specimen of their method of proceeding in that respect, by adding to this edition A Letter to the Common People, in answer to some popular Arguments These arguments are extracted against the Trinity. chiefly from a small book, intitled, An Appeal to the Common Sense of all Christian People; a thing very highly commended by the author of the Confessional*. But in this author's estimation, every writer that opposes the faith of the Church of England, is ipso facto invincible: and consequently, this retailer of Dr. Clarke's opinions, whoever he

* "Which book," (fays he) "has passed through two editions without any fort of reply that I have heard of. This looks as if able writers were not willing to meddle with the subject, or that willing writers were not able to manage it." p. 320. The Rev. Mr. Landon published an answer to this book in 1764, printed for Whiston and White; and he has mentioned another himself in a note. But had the case really been as he hath reported in his text, it will by no means follow, that a book is therefore unanswerable, because it hath received no answer. If this be good logic, I could present him with a conclusion or two, which he would not very well like.

B 3

A TOLLIAN OF

is.

Alter-ipongint.

is, must come in for his share of merit and applause; which I by no means envy him.

So far as the Scripture itself hath been thought to furnish any objections to the received doctrine, I judged it the fairer and the surer way to answer them as they were offered by Dr. Clarke himself, and have therefore no apology to make for neglecting some of his disciples, who have not made any improvement on his arguments, as I do not find that this gentleman hath: the second edition of whose Appeal was published in 1754, since which there have been two editions of the Catholic Doctrine in England, and one or more in Ireland.

By all the observations I have been able to make, the greater number of those who disbelieve the Trinity upon principle, (for many do it implicitly, and are credulous in their unbelief) do not profess to take their notions of God from the Bible, but affect to distinguish themselves from the common herd, by drawing them from the fountains of Reason and Philosophy. We cannot be perfuaded. that the Trinity is denied by reasoners of this complexion, because the Scripture hath not revealed it: but do rather suspect that some philosophers diffent from this point of Christian doctrine, because they are not humble enough to take the Scripture as a test of their religious opinions. In which case the whole labour of collecting of texts, and framing of comments, and fishing for various readings, is an after-thought, It is submitted to rather for apoit

e,

r

-

y

d

of

h

C-,

e,

16

y,

-6

e,

1-

of

ed.

n-nt

ey

4

he

of an

10-

gy

logy than for proof; to reconcile readers of the Scripture to that doctrine which they would be more jealous of receiving if they knew it to have been originally borrowed from another quarter. He that would deceive a Christian, can seldom do his work effectually without a Bible in his hand: a confideration which may help us to a fight of the consequences, if persons were permitted to teach in our churches without any previous enquiry concerning their religious fentiments, and fo allowed to take the fame liberty, either through mistake or ill defign, as was taken by the arch-deceiver in the wilderness *, who never meant to use the Scripture for edification, but only for destruction; not to apply it as an infrument of good, but to turn it, as far as he was able, into an instrument of evil. The Bible was given us for the prefervation of the kingdom of Christ upon earth; as the Book of Statutes in this kingdom is intended to fecure the authority of the government, together with the life, peace, and property, of every individual: and we want no prophet to foreshew us the confequences, if all the malecontents in the nation were allowed to be public interpreters of the laws.

THESE confiderations I leave the judicious to apply as they find occasion. I use them chiefly as hints, for the benefit both of such as may be in danger of wresting the Scriptures to their own destruction, and of such philosophers as those al-

* Matt. iv. 6,

B 4

luded

luded to by St. Paul*, who through the profession of fancied wisdom fell into real folly, and purchased a reputed knowledge of things natural and metaphysical, at the lamentable expence of losing the knowledge of God.

band aid ai platia is 220 of Cor. il 210 de la de la main a confideration which may help us to a fight of the confequelices, if perions were permitted to teach - Proceeding without any previous religion of be Jan 1, 1767 s. command and ide viells mais see to take the floor liberty, either through millake of ill defrem, as was taken by the arch deceiver in the wildernels *, who never meant to alle the Scripture for edition on but only for defludion; not to apply it add, tall marent of good, but to tura it; as far as logy as able, into an intensent of weil. The Billie was given of for the rectardation of the kingdom e. Carifly upon cariffy as the Book of Statotes in this kings on is intended to featre the authority of the government, togrisch with the life, peace, and enoperty, or every marvidual : and : we want on propher to for thew us the center Tuescentification and concents in the nation were allowed to be eabled interpretent of the laws.

These confidenceionari sha a the judicious to apply as the Smi oreaften. Inde them chiefly asching for the bounds input of fuch as may be undianger of treatment the Seriounes to the own danger if the own danger if the fuch phile ophers as under al-

A mi make

babert

in the inadequate with the first mider of bown they believe a strength true first a will be the probabilities part of mon-

demonstrative

ed

ta-

he

Tie.

214

a. Oc

con in o

1100

E 03

b iii

Mile

ture

5 01

n ili

on I

gnix

Sian

ditte

911

3345

collis

what a see one of the see of the promise and the state of the state of the state of the many who are almost content of the least without the view

THE Christian religion is best known and distinguished by the God proposed in it, as the object of our faith and obedience; and as there is no true religion, but the religion of Christians, so is there no true God, but the God of Christians,

Before the coming of Christ, and the fulfilling of the Law. God was known by the name of Jehovah, the God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Facob. The Israelites, who were the feed of Abraham, and drew their whole religion from a divine revelation, had the knowledge of the true God; and the people of every other nation, who were "aliens from " the commonwealth of Ifrael, and strangers from the co-"venants of promise," were also "without God in the world "," Though they talked much of God, and wrote much of him, and offered him many facrifices, yet they knew him not: the being they ferved, was not God, but another in the place of him, falfely called by his name. And though fome modern Christians have forgot there was any difference, yet the very heathens themselves, upon some occasions, were ready enough to allow it. Nauman the Syrian, when he was cured of his leprofy by the prophet Elisha, made a public confession of it.—" Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Ifrael 2." The same is affirmed by the inspired Psalmist-" All the gods of the heathens are idols 3;" and God himfelf declares them all to have been vanities 4.

Feph, ii. 12, 3 2 Kings v. 15. 3 Pfal. xcvi. 5. 4 Jer. xiv. 22.

The case is now with the Christians under the Gospel, as it anciently was with the Jews under the Law: they believe in the only true God; while the unchristian part of mankind, who are by far the majority, either know him not, or wilfully deny him; as Pharaoh did the God of the Hebrews when he was told of him. And we are now got to fuch a pitch of indevotion and ignorance, that among those who profess and call themselves Christians, there are too many who are almost come to be Heathers without knowing it. For there is a fashionable notion propagated by most of our moral writers, and readily subscribed to by those who say their prayers but feldom, and can never find time to read their Bible, that all who worship any God, worship the Same God; as if we worthipped the three letters of the word God, instead of the Being meant and understood by it. The Universal Prayer of Mr. Alexander Pope was composed upon this plan; wherein the Supreme Being is addressed as a common Father of all, under the names, Jehovah, Jove, and Lord. And this humour of confounding things, which ought to be distinguished at the peril of our souls, and of comprehending believers and idolaters under one and the fame religion, is called a catholic spirit, that shews the very exaltation of Christian charity. But God, it is to be feared, will require an account of it under another name; and though the poet could see no difference, but has mistaken fove or Jupiter for the same Father of all with the Lord Jehovah; yet the Apostle has instructed us better; who, when the Priest of Jupiter came to offer facrifice, exhorted him very paffionately to "turn from those vanities unto the living God ;" will knowing that he whom the Priest adored under the name of Jupiter, was not the living God, but a creature, a nothing, a vanity. Yet the catholic spirit of a moralist can discern no difference; and while it pretends some zeal for a fort of universal religion, common to believers and infidels, betrays a fad indifference for the Christian religion in particular. This error is so monstrous in a land enlightened by the Gospel, and yet so very common amongst us at present, that I may be pardoned for speaking of it in the manner it deserves. And let me beseech every serious person, who is willing to have his prayers heard, to consider this matter a little better, and use a more correct form; for God, who is jealous of his honour, and has no communion with idols, will certainly reject the petition that sets him upon a level with Baal and Jupiter.

The true God is He that was "in Christ reconciling the "world to himself;" there is none other but He; and if this great characteristic be denied, or any other assumed in its stead, a man is left without God; after which, he may call himself a Deist, if he will; but his God is a mere idol of the imagination, and has no corresponding reality in the whole universe of beings.

The modern Jews, by denying their Golf to have been manifest in the stells, are as effectually departed from the true God, as their foresathers were, when they danced before the golden cals, and called their idolatrous service "a seast to the Lord." For the Being of God is not an object of sight, but of saith; it enters first into the heart; and if it be wrong there, the sirst commandment is broken: if a sigure of it be set up before the eyes, then the second is broken likewise. The first forbids us to have any other God; the second, to make any graven image of him. Now though we make no image, yet if with the heart we believe in any God different from the true, the idolatry indeed may be less, but the apostacy is the same. And this seems to be the case of the Jew.

The Mahometans are another set of insidels, who abhor idols, but have in express terms denied the Son of God, and set up an idol of the imagination, a God in one Person. They inveigh bitterly against the Christians for worshipping three Gods; for so they state the doctrine of a Trinity in Unity, as some others have done beside them.

In answer to all these abominations of the Deist, the Jew, and the Mahometan, and to shew that no unbeliever of any denomination can be a servant of the true God, it is written

who-

"whosever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father!" and again—"whosever transgresseth and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not GOD?." And let the Socinians, who have not only vindicated the religion of Mahomet, but preferred it to the Christianity of the church of England, which with them is "no better nor other than a fort of Paganism and Heathenism*," let them consider what a share they have in this condemnation.

And to bring this matter home to the Arians; it is to be observed, that every article of the Christian faith depends upon the doctrine of a Trinity in Unity. If that be given up, the other doctrines of our religion must go with it, and so it has been in fact, that the authors who have written against the Trinity, have also disputed away some other essential parts of Christianity; particularly the doctrines of the fatisfaction and of original fin.

The whole Bible treats of little else but our creation, redemption, sanctification, resurrection, and glorification, by the power of Christ and the Holy Spirit: and the reader will find hereafter, that there is neither name, act, nor attribute of the Godhead, that is not shared in common by all the perfons of the Trinity. If, therefore, the persons of Christ and the Spirit are not God in the Unity of the Father, then the prayers and praises we offer to them, as the authors of every bleffing, will not be directed to the supreme Lord and God, beside whom no other is to be worshipped, but to his creatures and instruments: which overthrows the sense of our whole religion; and drives us upon a fort of fecond-rate faith and worship, which, beside the blasphemy of it, can be nothing but confusion and contradiction. It is no wonder then, that the Arians and Socinians, with their several underfects and divisions, who have fallen into this snare, and departed from the divine Unity, while they pretend to be the only men who affert it, have never yet been able to agree in the forms of religious worship. Some of them allowing that Christ is to receive divine worship, but always with this referve, that the prayer tend ultimately to the person of the Father. So that Christ is to be worshipped, only he is not to be worshipped: and if you should venture, when you are at the point of death, to fay with St. Stephen-" Lord Jefus, " receive my spirit "-and confess the person of Jesus to be "the God of the Spirits of all flesh '," by committing your own spirit into his hands; you are to take care not to die without throwing in some qualifying comment, to affure him you do it only in hypocrify, not meaning him but another. Others, again, knowing this distinction to be vain and indefensible, and the same for substance with the Latria and Dulia, by which the church of Rome excuses her adoration of the bleffed Virgin, &c. have fairly got rid of it, by denying to the person of Christ any divine worthip or invocation at all; which is the case with our Socinian Unitarians here in England; for those of Poland are quite of another mind.

¹ John ii. 23. 2 2 John 9.

^{*} See Leslie's Theological Works, Fol. Vol. I. p. 218, where the reader may find a great deal more to the same purpose; and particularly an Epistle of the Socimians, to the Morocco Embassador, in the time of Charles II. a great suriosity, wherein their whole scheme is laid open to the bottom by themselves.

How far such differences as these must needs affect a Liturgy, it is very easy to foresee: and that it will for ever be as impossible to frame a Creed or a Service to please all those who bear the name of Christians, as to make a coat that shall sit men of all sizes *. Prayer and divine worship and religious confession, are the fruit and breath of faith; and "out of the abundance of the heart, the mouth speaketh":" so that until we are agreed in matters of faith, there is

f

A

n

of

d

15

of te

er er

r-

ę.

der

iftle

reat

loss.

ted

neither

¹ Acts vii. 59. 2 Numb. xvi. 22. 3 Matt. xii. 344.

Hales of Eton, in his farcastic and malicious Tract upon Schism, proposes it as a grand expedient for the advancing of Unity, that we should a consider all the Liturgies, that are and ever have been; and remove from them whatever is scandalous to any party, and leave nothing but what all agree on." He should have closed this sentence a little sooner; and advised us fairly and honestly to leave nothing; for that will certainly be the event, when the objections of all parties are suffered to prevail; there being no one page of the Liturgy, wherein all, who pretend to worship God as Christians, are agreed.

neither hope nor possibility of our agreeing in any form of worship. God is the fountain-head, and religion the stream that descends from it. Our sentiments as to religion, always flow from the opinion we have formed of the divine nature; and will be right or wrong, sweet or bitter, as the sountain is from whence they are derived. It is the having a different God, that makes a different religion. A true God produces a true religion; a false God, a false religion. Jews, Turks, Pagans, Deists, Arians, Socinians, and Christians, all differ about a religion, because they differ about a God.

These sew observations will be sufficient, I hope, to raise the attention of the reader; and persuade him, that a right saith in God is a much more serious affair than some would make it; that it is of the last concern, and hath a necessary influence upon the practice and holiness of our lives; that as no other devotion is acceptable with God, but that which is scasoned with love and charity and uniformity, the very mark and badge whereby his disciples are to be known from the men of this world, it is the principal duty of every Christian to know in whom he ought to believe, that "with one mind and one mouth we may glorify God":" for a right notion of God will as surely be followed by a sound faith and an uniform profession in all other points; as a salse saith and a discordant worship will grow from every wrong opinion of him.

All that can be known of the true God, is to be known by Revelation. The false lights indeed of reason and nature are set up and recommended, as necessary to assist and ratify the evidence of Revelation: but enquiries of this kind, as they are now managed, generally end in the degradation of Christ, and the Christian religion *: till it can be shewn therefore that the Scripture neither does nor can shine by a light and authority of its own, the evidence we are to rest in, must be drawn from thence; and as we all have the same

1 Rom. xv. 6.

Scripture,

[•] You may have a proof of this from the Effay on Spirit, by comparing the book with its title, which runs thus—The Destrine of the Trinity considered in the Light of Reason and Nature, &cc.

Scripture, without doubt we ought all to have the same opinion of God.

of

m ys.

e;

un

ent

ces

ks,

fer

to it a

me

h a

our

but

ity

be luty

that

...

by a nts.;

rom

own ature

atify

d, as

on of newn

by a

ft in,

fame

ing the

ed in the

pture,

But here it is commonly objected, that men will be of different opinions; that they have a right to judge for them-felves; and that when the best evidence the nature of the case will admit of is collected and laid before them, they must determine upon it as it appears to them, and according to the light of their own consciences: so that if they adhere as closely to their errors after they have consulted the proper evidence as they did before, we are neither to wonder nor be troubled at it.

This very moderate and benevolent way of thinking, has been studiously recommended by those, who found it necesfary to the well-being of their own opinions, that not a spark of zeal should be left amongst us, And surely it is no new thing that the advocates of any particular error, next to themselves and their own fashion, should naturally incline to those who are softest and stand least in the way. Hence it is, that however magisterial and insolent they may carry themselves in their own cause; they always take care to feafon their writings with the praises of this frozen indifference; calling that Christian charity, which is nothing but the absence of Christianity: and any the least appearance of earnestness for some great and valuable truth, which we are unwilling to part with, because we hope to be saved by it, is brow-beaten, condemned, and cast out of their moral fystem, under the name of heat, want of temper, fire, fury, &c. They add moreover, that articles of faith are things merely speculative; and that it is of little signification what a man believes, if he is but hearty and fincere in it: that is, in other words, it is a mere trifle whether we feed upon bread * or poison t; the one will prove to be as good nourishment as the other, provided it be eaten with an appetite. Yet some well-meaning people are fo puzzled and deceived by this lophistry, that they look upon concord among Christians as a thing impracticable and desperate; concluding a point to ^{*} See and compare Deut. viii. 3. Amos viii. 11. Acts xx. 28.

⁴ James ili, 8, z Tim. iv. z.

be disputable because it is disputed; and so they fall into a loose indifferent humour of palliating and thinking charitably, as it is called, of every error in faith and practice; as if the church of Christ might very innocently be turned into a Babel of confusion.

Now that men do maintain opinions strangely different from one another, especially on subjects wherein it most concerns them to be agreed, is readily confessed: we are all witnesses of it: and, allowing them to be equally informed, there are but three possible sources from whence this difference can arise. It must be either from God, or from the Scripture, or from themselves. From God it cannot be, for it is a great evil; it is the triumph of Deists and reprobates, and the best handle the enemies of Christianity ever found against it: and God is not the author of evil. Nor can it be from the Scripture: to draw it thence, is but. another way of imputing it to God. The Scripture is his word; and he is answerable for the effect of his words when written or reported, as when they are suggested at first hand by the voice of his Holy Spirit. It remains therefore, that the only fource of this evil must be the heart of man: and that it really is fo, will be evident from the Scripture, and the plainest matters of fact. The account we have of this affair is, in short, as follows-Ever since the fall, the nature of man has been blind and corrupt; his " understanding "darkened"," and his affections polluted: upon the face of the whole earth there is no man, Yew or Gentile, that "under-" flandeth and feeketh after God ";" the natural man, or man remaining in that state wherein the fall left him, is so far from being able to discover or know any religious truth, that he hates and flies from it when it is proposed to him; he " receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God 3." Man is natural and earthly; the things of God are spiritual and heavenly; and these are contrary one to the other: therefore, as the "wisdom of this world is foolishness with " God +," fo the wisdom of God is foolishness with the * See and compare Deat, ville er Agges with ag- and

of

A

..

ov

46

86 nel

the ^{*} Ephes. iv. 18. 2 Rom. iii. 11. 3 1 Cor. ii. 14. 4 Ibid. iii. 19.

world. In a word, the sense man is now possessed of, where God does not restrain it, is used for evil and not for good: his "wisdom is earthly, sensual *, devilish ';" it is the sagacity of a brute ', animated by the malignity of an evil spirit.

it

1,

1

e

7

T

r ıţ.

is

d

at

d

d

IS

re

g

of

r-

or

(o

h,

1;

n

nd

h

C

d.

This being the present state of man, the Scripture does therefore declare it necessary, that he should be "transformed by the renewing of his mind 3," and restored to that found mind "," and " light of the understanding "," that fpiritual discernment 6," with which the human nature was endued when it came from the hands of God, but to which it has been dead from the day that evil was brought nto the world. And where the grace of God that should ppen the eyes, and prepare the heart to receive instruction? has been obstinately withstood and resisted; this blindness, which at first was only natural, becomes judicial; from being defect, it is confirmed into a judgment; and men are not only unable to difcern the truth, but are fettled and rivetted n error: which is the case with all those to whom "God fends strong delusion that they should believe a lie, and have pleasure in unrighteousness. It is then they sit own in the " feat of the scornful," as " fools" that " make a mock at fin "," and " despifers of those that are good ";" ating and railing at their fellow-creatures, only because hey are endued with the fear of God! This is the last stage of blindness; and it is referred to in those words of the Apostle-" If our Gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are " lost ":" as also in that lamentation of our blessed Lord over the city of Jerusalem .- " If thou hadst known, even " thou, at least in this thy day, the things that belong to "thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes 3."

The absolute necessity of God's grace to lighten our darkness, has often been largely and faithfully insisted upon by the writers and preachers of the church of England: but ^{*} Yuxun, Natural.

¹ James iii. 15. ² Jude to. ³ Rom. xii. 2. ⁴ 2 Tim. i. 7. ⁵ Eph. i. 18. ⁶ 1 Cor. ii. 14. ⁷ Prov. xx. 12. and xvi. 1. ⁸ 2 Theff. ii. 11. ⁹ Prov. xiv. 9. ¹ 2 Tim. iii. 3. ² 2 Cor. iv. 3. ³ Luke xix. 42.

fince a spirit of Deism has crept in among us, it has been openly flighted and contemned by fome, and too much neglected by others; which has given an opportunity to feveral forts of enthusiasts to make a wrong use of it: such as our Quakers, Methodists, and particularly the Reverend Mr. William Law, who, after writing fo excellently upon the vanity of the world, and the follies of human life, (on which subjects he has no superior) has left us nothing to depend upon but imagination, and reduced the whole evidence of Christianity to fancied impulses and inspiration; so as to render the Scriptures useless, and the appointed means of grace contemptible. I have observed the like to have happened in many other instances; that where any effential point of doctrine has been dropt by the writers of the church, or at least not brought out to view so often as it should have been, it has been taken up by others, (as all tares are fown while the husbandmen are afleep) and employed, under some false state of it, to the no small disadvantage of the church and the Christian religion.

To illustrate this subject a little farther, I shall make it appear by a few plain examples, that where mankind have been divided in their opinions with regard to any divine truth, it has not been owing to the ambiguity of its terms, or the defect of its evidence, but wholly and folely to the state and temper of the hearers. And thus Christ himself has instructed us in his parable of the fower; that where the good feed of the word perifhes, it is to be imputed to the ground and not to the feed. How elfe can we account for it, that when St. Paul laid the evidence of the Gospel before a large affembly of Jews at Rome, " some believed the things " which were spoken, and some believed not "," though the fame things were spoken to all? Such in general was the fuccess of the apostolical preaching; some few " receiving "the word with gladness;" while others opposed themselves and blasphemed. And though it be supposed, that words are more easily misunderstood than facts, and may admit of a greater latitude; yet here we shall find, that the same it

0

on

ef

uc

r

b

e ife

t en

ng

e

kii

in

m

g

nc

w

l o

it

tio

our

FC

ere

ame

TI

lse

on o

I Jo

Acts

pirit which has divided mankind in what are called the nore speculative points of faith, will also divide them in the lainest and most striking matters of fact. The resurrection f Lazarus was a matter of fact, feen and attested by a cometent number of witnesses: but how different was the effect f it upon different persons! for while it had its free course ith many of the Jews, and moved them to believe on Jesus, only moved the chief Priests to hate him the more; and they onfulted how" they might put Lazarus also to death ." When efus cured the blind, and cast out devils, some rightly conuded—" Rabbi, thou art a teacher come from God; for. no man can do these miracles that thou dost, except God, be with him 2:" yet there were not a few, and they of e most learned and knowing too, who concluded far otherife, that he " cast out devils by Beelzebub the prince of the devils 3." So likewise, when the Holy Ghost deended on the Apostles, and inspired them with the gift of ngues, fome devout men were amazed and confounded at e miracle; plainly feeing the hand of God in it, and king what it meant, what was the end and design of it? and ing informed by St. Peter's discourse, that it was to conm the mission of "Jesus of Nazareth, received his word gladly, and were baptized 4;" while others, to avoid the nclusion, " mocking, said, these men are full of new wine 5." Here is a great multitude affembled together; I of them witnesses to the same fact: yet, in their opinions it, they are as far asunder as drunkenness is from inspition. But in this case no Christian will raise a doubt pout the real inspiration of the Apostles, or deny the power God to have been sufficiently manifested, because some ere so profane and senseless as to ridicule it, under the ame of drunkenness.

2

f

2 ę

g

S

ls £

0

t

This felf-deceit always operates by the affistance of some lse principle contrary to the Scripture; which gets posseson of the heart by ministering to the passions. And till ² John xii. 10, 11. ² John iii. 2. ³ Matt. xii. 24. ⁴ Acts ii. 41. Acts v. 13.

that be dispossessed, no truth will be suffered to enter which can in the least affect or destroy it. A man in such circumstances may see the truth staring him in the sace; and the clearer he sees it, the more he will be enraged at it. He may be convicted, and lest without a word to say, but what will expose the hardness and perplexity of his heart; but till it be emptied of its evil treasure, and he becomes as a little child that has nothing of its own to oppose to the revelation of God, he cannot be converted; but will either shut his eyes, and deny the evidence that is offered to him, or pretend it is a nice point, very difficult to be understood; and so give a perverse turn to it, though it be ever so plain and intelligible. Till the disciples of Christ resigned themselves up to be led into all truth by the teaching of the Holy Spirit, they were in the state of mind I am now describing; dull of hearing, and doubtful, and flow of heart. They were often warned of it, particularly in the following words:- " I have " yet many things to fay unto you, but ye cannot bear them now ." And as the divine wisdom made choice of such men for the good of those who thould come after, so these things are written of them for our admonition. They had haid it down as a first principle, that their master's kingdom was to be of this world: and formed all their reasonings and expectations accordingly. One was to fit at his right hand, another 'at his left; and they were ever disputing which should be the greatest. Any occurrence that flattered this notion, was gladly received, and made the most of; and every thing that could not be reconciled with it, was thrust out of fight. "When the Son of man began to teach them, " that he must suffer many things, and be rejected of the " elders, and of the chief priests and scribes, and be killed, " and after three days rife again ";" all these things were so destructive of their principle, that Peter began to rebuke him, as if he had heard blasphemy. Christ took an opportunity of inculcating this doctrine afresh, when they were no

of i

*

. 6

·

e v ern

ey

ayı

Tir

im

av

har

her

I

t

(

on

in

b

d

iey

xai

DW

me t W

nd

ire

h

n

on

o aj

alle

. CC

I John xvi. 12.

² Mark viii. 31.

rich

ım-

the

He

hat

but as a ve-

hut

10

and

and

be

hey

of ten ave

em

uch

efe

had om

and

nd,

ich

his

and rust

m,

the

ed,

ere

uke

or-

ere

in

in a state of conviction at seeing him perform a miracle; endeavouring, as it were, to furprize them into a confession of its truth: but the time was not yet .- " While they wondered every one at all things which Jesus did, he said unto his disciples, let these sayings sink down into your ears: for the Son of man shall be delivered into the hands of men. But they understood not this faying; it was hid from them, that they perceived it not "." The erms were clear and intelligible enough; and the ideas coneyed by them were all common and familiar: but if that aying were admitted, they must part with their beloved rinciple; therefore it follows, that they were afraid to ask im of that saying; left he should carry on the subject, and ave them no way to escape. They had already heard more han they would believe, and therefore, as to any thing farher, thought it best to remain in the dark.

In short, where there is a taste and relish for "the things that be of men," more than for " the things that be of God," and some principle is imbibed wherein the pasons are strongly engaged, men are to be persuaded of any ing, and of nothing: ready to take up with every despible pretence to prop and support their favourite opinion; id deaf to the plainest words and most infallible proofs, if ley tend to establish the other side of the question. For kample; that a Messiah was to deliver their nation, was alowed by all the Jews; and they were well agreed as to the ime of his coming, and the place where he should be born. t was to be shewn, that Jesus of Nazareth was the person: nd for a proof of it, they were bid to compare the Scripare with the things he did and taught. " But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him 2;" and as if he had left the proof of his mifon obscure and defective, they came very formally to him ask a sign of him, after they had seen so many signs; and alled out to the very last for better evidence, bidding him come down from the crofs," that they might " fee and Luke ix. 43, 44.

² John xii. 37.

" believe "." One would take these Jews to have been Sceptics, who would persevere in their doubtings against every proposition that could be offered. But if we judge from their behaviour upon fome other occasions, there never was a more credulous generation upon the face of the earth. They could receive full fatisfaction from the most childish and inconfistent tales that ever were invented. The felfcontradiction of Satan casting out Satan; or the report of a few Heathen foldiers, who witnessed what was done " while " they were asleep," could pass for good gospel; while the most evident miracles, and the clearest prophecies, were all nothing to the purpose, where they did not like the conclu-And for the same reason, the whole Gospel Itself, while it is the favour of life to fome, is a favour of death to others! as different as life and death! yet nevertheless one and the same Gospel. It is like the pillar that stood between the camp of Ifrael, and the host of Egypt; which was a cloud to the one, and light to the other 2. But who will deny that the light was clear to the Israelites, because the Egyptians faw nothing but a cloud of darkness?

Behold then the true fource of all our religious differences: they proceed from the blindness and corruption of the human heart, increased and cherished by some salse principle that suits with its appetites: and all the prudence and learning the world can boast, will exempt no child of Adam from this miserable weakness: nothing but the grace of God can possibly remove it. Where that is suffered to enter, and the heart, instead of persisting in its own will, is surrendered to the will of God, the whole Gospel is sufficiently clear, because no text of it is any longer offensive.

Of this happy change we have the best example in the Apostles of our blessed Saviour; who, when they first entered the school of Christianity, had a veil upon their hearts like the rest of their countrymen, and were strongly possessed by a spirit of the world, promising itself the full enjoyment of temporal honours and preferments. But the sufferings and

been

very

rom

was irth.

dish

felf.

of a hile

the e all clu-

felf,

h to one veen

cloud

leny

gyp-

iffe-

n of rin-

and

dam

God

and

ered

lear,

the

ered

like

d by

it of

and

eath

death of their Master having shewed the vanity of such expectations, and served in a great measure to beat down this earthly principle, they were ready for conviction; and then "their understanding was opened, that they might understand the Scriptures." The evidence that before was dark and inconclusive, became on a sudden clear and irressistible; and they who had lately fled from disgrace and death as from the greatest of evils, could now rejoice that they were found worthy to suffer. Their opinion was altered, because their affections were cleansed from this world: that mire and cly was washed off from their eyes in the true waters of Siloam, and now they could see all things clearly.

What has been here said upon the conduct of our Saviour's disciples, and the unbelieving Jews, may be applied to all those who dispute any article of the Christian Faith; and particularly the doctrine of the ever-blessed Trinity, as revealed to us in the Holy Scriptures. For we shall certainly find that some salse principle is assumed, which slatters the pride of human nature. It abhors restraint and subjection; and is ever aspiring, right or wrong, to be distinguished from the common herd, and to "exalt itself against the know-" ledge of God 2." What this principle is, we shall very soon discover: it is publicly owned and gloried in by every considerable writer that of late years has meddled with this subject. I shall instance in the learned Dr. Clarke; because he is deservedly placed at the head of the Arian disputants in this kingdom.

He affirms in his first Proposition, that the ONE GOD, spoken of in Matth. xix. 17. and elsewhere, is only one PERSON; and then adds, "This is the first principle of Natural Religion*."

So then here are two different religions; by one of which it is proved, that the one God is the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost: that he is therefore three persons. But it is the first principle of the other religion, that he is but one person: though how that can be reconciled with the practice of the whole Heathen world, who were so far from difcovering this one person, that they held "Gods many, and "Lords many '," is not very easy to determine. And whence comes this religion? it is confessed to be drawn from nature! it is the Gospel of the natural man, unsanctified by divine grace, and uninstructed by any light from above; and owes its birth to that fountain of darkness and self-conceit, from whence has fprung all the confusion and imagination that ever was introduced into the religion of God, And what wonder, if nature should operate as strongly in an Arian or a Sociation against the mystery of the Trinity, as it did in the Tews against the Law and the Prophets, and in the unconverted disciples against the doctrine of the Cross? If it be laid down as a first principle, that God is but one Person, then it will be utterly impossible, so long as this principle keeps possession, that any person, of common sense enough to know the meaning of words, should quietly receive and embrace a revelation in those parts of it, where it teaches us that God is three Persons: these two principles being so diametrically opposite, that while he holds to the one, a voice from the dead will not persuade him of the other. fore, I say again, we ought not to wonder if that man should remain for ever invincible, who BRINGS to the Scripture that knowledge of God, which he is bound, as a Christian, to RECEIVE from it.

Luke xxiv. 45. 2 2 Cor. x. 5. * See Seript. Doctr. p. ii. f. 1.

What then will be the consequence in this case? The practice of the Deist, who carries on this argument to its proper issue, is to deny the Scripture-revelation, because his natural religion is contrary to it; and they cannot both be true. But the partial unbeliever, who allows the Scripture to be supported by such external evidence as he cannot answer, while his reason objects to the matter contained in it, must follow the example of the Jews, and reconcile the Scripture where he cannot believe it. Thus they treated the law of Moses. "We know," said they, "that God spake unto Moses." therefore they readily granted his law to have

Cor. viii. 5.

C

g

p!

al

an

Bu

to

of

W:

in Fe

tho

titl

fw: fini

falz

upo

this befo

hap

ope

² John ix. 29,

a divine authority: but as it would not ferve their turn in its own proper words, they put a false gloss of tradition upon the face of it, to hide its true complexion; and then complained that the Scripture was not clear enough: and if you used it as a testimony to Jesus Christ, they would stone

you for a blasphemer.

What shall we say then? that the Jews were of a different opinion from the Christians? and that this was their way of understanding the Scripture? No: God forbid. For if we will believe the Scripture itself, it was their way of denying it. "Had ye believed Moses," says our Lord, "ye would have believed me:" and he gives us upon this occasion the true grounds and reasons of their unbelief; because they " received honour one of another, and had not the love of God in them "." Every hypothesis of human growth, which was pretty fure to agree with their complexion, and reflected fome honour upon themselves by exalting the nature of man, that can make a religion for itself, and comes in its own name; that they would gladly receive. But if any thing was offered to them in the name of God, to be received for the love of him, and the spiritual comfort of a pure conscience, and the hope of a better world: it was rejected, as an encroachment upon their natural rights, nd an invective against the innocent pleasures of a carnal Ferusalem. And so it is with us at this time: for if an author does but hang out the fign of Nature and reason in his title-page, there are readers in plenty, who will buy up and swallow his dregs by wholesale: but if God, of his infinite mercy and condescension, shews to them the way of Salvation, his words are to be abstracted from the evidence upon which he requires us to believe them, then put into this alembic of reason, and demonstrated to be no poison, before they can be brought to taste them. And if they should happen to be a little disagreeable to flesh and blood, and the operation should miscarry, the fault is charged upon God, and not upon themselves, who ought to have gone another way to work; as they will certainly find.

We conclude, therefore, because Christ has affirmed it. that every degree of doubt and disputation against the words of God, is just so much unbelief; proceeding not from the head or understanding, but from the heart and affections. And the world is filled with the vain jangling of uncertainty, for this fhort reason—" all men have not faith 2."

would have believed ones" and so gives a upon this ocenflor the true grounds and realists of their rabelieff; becatelle it say the entire to see the form of bounder the galle flags " sie buse of God in the at." " Every by debele of the can growth, which was prady for to torce with their comalring the nature of snas, that can make a vigit jor igoff, and correct in the even name; that they would need a recier. But I any thing were a gred to then in the name of theil, to be received for the love of him, and the faintual corriect of a rise confidence, and the hope of a better world: it was rejedied, as an energachment room their actural ylebia. and an involve against the inpoceet platfree of a carnal Free laker. And lo it is with us at this time; for if an auther days but hone out the light of Actors and seefer in his bas qui redit su cure pereir il rebest era profit e se elig plexions and reflected fome beacon upon the stilly still walters and trees by wheel the shall be a bath. In all represents the medical environmental

the way of the property of which the a best consequent

e de Les colle v. Liuit set the made count over a construction of the sector

To your rise Heb. ili. ra. I state a 2 Theft iii. 2. also have w

ADVER-

ADVERTISEMENT.

P

S

1

to w h

CO

100

.22

g

115 lin

03

10

SW

200

1 odi

swl

Indi

3/24

ER-

IN all the Texts which are compared together in the following work, those particular words, whereon the stress of the comparison lies, are printed in Capitals; that the argument obtained from them may shew itself to the reader upon the first inspection. And I hope, after what has been observed to him in the foregoing discourse, that this is the The arguments only admonition he will stand in need of. I have drawn from the Scripture are, to the best of my knowledge, most of them new; and, if I may judge from my own mind, the manner in which they are laid down, is more likely to convince, than any I have yet feen. Had I thought otherwise, I could easily have forborn to trouble myself or the world with the transcribing and printing them. The end I have proposed is not to obtain any reputation (to which this is not the way) but to do some little good, of which there is much need. I do therefore fincerely recommend the following work, and every reader of it, to the grace and bleffing of Almighty God, well knowing, that " unless the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but " in vain."

ADVERTISEMENT.

It is Tint which are compared together in the following work, those particular words, whereon the firefa of, the comparison lies, are printed in Carrell; that the ergument obtained from them they they idelf to the reader uppn the first inspection. And I hope, after what has been obligaved to him in the foregoing discourse, that this is the . only admonision he will stand in need of. The arguments I have drawn from the Scripture are, to the belt of my Enowiedge, most of them new; and, if Liney judge from my own, mind, the manner in which they are laid down, is more likely to complace, than any I have yet feen. Had I thought otherwife, I could easily have forborn to trouble myself or the world with the transcribing and printing them. I'm and I have proposed is not to obtain any repulsition (to which this is not the way) but to do fonce little good, of which there is much need. I do therefore finderely recomround the following work, and every realer of it, to the green and bleffing of Almighty God, well knowing, that wairfs the Lord keep the city, the watchman waltern har ". GLAV SIL  though which the decide teleples. The Less. Owit is the 1002 p.O. q. 1894 of 1 will it and the Less is confined to on his own pencil.

. The District of Chift.

Antion there to no other but the cost of true, and for each bear from the Little test, is no extending Conf. the him

THE DIVINITY OF CHRIST.

Cley, Elain is declared to have for apon that (cost

May isting perfor here, fortered by St.

Isa. viii. 13, 14. Sanctify the LORD of Hosts Himself, and let him be your fear, and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread: and he shall be for a Sanctuary; but for a Stone of stumbling and Rock of offence to both houses of Israel.

1 Pet. ii. 7, 8. The stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, and a STONE OF STUMBLING, and ROCK OF OFFENCE.

Instead of reasoning upon these words of the Prophet Isaiah, according to any private interpretation, I add another passage of Scripture, wherein they are expressly applied to the person of Christ; and then shew what must be the result of both. If the Scripture, thus compared with itself, be drawn up into an argument, the conclusion may indeed be denied, and so may the whole Bible, but it cannot be answered. For example:

The Stone of Stumbling and Rock of Offence, as the former text affirms, is the Lord of Hosts himself; a name which the Arians allow to no other but the one, only true, and supreme God .

But this Stone of Stumbling, and Rock of Offence, as it appears from the latter text, is no other than Christ, the same stone which the builders refused; Therefore,

Christ is the LORD OF HOSTS HIMSELF: and the Arian is confuted upon his own principles.

II.

Isa. vi. 5. Mine Eyes have seen the King, the LORD OF HOSTS.

John xii. 41. These things said Esaias, when he saw his (christ's) GLORY, and spake of him.

Jesus is the person here spoke of by St. John; whose Glory, Esaias is declared to have seen upon that occasion, where the prophet affirms of himself, that his Eyes had seen the Lord of Hosts; Therefore,

Jesus is the LORD OF HOSTS.

III.

Isai. xliv. 6. Thus saith the Lord, the King of Israel and his Redeemer, the LORD OF HOSTS, I am THE FIRST, and I am THE LAST, and BESIDES ME there is NO GOD.

Rev. xxii. 13. I (Jesus) am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End, THE FIRST and THE LAST.

These Titles of the first and the last are confined to him alone, besides whom there is no God; But Jesus hath assumed these Titles to himself: Therefore, Jesus is that God, besides whom there is no other. Or Thus—There is no God besides him who is the first and the last: but, Jesus is the first and the last; therefore besides Jesus there is no other God.

Li

E

V

ation

he se

by 233.73

See an Effay on Spirit, p. 65. Clarke's Doctr. of the Trin. C. 10. 5. 3.

Ifai. xliii. 11. I even I am the LORD, and BESIDES

2 Pet. iii. 18. Our Lord and saviour Jesus CHRIST.

Jesus Christ, then, is our Saviour; or, as he is called, John iv. 42. The Saviour of the World. But unless he were God, even the Lord, Jehovah, as well as man, he could not be a Saviour; because the Lord has declared, there is no Saviour beside himself. It is therefore rightly observed by the Apostle, Phil. ii. 9. that God, in dignifying the man Christ with the name of JESUS, hath given him a name above every name, even that of a Saviour, which is his own ame, and such as can belong to no other.

V.

Rev. xxii. 6. The LORD GOD of the Holy Prophets sent his angel to shew unto his Servants the things which must shortly be done.

bid. v. 16. I jesus have sent mine angel to teltify unto you these things in the Churches.

The Angel that appeared to St. John was the Angel of the ord God, and the Lord God fent him: but he was the ngel of Jesus, and Jesus sent him: therefore, Jesus is the Lord God of the Holy Prophets.

VI.

Lake i. 76. And thou Child shalt be called the Prophet of the HIGHEST, for thou shalt co BEFORE the FACE of the LORD to PREPARE HIS WAYS.

Matth.

The argument drawn from this text will be equally convincing, which ver way it be taken—Jesus Christ is a Saviour, therefore he is Jehovah, the ord—Jesus Christ is Jehovah, therefore he is the Saviour. The best observations I have ever met with upon the name Jehovah, and it's application to the second Person of the Trinity, are to be found in a Vindication of the Doctrine of the Trinity from the Exceptions of a late pamphlet entitled an Essay on Spirit—by the learned Dr. T. Randelph, President of C. C. C. in Oxford; which I would desire the Reader to consult, from p. 61 to 71 of Pt. I.

 Θ

Matth. xi. 10. Behold, I fend my messenger BEFORE THY FACE, to PREPARE THY WAY before thee.

John the Baptist goes before the face of the Lord, that is, of the Highest, whose prophet he is, to prepare his way. But he was sent as a Messenger before the face of Christ, to prepare his way; who, therefore, is the Lord, and the Highest.

VII.

The two following texts are but a repetition of the same argument: but as they speak of Christ under a different name, they ought to have a place for themselves.

Luke i. 16, 17. And many of the children of Ifrael shall he turn to the LORD THEIR GOD: and he shall go before HIM.

Matth. iii. 11. He that cometh AFTER ME is mightier than I—&c.

Here again, the Baptist is said to go before the Lord God of the children of Israel: but it is certain, he went before Jesus Christ, the only person who is said to come after him: therefore, Jesus Christ is the Lord God of the children of Israel. And the same title is given to him in the prophet Hosea,—I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, and will save them by the Lord their God: which can be no other than the voice of God the Father, promising Salvation by the person of God the Son.

VIII.

Matth. xi. 10. Behold I fend MY messenger before THY face, to prepare THY way before THEE.

Mal. iii. 1. Behold I fend MY messenger to prepare the way before ME.

As this prophecy is worded by St. Matthew (as also by St. Mark and St. Luke) there is a personal distinction

Mark i. 2.

2 Luke vii. 27.

between ob

G

th C

P

If Co

phere

but or between Him who fends his Messenger, and Christ before whom the Meffenger is fent-I fend MY Meffenger-to prepare thy way before THEE. But the Prophet himself has it thus-I fend MY messenger, to prepare the way before ME. Yet the Evangelist and the Prophet are both equally correct and true. For though Christ be a different person, yet is he one and the same God with the Father. And hence it is, that with the Evangelist, the persons are not confounded; with the Prophet the Godhead is not divided. This argument may serve to justify an excellent observation of our Church in the Homily upon the Refurrection—" How dare we be for bold to renounce the presence of the Father, Son, and Holy Chost? for where one is, there is God all whole in Majesty, together with all his power, wisdom, and goodnefs:"

IX.

Ps. lxxviii. 56. They TEMPTED and provoked the MOST HIGH GOD.

Cor. x. 9. Neither let us TEMPT CHRIST as some of them also tempted.

These texts do both relate to the same rebellious acts of e Israelites in the wilderness. In the former of them, the erson they tempted is called the most High God: in the latter. e is called Christ: therefore; Christ is the most High God.

X.

ohn iii. 29. He that hath the Bride, is THE BRIDE-GROOM *- (meaning Christ.) But,

* Another title of Eminence, that shews Christ to be upon an equality th God the Father, is to be collected from the following Scriptures.

Pfal. xxiii. 1. The Lord (Heb. Jebovab) is my Shepherd. John x. 16. There shall be one fold, and ONE SHEPHERD.

If Christ be not the Lord, in Unity with the Father, there must of course be diffinct beings, to whom the Scripture has appropriated this Character of a epherd; and that would make two Shepherds. But Christ has affirmed there but one Shepherd, that is bimfelf, THE SHEPHERD of the Sheep, v. 2. whom Peter calls the chief Shepherd, 1 Pet. v. 4. So again-

Pfels

fo by

Сř

re

13,

ay.

to

the 13

me

ent

rael

he

gh-

God efus

ere-

rael.

a,-

them

the

erfon

efore

pre-action.

tween

Isai. liv. 5. Thy Maker is thine HUSBAND, the LORD OF HOSTS is his Name.—

And the Church, which is the Bride of Christ, can no more have two distinct husbands, than Christ can have two distinct Churches. As the Church is the Bride, the Body, the Building of God; and as there is one Bride, one body, one building; so is there on the other hand, one God, who is the husband or Bridegroom; one Christ, who is the Head; one God with the Lamb, who is the Light of it. Compare also Jer. iii. 1. and 31, 32. Ezek. xvi. Hos. ii. Matth. ix. 15.—xxv. 1. 2 Cor. ii. 2. Eph. v. 23. Rev. xix. 7. and xxi. 2, 9.

XI.

Here follow some single Texts, to which I add no parallels; there being no danger of mistaking their application.

John xx. 28. And Thomas answered and said, MY LORD, and MY GOD.

XII.

Rom. ix. 5. Of whom as concerning the Flesh CHRIST came, who is over all, GOD BLESSED for EVER. Amen.

XIII.

2 Pet. i. 1. — Through the Righteousness of our GOD and Saviour JESUS CHRIST.

The Greek is—TO DES NHWY & Swings Inou Xpiss—the very same, as to the order and Grammar of the words, with the last verse of this Epistle—TO Kupis nhwy & Swings Inou Xpiss—which is thus rendered in our English version—of Pfal. c. 3. Know ye that the Lord he Is God-we are His people, and the Sheep of His pasture.

John x. 3. He (that is Christ himself) calleth His own Sheep.

And again - John xxi. 16. Feed MY Sheep-faid Christ to St. Peter: which in the Language of St. Peter himself, I Pet. v. 2. is - Feed the Flock of Gon.

fo

V

11 1

ite

r, ona

n ui

s, a

e.

been 9

re

a ld-

ld-

uf-

ollo

.--

9.

ral-

MY

lesh

for

OUR

_the

, with

s Inos

on-g

ple, and

: which

of Gon

.

fur Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. And so, without doubt, thould be in the other passage: there being no possible reason why, τε Θεε ημων, should not signify, our God, as well as τε Κυριε ημων, our Lord. It is not my design to ast any reflection upon the wisdom of our excellent and rethodox Translators (whose version; taken altogether, is rithout exception the best extant in the world) or to adance this as any discovery of my own: for the Translators temselves have preserved the true rendering in the Margin; eclaring it, by their customary note, to be the literal sense in the Greek.

There is another expression, Tit. ii. 13. that ought to be issed with the foregoing. Looking for that bleffed hope, and glorious appearing, TE MEYARE DEB & Swampos num Inos 958, of our Great God and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Of nich a great man, deep in the Arian Scheme, gives this sponding Account.—" Many understand this whole Sentence to belong to one and the same Person, viz. Christ: as if the words should have been rendered, The appearing of our great God and Saviour Jesus Christ. Which Confruction, the words will indeed bear; as do also those in 2 Pet. i. 1. But it is much more reasonable, and more greeable to the whole Tenor of Scripture, to understand the former part of the words, to relate to the Father "." for the whole Tenor of Scripture, it is a weighty phrase, very easily made use of in any cause good or bad: so I Il leave the reader to judge of that, after it has been exited to him in the following pages. And as for the fonableness of the thing itself, let any serious person conr, whether the Doctrine of the Scripture is not more onal under the orthodox application of these words, n under that of this Author. For to allow, as he does, Christ is God, but not the Great God, is to make two s, a greater and a leffer; which is no very rational prine. And I make not the least doubt but this Author, had been dreffing up a System of natural religion, would have protested against a notion so absurd and impious. But when the Scripture was to be dealt with, he chose it as the lesser of two evils, the greater of which, was the doctrine he had subscribed to.

s Clarke's Doctr. of the Trin. C. 2. 5. 1. 541. ...

❷

XIV.

2 Cor. v. 19. God was in christ, reconciling the world to HIMSELF.

It is allowed on all hands, that the world was reconciled by Christ Jesus to the one, only, great, and supreme God. But, this very fame God (for the word is but once used in the whole fentence) was in Christ; manifest in the flesh, and reconciling the world to himself. And were there no other passage of Scripture to be found, this alone is sufficient to overthrow the whole doctrine of Arianism; which, as far as the Scripture is concerned, depends upon this one affertion—that " the word GOD, in Scripture, NEVER fignifies a comer plex notion of more persons than one; but ALWAYS means one person only, viz. either the person of the Father " fingly, or the person of the Son singly"." Which is absolutely false: for here it signifies both. The text confiders God as agent and patient at the same time, and upon the fame occasion; as the reconciler of the world, in the person of the Son; and the object to whom the reconciliation was made, in the person of the Father; yet there is but one word (God) to express them both. So that the work God, though of the fingular number, is of a plural compre hension. And thus I find it to have been taken by some of the most eminent writers before the council of Nice, " Plas er matus in initio homo per manus DEI, id eft, FILII & " SPIRITUS," fays Irenaus "; putting the fingular nam of God, for the two persons of the Son and Spirit. And the fame word, in the language of Origen, (if we are allows to take the version of Ruffinus as genuine) includes the who three persons-Igitur de DEO, id est, de PATRE & FILI & SPIRITU fancto 3. And our excellent church has ule

F

n

af

F

Th

ulc

if troe

vill trar thro

Chri

^{*} Clarke's S. D. P. II. §. 33. * Lib. V. §. 23. 3 De princifi Lib. IV. C. 2.

the word God in the same comprehensive sense; as in the Blessing after the communion service—GOD ALMIGHTY, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

XV.

John xiv. 11. I am in the Father, and the Father IN ME.

Compare this with the foregoing article.

of

rad

ng

l by

But,

iling

ge of

MOIL

crip-

-that

com-

AYS

ch is t con-

upon

in the

iliation is but

Word

ompre

ome o

· Pla

LII 8

And th

allowa

e whol

FILI

has uld

de principi

XVI.

Cor. v. 20. We are ambassadors for CHRIST, as though GOD did BESEECH you by us. We PRAY you IN CHRIST'S STEAD be ye reconciled to GOD.

The usefulness of this text to our present subject, lies in hese words—" In Christ's stead we pray, as though God did beseech"—where the interchanging of the names God and brist, shews the same person to be intitled to both.

XVII.

John v. 20. We are in him that is true, even in his Son jesus CHRIST: THIS IS the TRUE GOD and eternal life.

XVIII.

I. ii. 8, 9. Beware lest any man spoil you through Philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after CHRIST: for IN HIM DWELLETH ALL THE FULNESS of the GODHEAD BODILY.

The Apostle foresaw, that a thing calling itself Philosophy uld set all its engines at work to destroy the notion of rist's true and absolute Divinity—" For in him (says he) swelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. Philosophy will dispute this: and undertake to demonstrate the contrary. But if you listen to such vain deceit, it will overthrow your faith, and spoil you for a disciple of Jesus Christ; therefore—Beware."

D 3

XIX.

XIX.

John i. I. The word was god.

Isai. ix. 6. For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given, and the Government shall be upon his Shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the MIGHTY GOD, the EVER-LASTING FATHER.

XXI.

This is the Name whereby he shall Fer. xxiii. 6. be called, the Lord (JEHOVAH) our Righteousness.

XXII.

Ifai. ii. 17, 18. The LORD ALONE shall be ex-ALTED in that day: and the IDOLS he shall utterly abolish.

" Idolatry is the reverse, and direct opposite to Christiania

" (or, the day of Christ.) To destroy this, was the great

" end of Christ's coming into the world.—But except he " were God, the very and eternal God, of one Substance with

" the Father, his Religion would be so far from destroying

"Idolatry, that it would only be a more refined and dangerou

" species of it. The prophet therefore, concludes all, that 66

"

co

the

the for unas

Apo

eft on

Det

" so he might acquit the worship of Christ from all charge of Idolatry, with this positive affertion; that it would prove the most effectual means of putting an end to f false and Idolatrous Worship: The Idols he shall utter

" abolish. The like conclusion we meet with in the Apoll

" St. John; who having affirmed that Jesus Christ is t

" true God and eternal life, immediately subjoins and close

" all with this advice, - Little Children, keep your felves from

" IDOLS."

This Remark is taken from the first volume of an Est upon the proper Lessons; written, as I am told, by a gentle man of the Laity. There needs no apology for fetting down down; it being of good use in the subject I am upon. And it also gives me an occasion of returning thanks to the pious and learned Author of that excellent work, not for myself only, but for many sincere friends to the religion of Christ and the church of England, among whom his labours are not without their fruit; and I am consident they will not be without their reward: but the Author must be content to wait for it, till Wisdom shall be justified of all her Children.

us a pon

on-

ER-

shall ness.

EX-

terly

lianit

great pt he

with roying

gerou

l, tha

charg

Would

to a utter poli

is # close

n E

tting

down

XXIII.

Rev. i. 8. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, faith the LORD, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the ALMIGHTY.

If the Reader will be pleased to examine the 13th and 17th verses of this Chapter, it will appear that this 8th verse was undoubtedly spoken from the mouth of Christ: who therefore has a just title to every name and attribute expressed in it; and among the rest, to that of the Almighty.

Origen, who certainly was no Arian, though often reprefented as such, by some who would be pleased to have the wote of so celebrated a genius, has the following observation.

—"Now that you may know the Omnipotence of the Father and the Son to be one and the same as HE is ONE and the SAME GOD and LORD with the FATHER, hear what St. John had said in the Revelation—These things, faith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty." For who is the Almighty that is to come, but Christ.?

XXIV.

The Texts that follow, with this mark (†), prefixed to them, are such as have been abused by the Arians to support their Heresy: and to the best of my knowledge, there are some of every fort. But when the Scripture is brought to declare

Ut autem unam & eandem omnipotentiam Patris & Filii esse cognoscas sicut unus atque idem est cum Patre Deus & Dominus, audi hoc modo Joan, in Apocalypsi dicentem: Hac dicit Dominus Deus qui est, & qui erit, & qui venturus est omnipotens. Qui enim venturus est omnipotens, quis est alius nist Christus?—
De principiis Lib. i. C. 2,

❽

declare its own sense of them, they will either appear to be nothing to the purpose, or consum and preach the faith they have been supposed to destroy.

† Matth, xix. 17. Why callest thou ME GOOD! there is none good but one, that is, GOD.

The objection is founded upon the Greek, which runs thus—Ouders es in ayable, et um ets, o Osle. There is none good but ets, one; and that (one) is, o Osle, God. Whence it is argued, that the adjective ets being in the masculine Gender, cannot be interpreted to signify one Being or Nature (for then it should have been EN, in the Neuter) but one Person: so that by confining the attribute of goodness to the single person of the Father, it must of course exclude the persons of the Son and Holy Ghost from the Unity of the Godhead.

To say the truth, I think this is the most plausible objection I have ever met with; and I have sincerely endeavoured to do it justice. If it is capable of being set in a stronger light, any man is welcome to add what he pleases to it. For supposing the word as to signify one person (and in that lies the whole force of the argument) then if one person only is good, and that person is God; it must also solve tow, that there is but one person who is God: the name of God being as much confined hereby to a single person, as the attribute of goodness. But this is utterly salse; the names of God, Lord, Lord of Hosts, the Almighty, most High, Eternal, God of Israel, &c. being also ascribed to the second and third Persons of the blessed Trinity. Take it this way, therefore, and the objection by proving too much, consutes itself, and proves nothing.

The truth is, this criticism, upon the strength of which some have dared to undeify their Saviour, has no soundation in the Original. The word ess is so far from requiring the substantive person to be understood with it, that it is put in the mascuine gender to agree with its substantive Θ_{ϵ} , and is best construed by an adverb. If you follow the Greek by a literal translation, it will be thus—There is none Good—so we

to

u

h

n

m

Cm

pl

Fa

be

a t

P

be

ey

?

the us

ood

it

en-

ure

one

the

the

the

ht.

ob-

ea-

na

afes

and

one

fol-

me

25

the

igh,

cond

ray,

utes

thice of nich

tion

the

it in nd is alt ma

bis o Ded but the one God; that is, in common English but God only. And it happens, that the fame Greek, word for word, occurs in Mark ii. 7. Who can forgive fins to un ers o Os -but God only; fo it is rendered by our translators : and we have a plain matter of fact, that es in this place cannot possibly admit the sense of one person, because Christ, who is another person, took upon him to forgive fins. In the parallel place of St. Luke's Gospel, the expression is varied, fo as to make it still clearer—ει μη μον ο Θεω—not εις. but moyos, another adjective of the masculine gender: which, though it agree with its substantive Osos, is rightly construed as an adverb-either the alone God, or God only. And the Greek itself uses one for the other indifferently-as, ex αρτω μονω, by bread only 2-εν λογω μονον, in word only 3. The utmost that can be gathered, therefore, from these words, is no more than this; that there is one God (in which we are all agreed) and that there is none good beside him; which no body will dispute. Whether in this God, there be one person, or three, remains yet to be considered: and the Scripture is so express in other places, as to settle it beyond all dispute.

If it should here be asked, for what reason Christ put this question-" Why callest thou me good?" I answer; for the ame reason that he asked the Pharisees, why David in Spirit called him LORD 4; and that was to try if they were able to account for it. This ruler, by addressing our Saviour under the name of good Master, when the inspired Plalmist had affirmed long before, that there is none that doeth GOOD, no NOT ONE 5; did in effect allow him to be God; no mere man, fince the fall of Adam, having any claim to that Character. And when he was called upon to explain his meaning, for that God only was good; he should have replied in the words of St. Thomas-" My Lord, and my "GOD:" which would have been a nobler instance of Faith, and have cleared up the whole difficulty. If the cafe be considered, this man was a very proper subject for such a trial. Fully convinced of his own fufficiency, he comes to Christ in the presence of his disciples, to know what good thing he might do to merit everlasting life. Whence our Saviour takes occasion to correct his mistake as to the nature of goodness; and having tried this good and perfect man in a tender point, sent him away grievously distaissied.

¹ Luke v. 21. 2 Matt. iv. 4. 3 1 Theff. i. 5. 4 Matt. 22ii. 43. 5 Pfalm xiv. 3.

XXV.

finall deliver up the KINGDOM to GOD, even the

Luke 1. 53. He (Jesus) shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of HIS KINGDOM there shall be NO END.

This of St. Luke, being a contradiction in terms to that of the Apostle, shews the former to be spoken only of Christ's humanity; as the latter relates only to his Divinity. When both are laid together, it is evident to a demonstration, that Christ is perfect God, as well as perfect man. As man, he received a kingdom, which again, as man, he shall deliver up, when his mediatorial office, for which he took the nature of man, shall be at an end. But there is a kingdom pertaining to him, which shall have no end. And this cannot be true, unless he is a person in that God, who after the Humanity has delivered up the kingdom shall be all in all. The distinction in this case between the God and man in the joint person of Christ Jesus, is warranted by another part of the Chapter, wherein the Apostle has given us a key to his own meaning. Since by MAN (fays he) came death, by MAN came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive. Here, it is evident, he is drawing a contrast between the man Adam and the man Christ; so that unless it be done on purpose, no reader can eafily mistake the meaning of what follows-Then cometh the End, when HE (that is the man Christ, the second Adam) shall deliver up the kingdom, &c. for so it must be, according to the tenor of the Apostle's discourse.

hat

the

nan

ta H

HE

the

ufe

ere

that rift's

hen

that

, he

· up,

ture ain-

t be Hu-

The joint

the

own

IAN

l die,

dent,

man

can

th the ding

The

XXVI.

The New Testament abounds with expressions of this nature; but they have no difficulty in them, if it only be remembered that Christ is man as well as God; which the Arians are willing upon all occasions to forget. And it has been chiefly owing to an abuse of these texts, that they have been able to put any tolerable gloss upon their Heresy. The Old Testament seldom speaking of Christ, but as a Person of the Godhead before his Incarnation, does not afford them so many opportunities: and hence it is, that most of them confine their enquiries to the New, which is the history of him after his Incarnation, when he appeared, as the first-born of many brethren, anointed above his Fellows (Mankind) receiving authority and dominion from God, who by a power superior to that of his human soul and body, put all things in subjection under the feet of it.

But some, for whose sakes he thus humbled himself, and became obedient in the sless, instead of receiving it with humility and devotion, even cast it in his teeth, and make it an argument against him: vainly imagining that they do honour to their supreme God, while they say with Peter—Lord, be it far from thee: this shall not, it cannot, be unto thee. And it is worth their while to consider, whether they may not fall under the same rebuke, when it will be too late to retract and change their opinion.

A solemn advocate of theirs, whom I take to be a dissenter, tells us—his present concern is with the New Testament only. And another writer of some figure, who, you are to suppose, is addressing himself to a young Clergyman, puts it into his head, that he "may reject arguments brought from the "Old Testament to prove the Trinity, as trisling, and proving nothing but the Ignorance of those that make use of them." And I could wish that were all: for I had much rather be accounted a fool in their judgment, than find myself under a necessity of charging them with the horrible guilt, of denying the Lord that hath bought them.

Rom. viii. 29. 2 A sequel to the Essay on Spirit, p. 8.

³ Letter to a young Glergyman upon the Difficulties and Discouragements which attend the study of the Scriptures in the way of private judgment.

XXVI.

of GOD to be the judge of quick and dead.

This passage will help us to detect, once for all, that common fallacy of our Adversaries, in misapplying such words as relate only to the human nature of Chrift, and erecting arguments thereupon to the degrading of his fupreme Essence. Christ is ordained of God, it is true: and the nature that receives power, must be inferior to the nature that confers it. But is his Godhead therefore ordained? They tell you it is; and their scheme requires it: But the Scriptures declare the contrary—GOD (faith St. Paul) hath appointed a day wherein HE will JUDGE the world in righteoufness by that MAN EV avops, (IN that MAN) whom he hath ORDAINED. The supreme God that was manifest in the flesh, and IN Christ reconciling the world to HIMSELF, shall remain in the same personal union with him, till he has judged the world, and is ready to deliver up the kingdom. And though our Judge shall even then retain the Character of a Man, yet as God who ordained him, shall be present with him in the same person, the act of the last judgment is equally ascribed to both natures. In the text just above cited, it is faid—He (God) will judge the world; the' it immediately follows, that a man, even the man Christ, is ordained to this office. And so we have it again in the Epistle to the Romans—we shall all appear before the judgment feat of Christ. For it is written, as I live, faith the Lord, every knee shall bow to ME, and every tongue shall confess unto GOD . We are to give an account of ourselves at the judgment feat of Christ. And how does the Apostle prove it? Why, because it is written, that we shall give an account of ourselves to the Lord God, who swears that he liveth. But unless Chrift, who is a man, be also this living God and Lord, this proof is not to the purpose.

Ads xvli. 314

* Ifai. xIv. 23.

XXVII.

HIM openly to us who did eat and drink with him after he rose from the dead.

D

at ch

und

re

cy

p-

P

y-

in

F,

he

M.

er

nt nt

ve

it

15

of

ry

rie

he

13 nt b.

nd

I.

John XXI. I. After these things JESUS SHEWED HIM-SELF again to his disciples at the Sea of Tiberias; and on this wise shewed HE HIMSELF.

The former text takes something from Christ, as man; in which capacity he was at the disposal of the Father. But the latter restores it to him again as God; under which character he is at his own disposal, and in unity with the Father. The same is to be said of the two articles which follow.

XXVIII.

† John iii. 16. God fo Loved the world, that HE GAVE his only begotten Son.

Ephef. v. 25. CHRIST also LOVED the Church, and GAVE HIMSELF for it.

XXIX.

† Eph. iv. 32. Forgiving one another, even as GOD, for CHRIST'S SAKE, hath FORGIVEN you.

Col. iii. 13. Forgiving one another—even as CHRIST FORGAVE you.

XXX.

† John vi. 38. I came down from heaven, nor to do my own will, but the will of him that SENT ME.

Matth. viii. 2. And behold there came a Leper and worshipped him, saying, LORD, if THOU WILT thou canst make me clean. And JESUS said, (Θελω) I WILL, be thou clean.

XXXI.

XXXI.

† Alls xiv. 29, 30. And now, LORD—grant—that figns and wonders may be done by the NAME of THY HOLY CHILD JESUS.

It feems here, that figns and wonders were not to be wrought by Fesus Christ, as the author of them; but by an higher power of the LORD, put into action by the name, Merits, or Intercession of the Holy Child Fesus. Yet St. Peter makes this same Fesus, though in heaven, the immediate author of the signs and wonders wrought by his disciples upon earth.—" Eneas (says he) JESUS CHRIST maketh thee whole." Acts ix. 34.

XXXII.

† Matth. xx. 23. To six on my right hand and on my left, is nor mine to give, but (it shall be given) to them for whom it is prepared of MY FATHER.

Yet our bleffed Saviour has promifed elsewhere, to bestow this reward in his own right-" To him that overcometh will I GRANT to SIT with me in MY THRONE," Rev. iii. 21. This is fufficient to rescue the text from any heretical use that may have been made of it. But still there remains fome difficulty, which, with God's help, I shall endeavour to clear up. It will appear to any person, not ignorant of Greek, that the original in this place does referve to Christ that act of power and authority, of which the English verfion, by inferting a few words, feems to have divested him. The Greek is this—ux esiv emov douvai—it is not mine to give, all' ois ntoipasai, but to them for whom it is prepared—" nisi " quibus paratum est." For in the eleventh verse of the foregoing Chapter, there is an expression exactly parallelall' ois δεδοται-fave they to whom it is given; or as Beza hath it-" fed ii quibus datum." Now there can be no grammatical reason, why we should not take-all ois noiμαςαι—in the same manner; and then the text will affirm what it now feems to deny. For to fay, that Christ cannot give give any particular reward, fave to them for whom it is prepared of his Father, is the same as to say, that to such he can and will give it; according to the common maxim—Exception probat regulam in non-exceptis.

9

n

n

e

Y

W

I

.

(e

15 ır

of

ift

r-

n.

le,

ifi

he

za

no

-16

m ot

ve

The scope of the Text therefore, is to shew, that nothing can be granted even by Almighty power itself, where there is not a fuitable merit or disposition in the persons who "God shall give this honourable place to those, " for whom it is prepared by an invariable rule of justice; whole victory of Faith being foreknown and accepted, a feat is allotted them according to it." And the two paffages being laid together, supply us with this principle. As if our Saviour, who is the Speaker in both places, had faid-" Tho' it be not mine to give; yet, to him that overcometh, will I (even I myself) grant to sit with me in my "Throne; because for him this seat is prepared." It is not owing to a defect of power in the Trinity, or in any person of it, that the divine purpose cannot be changed; but because it is impossible for the power of God to break in upon the order of his distributive justice. And it is upon this account only, that we read of Christ, Mark vi. 5. " He COULD there do NO mighty work." For the power of loing a miracle was always present with him; but the place being improper because of their unbelief, made the thing impossible. In the same manner, that declaration of the Lord in Gen. xvii. 22. is to be accounted for,—Haste thee, escape thither, for I CANNOT do any thing till thou be come thither. No man would hence conclude, that the hand of God is fraitened, or his power limited; but only that he does, and by his own nature must, act agreeable to the disposition of things and persons, known to himself.

XXXIII.

I Cor. viii. 6. To-us there is but one God, THE FATHER.

If we compare this with that expression of St. Thomas,— John xx. 28.—MY LORD, and MY GOD, we have the sollowing argument:

To

46

To us there is but one god, the FATHER,

But TO US JESUS CHRIST is GOD: therefore, The Gol. pel has either preached two Gods to us, one diffined from the other: or that one God the Father is here the name of a nature, under which Christ himself, as God, is also comprehended. And the same may be proved of it in several other places.

XXXIV.

† Matth. xxiii. 9. Call no man your Father upon earth, for one is your father which is in beaven.

Ibid. v. 10. Neither be ye called masters, for one is your master, even christ. John iii. 13. which is in heaven.

Dr. Clarke has a particular Section , wherein he pretends to have fet down the Passages that ascribe the highest Titles, Perfections, and Powers, to the second Person of the Trinity. Yet he has wholly omitted the latter of thele verses; though by a rule of his own making, it allows to Christ an higher title than any other in the whole Scripture. It is this same Author, who has laid so great a stress upon the word eis, one, which he has infifted upon it can fignify nothing elfe, but one Person; and the criticism is thought to be of fuch use and imporance to his Scheme, that his book begins with it; and in the course of his work it is repeated three times, nearly in the same words. But the Passage now before us, if he had produced it, would have turned his own weapon against himself. For the word ess is here an attribute of Christ; and if we argue from it in this place; as he has done in the other, it must prove, that one person only is our Master, and that this person is Christ: which excludes the Persons of the Father and the Spirit from the honour of that title; and so reduces that learned author's reasoning to a manifest absurdity.

the

of a

om-

veral

if si

deir

pon

5 14

ONE

13.

pre-

ighef

f the thele

ws to

ture.

upon

gnify that to book

eated

affage

urned

here

place;

per on which

n the

thor's

We are to conclude then, that as the Phrase, one Master, cannot be meant to exclude the Father; fo neither does that other-one is good (supposing that were the sense of the Greek) or, one is your Father, exclude the person of Christ. And if the reason of the thing teaches us that it cannot, so the Scripture affures us in fact that it does not : the title of Father, being also ascribed to the second person of the Trinity. For Christ, the Alpha and Omega, Tays of himself-He that overcometh shall inherit all things, and I will be HIS GOD, and he shall be MY SON . If aiah calls him-The Everlasting FATHER 2. And again it is written-They are the CHIL-DREN of GOD, being the children of the RESURREC-TION 3: But, fays Christ—I am the RESURRECTION 4: therefore he is God, and hath us for his Children. If this be the case, the word Father cannot always be a name that distinguishes God from another person of God; but is often to be understood as a term of relation between God and Man: or as a modern Divine of our Church has well expressed it " A word not intended for God the Father only, the First e person of the Trinity; but as it is referred unto the " Creature, made and conferved by God; in which fense the appertains to the whole Trinity."

XXXV.

Fobn xiv. 28. My father is Greater than I.

The two preceding Articles will sufficiently justify what the Church has afferted with a view to this passage—That Christ is "inferior to the Father as touching his Manhood." And the stream of the whole Scripture is against that use the Arians generally make of it; who stand in need to be reminded at every turn, that in the person of Christ, there is a human soul and body, the nature of a man, which as it cannot lay claim to what is spoken of Christ in unity with the Father, so must it receive to its own account whatever seems to degrade and disjoin him from the Father. It is indeed hard to say, which of the two heresies is the most unreasonable and unscriptural; that of the Socinians, which never considers Christ as any thing but a mere man; or that of the Arians, who never look upon him as any thing but a suppositivious God. Between these two gross errors, lies the true Catholic Faith; which as it allows him to be perfets God and perfets man, is never offended, or put to its shifts, by any thing the Scripture may have said about him in either capacity.

Rev. xxi. 7. 2 ix. 6. 3 Luke xx. 36. 4 John xi. 25.

XXXVI.

† 1 Cor. xi. 3. The HEAD of Christ is God.

The name Christ does here stand, as in other places out of number, for the man Christ; otherwise it must follow, that as Christ is God, God is the head of himself; which is a contradiction; or that one God is the head of another God, which also is a contradiction.

This Text is capable of a good illustration from Genes.

iii. 15. where we read, that the heel of the promised seed should be bruised: by which the Church has always understood the sufferings of his human nature, metaphonically represented by the inferior part in man. So in this place, his Divinity or superior nature is as aptly signified by the head or superior part of the human body.

XXXVII.

† Mark xiii. 32. But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no not the Angels which are in heaven, neither THE SON, but THE FATHER.

It is declared of Christ in another place, that he incredid in wisdom: why should it be incredible then, that during the whole term of his humiliation in the sless, something should still be lest, which as man upon earth he did not know? if you suppose him to be ignorant of this matter is God, how is it that St. Peter confesses him to be omniscient, without receiving any rebuke for it, or being reminded of any particular exception?—LORD, thou knowest ALL THINGS?

² Luke ii. 52. ² John xxi. 27.

XXXVIII.

which

r that

but a

es the

erfelt hifts, either

s out

llow,

rich is

God ,

Genes.

d feed

nder-

ly ree, his ead or

weth

aven,

reald luring

ething

id not tter w

scient,

led of

ALL

VIII.

John i. 18. No man hath seen goo at any time. id. xiv. 8, 9. Philip faith unto him, Lord snew US THE FATHER-haft thou not seen ME, Philip? he that hath feen ME, hath feen THE FATHER.

"These words (says Dr. Clarke) do not signify, that he who hath feen the Person of Christ, hath feen the person of the Father." No furely; but that he who hath feen all at was visible of Christ, hath seen the person, to whom as joined that invisible and divine Nature, which the Scripre has called by the Name of the Father. And to shew at Christ (though he was God manifest in the stesh) is yet other than the same invisible God, whom no man hath or n fee and live, we are told, that " when he shall appear (glorified, not with any fecondary divinity, but with the FATHER'S OWNSELF?) we shall be like him (faspioned like unto his own glorious body , and conformed to his Image +) for we shall SEE him AS HE IS;" which no an ever yet hath done.

XXXIX.

1 Cor. xv. 27. But when he faith all things are put under him, it is manifest that HE IS EXCEPTED (extos TH UNETAGANTOS) which did put all things under bim. And when all things shall be sun-DUED (UMOTAYA) UNTO HIM-

bil. iii. 20, 21. We look for THE SAVIOUR, the Lord JESUS CHRIST-who-IS ABLE even to SUB-DUE ALL THINGS (υποταξαι τα wavta) to HIMSELF.

It is manifest, therefore, that the exception in the former ext is not meant to fet one Person of God above another Peron of God; but only to distinguish the Power of the Divine Vature from that of the human in its greatest exaltation. As Christ is man, all things are subdued unto him by ANOTHER;

¹ Tim. iii. 16e 2 John xvii. 5. 3 Phil. iii. 21. A Rom. viii. 297

as Christ is God, he himself is that other, and able to subdue all things to HIMSELF. And this will be sufficient to confirm the Reader in what I have already observed, that the cause of Arianism borrows its chief support from the humiliation of Christ in the steps. Search the very best of their arguments to the bottom, by a diligent comparing of the Scripture with itself, and they all amount to this great absurdity—Man is inferior to God; therefore God is inferior to himself: and this they prove, by imputing to Christ's Divinity what is said only of his humanity.

I have now prefented to the Reader's consideration the most noted texts, which, under the management of Arian or Socinian Expositors, may seem to have favoured their Doctrine. Many, I hope, will be of opinion, that the Catholic cause is rather beholden to them, particularly in this last instance, for the opposition they have made against it; inalmuch as the objections they have drawn from the holy Scriptures have directed us to fome very clear proofs, which might otherwise have escaped our notice. If there be any other Texts more for their purpose than what I have here set down, they have my free confent to produce and enlarge upon them as much as they please. In the mean time I shall proceed to give the Reader some farther satisfaction, and endeavour to convince him, with the Bleffing of God, that while Herefy is obliged to glean up a few scattered palfages, hard to be understood, and for that reason, easy to be wrested by men of perverse inclinations; the Faith of the Church has the fuffrage of the whole Bible, speaking in fuch words as need not be refined upon by any metaphyfical Expositions, but only applied and considered.

XL.

Jude 4. Denying the ONLY LORD GOD, and OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST—TON MONON DEGRATORY DEON NAI KUPLON NAME IN TOUR XPISON.

As there is no article before Kupion, the first and second comma are both meant of the same person; and the plain sense,

ubdue

COII-

t the bumi-

their

f the blur-

or to vinity

120011

n the

ian or

Doc-

tholic

is laft

inal-

Scrip-

might other

re fet

nlarge

ime I

ction,

God,

d paf-

afy to aith of eaking

taphy-

OUR

ov nat

fecond

e plain

sense,

mour.

sense, when freed from the ambiguity of the English version, s this—Denying the only Lord God and our Lord, Jesus Christ. This literal sense of the Greek may be supported by the parallel Greek of Phil. iv. 20. Τω δε δεω και ωατρι ημων. There being here no article before ωατρι, it would be vioent and unnatural, to refer δεος to one person, and ωατρι to nother: whence Grotius paraphrases the expression by—Deo qui IDEM of Pater naster; and thus may the other be endered with equal strictness and propriety—δεοποτην qui dem est Κυριος ημων: and though we do not rest the proof of the Trinity on any single passage, yet is the more natural onstruction of this text very strong and conclusive for it.

If this should be denied, I think the fense also is capable

f demonstration. The words include this Proposition—
There is, ο μονος ΔΕΣΠΟΤΗΣ, one supreme Governour?:
Iow if this term be applied to Christ, it must follow that IE is that one supreme Governour, in the Unity of the Facer. But it is applied to him in the parallel place of 2 Pet.

1. Denying (ΔΕΣΠΟΤΗΝ) the Lord that hath bought em—τον αγορασαντα αυτες. And if it should be doubted, hether this latter text be meant of Christ, it is demonated by another—THOU wast slain, and hast BOUGHT (ηγορασας) unto God by thy Blood?. If this chain of reaning be inverted, the force of it will be clear and undeable.

1. Christ hath bought us. 2. He that hath bought, is ΔΕΣΠΟΤΗΣ, the Lord, or supreme Governour. But the there is, ο μονος ΔΕΣΠΟΤΗΣ, one only supreme Goden.

XLI.

Therefore Christ is he.

ude 24, 25. Unto HIM that is able—to PRESENT you faultless before the PRESENCE of HIS GLORY—to the ONLY WISE GOD OUT SAVIOUR.

ph. v. 27. That HE (Christ) might PRESENT it to HIMSELF a glorious Church, &c.

So Dr. Clarke has conftrued it, C. 1. §. 3. 411. 2 Rev. v. 9.

E 3

It is the only wife God, who is able to present us before the presence of his Glory: but Christ is to present us, as member of the Church in glory, to himself: therefore he is the only wife God, to whom also appertains the presence of Glory; for that is no other than his own prefence, himfelf.

This is another express Instance, that uone see, the only God, is not God in one person, but the Unity of the Trinity. For if you confine this phrase, with the Arians, to the single Person of the Father, then of course you exclude the person of Christ, and then, it is manisest, you contradict the Scripture. For though it be affirmed in this place, that the only wise God is to present us before his own presence, yet the same is elsewhere expressed by Christ presenting us to himself. Which is no way to be accounted for, unless you believe Christ to be a partaker in the Being, attributes, and offices of the one, undivided, only wise God, our Saviour. Then there is no farther difficulty.

XLII.

Epb. iii. 2, 3.—The Dispensation of the Grace of God, which is given me to you-ward: How that BY REVELATION HE (God) made known unto me the mystery.

Gal. i. 12. I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the REVELATION of JESUS CHRIST.

XLIII.

the HEARTS of all the children of men.

This, it seems, is the privilege of God ONLY: but this God is Christ; for says he,

Rev. ii. 23. All the Churches shall know that I am HE which fearcheth the reins and HEARTS.

Indeed this latter verse speaks plain enough for itself without being compared with the former. It implies, the

there is one only who fearcheth the hearts of men, and that Christ is he. And the Greek will very well bear it; as the learned reader will easily perceive. It is thus—eyw sime of speuvov—There is a speuvov, one that fearcheth; but—eyw sime—I am He.

re the

ly wife

r that ie only

rinity.

fingle person

Scrip-

ie only

fame

imfelf.

elieve ices of

there

ice of

v that

o me

ither

N OF

WEST

it this hat

itfelf

then

3.

XLIV:

2 Pet. i. 4.—Exceeding great and precious promifes, that by these you might be (9:105 x0110010) partakers of the DIVINE NATURE.

Hebr. iii. 14. For we are made (μετόχοι τε Χριςε)
PARTAKERS of CHRIST, if we hold the beginning of our confidence (in the precious promises of God) steadsast unto the end.

What St. Peter proposes, as the end of our hope in the promises, is to be partakers of the divine Nature: but this, according to St. Paul, is to be partakers of Christ; therefore Christ is in or of the Divine Nature; the same Almighty God and Lord, who declared to Abraham—I am thy Shield, and thy EXCEEDING GREAT REWARD. So that these being compared together, are decisive for the Catholic Homocousian Doctrine, at which the Arians, from the Council of Nice to this very day, have been so grievously offended. And it has not been without reason. For if the word Consubstantial be applicable to the Person of Christ, it makes short work with their Heresy. To this end, it was fixed upon and agreed to by the Bishops of the whole Christian World*, as the most proper Bar and Badge of distinction between 1 Gen. xvii. 1. 2 xv. 1.

I say, of the Whole Christian World: though a late Author calls this Occumenical Council, summoned for the condemnation of Arius, "a famous con"test;" as if one half of the world had been divided against the other. And he says, it was "determined by a majority of near twenty to one;" whereas, in truth, there were but five out of three hundred and eighteen, who denied the Catholic Faith. I mention this to shew how some things may be represented by some sort of people, who if they are not ignorant, must think it their Inte-between the Arians and themselves. But they object, that the term is not scriptural; nay, there are some, of no ordinary figure amongst them, who have not stuck to call it an invention of Popery'; though it is well known, that at the time this was adopted by the Church, there was no fuch thing as Popery in the world. But the name is found to be of great use in amusing weak people, who have no ready flock of learning to contradict them, and, in some cases, I fear, no good defire of being better informed. Who can think it a notable proof of their zeal as Protestants, that they take a pleafure in seeing their poor Mother, the Episcopal church of England, the honour of the Reformation, and the dread of Popery, painted and dressed up for a Fezebel, by men of her own houshold; who have shipwrecked their Consciences by fubscribing Articles they never believed, and are growing fat upon the provision allotted by the Providence of God, only to support the Church in her Journey through this world to the kingdom of heaven. A fight that would raife the indignation of a Mahometan! and almost move a Papist. himself to pity and pray for us!

But I hope there are some sew among the savourers of Arianism, who are not gone quite so far out of the way, and would be ashamed of such low and base artifices, as can only serve to expose and discredit their cause with any man of common learning and honesty. To these I address myself: and now the Scripture is before us, let me ask them a plain question or two. Is not the word Essence or Substance of the same signification with the word nature? and have not the Fathers of the Church thus expounded it? and is not this phrase—of the same nature—as conclusive for the Divinity of Christ, as that other—of the same Substance? why then should that expression of the Nicene Creed be thought rest to impose upon you. What would you think of a man, who having been present at an Assize, should bring a report of it home to his family, and tell them he had been at a famous Contest, where there was a majority of near ten Jury-men, six witnesses, and a Judge, against the criminal? See Ded. to an Essay on Spirit, p. 9, 10.

I Effay on Spirit, p. 151,

b

pr

the

fel

the

of kin to it, that the Arians must be sensible they could gain nothing by the Exchange? for the divine Nature, we all agree, can be but one; three divine natures of course making three different Gods. But the Scripture, compared as above, has afferted Christ to be of this divine Nature. And if people were once persuaded of that, all farther disputes about the word Consubstantial would be at an end. But peace and unity for Christ's sake, is a blessing of which God has deprived this Church for the punishment of it's sins: and as we do not seem to be in any posture of repentance, it is to be feared he will never restore it to us again in this world; but suffer us to go on from bad to worse, till the measure is silled up.

XLV.

It is a rule, laid down by St. Paul, that GOD fwears by HIMSELF, for this reason, because he can swear by NO GREATER. Heb. vi. 13.

But Christ has sworn by himself :

e'

e

y Í

n

y

ıL

e

n

S

l,

S

e

B.

of

d

n

n

-

a ce.

e

ot

i-

Y

nt

en

ell

an

O

Ifai. xlv. 23. I have fworn by MYSELF,—that unto me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear.

Which words being compared with Rom. xiv. 10, 11. are proved to be the words of Christ.—We shall all stand before the judgment-seat of Christ: For it is written, as I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess unto God.

Christ, therefore, has sworn by HIMSELF: so that if the Apostle's rule be applied, he must for this reason be GOD, and there can be no GREATER.

XLVI.

Eph. iv. 8. When HE (Christ) ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men.

❽

Yet the Scripture here referred to, expressly affirms the person who ascended, &c. to be the Lord God.

Pf. Ixviii. 17, 18. The chariots of GOD are twenty thousand, even thousands of Angels: the LORD is among them, as in Sinai, in the holy Place. Thou hast ascended on high, THOU hast led captivity captive, &c.

XLVII.

Heb. ix. 20. This is the Blood of the TESTAMENT which GOD hath enjoined you.

Ibid. v. 16. Where a TESTAMENT is, there must also of necessity be the DEATH of the TESTATOR.

God is a Testator: but, argues the Apostle, every Testator must die, before the last Will or Testament enjoined by him, can be of force. Therefore, if you keep close to the terms, the natural conclusion is, that GOD, being a Testator, should die, to make way for the execution of his Testament. But it being impossible that the divine nature of God should be capable of Death; it follows, that the person who was capable of Death, and did die as a man, was also God the Testator. And it is to express the strict and persect union of the two natures in the single person of Christ, that what is true only of one, is predicated of both. Of this, two more examples shall be added in the articles that immediately follow.

XLVIII.

Rev. v. 9. Thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to god by Thy Blood.

A distinction is here observed between the two natures of Christ: and the act of redeeming us by the shedding of his blood is ascribed to the Lamb, the Messiah's Humanity. But in another place it is imputed to his Divinity—Feed the Church of GOD, which he hath purchased with HIS OWN BLOOD: not that God, strictly speaking, has any blood

the nty

RD

ce.

NT

ust

OR.

ator

im,

ms,

bluc

it it

be pa-

tor.

two mly

oles

us

his

But

the VN lood

of

of his own to shed; but that he who shed his blood for us, as man, was God as well as man: or, in other words, that God and man were united in the same person; something being predicated of God, which cannot possibly be true without such an union. So again—

XLIX.

Zech. xii. 4.—In that day faith THE LORD—V. 10.
—they shall look on ME whom they have PIERCED.

But, according to the Evangelist St. John, this Scripture faith,

John xix. 37. They shall look on HIM (Christ) whom they have PIERCED.

As it stands in the Prophet, the Lord (Jehovah) was to be pierced. So that unless the man Christ, who hung upon the Cross, was also the Lord Jehovah, the Evangelist is found to be a false witness, in applying to him a prophecy that could not possibly be fulfilled in him.

L.

Phil. i. 10. That ye may be fincere and without offence, till the DAY of CHRIST.

2 Pet. iii. 12. Looking for and hasting to the coming of the DAY of GOD.

LI.

Ifai. xl. 10. Behold, the LORD GOD will COME— HIS REWARD IS WITH HIM.

Rev. xxii. 12. Behold, I (Jesus) come quickly, and my reward is with me.

Amen: From fo come LORD JESUS.

or and photo the flat of a secretary to peak on man it to a 38

❽

CHAP. II.

thought and call a look which we will be be be the

THE DIVINITY OF THE HOLY GHOST,

I.

- John iii. 6. To yeyevenevor EK TE HVEUMAT That which is BORN OF the SPIRIT.
- is BORN OF GOD.

The same individual act of divine Grace, viz. that of our spiritual birth, is ascribed, without the change of a single Letter, to God, and to the Spirit. Some capacity then there must be, wherein the Scripture makes no distinction between God and the Spirit:—and this is what the Scripture itself calls the divine nature; under which God and the Spirit are both equally comprehended.

II.

- Acts xiii. 2. The HOLY GHOST faid, separate ME Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I HAVE CALLED them.
- Hebr. v. 4. No man taketh this honour to himself, but he that is CALLED of GOD.

The shorter way is to ask this same Saul, who it was that appointed him to the work of the ministry? and his answer is no other than this—Paul CALLED to be an Apostle, SE-PARATED unto the Gospel—By the commandment of GOD OUR SAVIOUR.

III.

Matth. ix. 38. Pray ye therefore the LORD OF THE HARVEST, that HE will SEND FORTH Labourers into his harvest.

Ads xiii. 4. So they being sent forth by the holy ghost.

In this act of fending forth Labourers upon the work of the Gospel, the Holy Ghost is proved to be the Lord of the Harvest, to whom Christ himself has directed us to PRAY. Wherefore, they are not to be heard, who advise us to alter the third petition in the Litany; a work, to which I am sure the Holy Ghost hath not called us, and such as will never be consented to by any Labourers of his sending.

IV.

Luke ii. 16. And it was revealed unto him (0π0 ')

BY the HOLY GHOST, that he should not see

Death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ.

Ibid. v. 28. And he BLESSED GOD, and faid, LORD now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, according to THY WORD.

n

re

E

lf,

This word, was the word of the Holy Ghost; who therefore is intitled to the context, and is God and Lord to be blessed or praised; not under any imaginary restrictions and limitations, according to a certain degree of Power delegated to him, an evasion you will meet with in some modern writers; but the Scripture, and common reason instructed by the Scripture, disclaim and abhor it, as an inlet to all sorts of Idolatry.

I set down the preposition, because it slays the Arian with his own weapon. It shows the prime agency and authority in this affair to have been that of the Holy Ghoss, acting in his own right, and not as the minister or instrument of an higher power; for then, according to them, it should have been dea. For my own part, I lay no stress upon it; because I perceive, upon a review of the Scripture, that these two prepositions are used indiscriminately.

(B)

V.

John xiv. 17. He (the spirit of Truth) dwelleth with you, and thall be in you.

1 Cor. xiv. 25. God is IN you of a truth,

VI.

- 2 Tim. iii. 16. All Scripture is given by INSPIRA-
- 2 Pet. i. 21. Holy men of God spake as they were MOVED BY the HOLY GHOST.

VII.

Jahn vi. 45. It is written in the prophets, and they shall be all TAUGHT of GOD.

dom teacheth, but which the HOLY GHOST TEACHETH.

This latter verse would prove the Holy Ghost to be Ged by itself: for I cannot find that man, in the style of the Scripture, is ever opposed in this manner to any being but God only. I will subjoin a few examples of it.

John i. 13. Nor of the will of man, but of God.

I Thest. iv. 8. He therefore that despiseth, despiseth not man, but God.

Rom. i. 29. Whose praise is not of men, but of God.

VIII.

Alls v. 3. Why hath Satan filled thine heart to LYE to the HOLY CHOST?

Ibid. v. 4.—Thou hast not LYED unto men, but unto GOD.

Dr. Clarke affirms, that "the Person of the Holy Ghost" is no where in Scripture expressly stiled God." And then adds by way of authority—" see the Text, No. 66 "." And what text would you suppose this to be? why, it is no other Part II. §. xxxii.

tl

0 th

Ib

But

con

1 (

t

than that of Acts v. 4. where he IS expressly filed God. The Doctor refers us to it, because he has added a long perplexed Comment to help us to understand it, I suppose; though a child may see the force of it without any Comment at all. The substance of all he has faid may be reduced to this-" Ananias lyed to God, because he lyed to the Apostles, in whom God dwelt by his Spirit." Thus he has tried to evade it: even by producing one proof of the Holy Ghaft's Divinity, as an answer to another. For if the Scripture affures us that God dwelleth in us; and our only argument for it is, because the Spirit dwelleth in us; who can the Spirit be, but God himself? as it is proved in the following Article. But before we proceed to it, I must beg the Reader to observe how he has used and represented Athanasius's opinion upon this text. " Athanasius himself (says the Doctor) explains " this text in the same manner: He that lyed (saith he) to the " Holy Ghoft, lyed to GOD, WHO dwelleth in men by his " Spirit. For " where the Spirit of God is, there is GOD." The difference, then, between this author and St. Athanasius, is no more than this: the former takes occasion to deny that the Holy Ghost is GOD, the latter to prove it, and both from one and the same text; which, if you believe the Doctor, they have explained in the same manner.

DC

nd

il-

ST

by ip-

ily.

an,

but

then And other than

IX.

not, then have we confidence toward GOD.

Ibid. v. 24. And hereby we know that HE abideth in us, by THE SPIRIT which he hath given us.

The Apostle's reasoning is this—" The Spirit abideth in "us; and hereby we know that He (God) abideth in us." But unless the Spirit be a person in the Unity of God, the conclusion is manifestly salse.

Χ.

1 Cor. iii. 16. The TEMPLE of GOD is holy, which temple are YE.

No. 66; 2 One yas est to Hyeupa to Ois, enti est o OEOZ.

❽

I Cor. vi. 19. Know ye not, that your Bodies are the TEMPLE of the HOLY GHOST?

Matt. iv. 1. Then was Jesus LED up (vm6) BY THE spirit, to be tempted, &c.

Luke xi. 2.-4. OUR FATHER which art in heaven-LEAD us not into TEMPTATION.

Is it not my business in this place to shew particularly in what manner and for what end God leads us into temptation; That it is no way inconfiftent with the divine attributes, is plain from the case now before us: for Jesus was led up into the wilderness to meet his adversary, and be tempted by him. And it is also plain from that petition in the Lord's Prayer, that our father which is in heaven would not lead us into temptation: it being needless and absurd to pray that God would not do, what by the necessity of his nature, it is impossible for him to do. In this case, God is not the tempter: he only introduces us to the trial; and always provides, if we have the grace and prudence to embrace it, a way for our escaping, that we may be able to bear it.

But when Fesus was tempted, the leading him into temptation was the act of the Holy Spirit. Therefore as often as we repeat the Lord's Prayer, we address ourselves inclusively to the Person of the Spirit, under the one name of OUR FA-THER; and certainly, he also is our Father, of whom we are begotten and born, even of the Spirit: and again, as many as are LED by the SPIRIT of God, they are the SONS of God. Rom. viii. 14. See Art. I. of this Chapter.

XII.

2 Cor. i. 3. Bleffed be GOD, even the GOD of ALL COMFORT.

If all spiritual Comfort (sent from heaven) be of God, how is it consistent, that the churches had rest—walking in the COMFORT OF the HOLY GHOST', unless the Holy Acts ix. 3.

Ghof

tl

1 rea

of

bea

the wif

hov

thin

Div

him.

.

4 1]

7 7

John ; ify bi are

THE

hearly in tation.

tes, is led up

ted by

Lord's

ead us y that e, it is ot the

s pro-

e it, a ptation

as we

ely to

E FA-

om we

s many

NS of

f ALL

d, how

in the

ne Holy

Ghof

Ghost be a person in the Unity of God? and how can he be fivled by way of Eminence, THE Comforter', if there be a God distinct from him, who claims that Title? for then he is not the Comforter, but one of the two; and two divine Comforters, like two Almighties, would make two Gods; which is not a principle of Christianity, but of heathen Idolatry. And the fame reasoning will hold good as to another of his titles. For the Holy Ghost is called, by way of Eminence, THE SPIRIT , i. e. the true and principal, the head and Father of all other Spirits. Yet we are told that God is as Spirit 3: so that unless the Spirit be also God, we must believe in two supreme, distinct, and independent Spirits. And thus we justly argue for the Divinity of Christ; that because GOD is LIGHT 4, and Christ is THE LIGHT 5. therefore, he is and must be God; even the TRUE God, because he is the TRUE Light 6.

XIII

of a man, fave the spirit of a man which is in HIM? EVEN so the things of GOD knoweth (sous) none but the spirit of GOD.

The Spirit of a man knows the things of a man for this reason, because it is in him. For the same reason, the Spirit of God knows the things of God, because it is in the God-head; than which nothing farther need be desired to prove the co-effentiality of the Haly Ghost? If you take it otherwise, there can be no parallel between the two cases. For how strange would it be to say—the human Spirit knows the things of a man, because it is in him; EVEN SO, the Divine Spirit knows the things of God, because it is out of him. This text brings the matter to a short iffue. The ¹ Ο σαρακλητώ, John xiv. 26. ² 1 John v. 6. ³ John iv. 24. ⁴ 1 John i. 5. ⁵ John i. 4, 7, 8. and vii. 12. ⁶ Ibid. i. 9.

⁷ The Scripture uses the same preposition to denote the co-effentiality of ChristJohn Xiv. 11. I am (EN τω Πατρι) In the Father. And Xiii. 32. God shall glorify him (EN εμυτω) In Himself.

Church affirms the Spirit to be in God, as a person of the same divine nature: the Arians deny it, and will understand him to be out of God; not a person of the divine nature, but one inserior to, and distinct from it. To see on which side the truth lies, a man needs no other qualification but that of faith, to receive the Scripture as the infallible word of God: which the Arians, in most of their writings, have freely confessed it to be. If once they come openly to deny this, they are no longer Arians, but insides of another denomination, with whom a different course is to be taken.

XIV.

man. The THINGS OF GOD knoweth no,

Ited. v. 14. But the natural man receiveth not the THINGS OF THE SPIRIT OF GOD.

Here again, the Scripture makes no distinction, farther than that of personality, between God and the Spirit of God; but renders unto God the things that are God's, by rendering them to the Spirit, who is God.

XV.

Deut. vi. 16. and Matt. iv. 7. Thou shalt not , TEMPT the LORD thy GOD.

Alls v. 9. How is it that ye have agreed to TEMPT the SPIRIT of the LORD?

The Spirit is here substituted as the object of that particular act of disobedience, of which, according to the Law and the Gospel, the only object is the Lord our God: therefore the Spirit is the Lord our God.

Dr. Clarke denies that in "any place of Scripture there is any mention made of any SIN against the Holy Ghost, but only of a BLASPHEMY"." He that can distinguish BLASPHEMY from SIN, must be an acute reasoner; when it is of, all sins the greatest. But is it no SIN against

3 S. D. p. 112.

1

800

the

tex

Go

the Holy Ghost, to lye to him, to grieve him?, or to tempt him? why then did the Lord swear in his wrath against those that grieved him, if it were no SIN? and why was that commandment given in the Law, thou shall not tempt the Lord thy God? And if the Spirit be tempted, is not the Spirit the object offended by that temptation? this is the very thing that learned man was afraid of. He would have proved blasphemy to be no Sin, lest the Spirit should appear to be the object of Sin; for that would have proved him to be God, the author and giver of the Law: and that, again, would have spoiled his Scripture Doctrine: so the short way was, to deny it.

XVI.

10

16

og

ot

T

6-

(h

.

ılt

he

Gen. vi. 3. And the LORD faid, MY SPIRIT shall not always strive with man.

The Spirit of the Lord strove with the Inhabitants of the old world, endeavouring to reclaim them by grace, and waiting long for their repentance. But this is called, 1 Pet. iii. 20. the long-suffering of GOD that waited in the days of Noah.

XVII:

Luke xi. 20. If I with the finger of god cast out devils.

The parallel place in St. Matthew's Gospel has it thus:

Matth. xin 28. If I with the SPIRIT of GOD caff.

The finger of God is a metaphorical expression for the immediate power and agency of God: and to say that Devils were cast out by the finger of God, is the same as to say, that they were cast out by God himself. But it appears from the text of St. Matthew, that this particular act of the finger of God, that is, of God himself, was the act of the SPIRIT; therefore, the Spirit is God himself.

* Epb. iv. 30.

WANTED TO SEE MENT AVIII.

Ezek. viii. 1—3. The hand of the LORD GOD fell there upon me——and HE (the Lord God) put forth the form of an hand, and took me by a lock of mine head, and the SPIRIT lift me up, &c.

In this text, the name of the Lord God, and the name of the Spirit, do both belong to the same person. For though it be said that the Spirit lifted up the prophet, yet was it no other than the Lord God who put forth the form of an hand, and took him: therefore the SPIRIT is the LORD GOD.

XIX.

Afts iv. 24, 25.—They lift up their voice to God with one accord, and faid, LORD, thou art GOD, which hast made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all that therein is. Who by the mouth of thy servant David has said, &c.

The terms LORD and GOD are here used to express the Divinity of him, who spake by the mouth of his servant David. But it was the person of the HOLY GHOST, who spake by the mouth of his servant David—for, saith St. Peter—This Scripture must needs have been fulfilled, which the HOLY GHOST by the mouth of DAVID spake, &c. Therefore, the terms LORD and GOD are certainly used to express the Divinity of the HOLY GHOST.

So again;

It was the LORD GOD of Ifrael, who SPAKE by the mouth of his holy Prophets, fince the world began. Luke it 68. 70.

But then, it is written—well SPAKE the HOLY GHOST by Esaias the prophet, &c. Therefore the Holy Ghost is the LORD GOD of Israel.

Acts xxviii 25. 1 1 2 ont proloned

.c. v de2 4

and the first in the little

2)

fo

S

be

46

Juj

wl

by

go

the

ye i

XX. W. Abrew (T. W. Part 12)

over 01 2919 b

Pfal. cxxxix. 7. Whither shall I go from THY SPI-RIT? or whither shall I go from thy Presence? If I ascend up into heaven, THOU art there.

The Psalmist, to acknowledge the omnipresence of the Holy Ghost, says—Whither shall I go from thy Spirit? and by what is immediately subjoined, he shews this to be the omnipresence of God himself——If I ascend up into heaven. THOU art there. So that the terms Thou, and thy Spirit, are equivalent; i.e. equally conclusive for the immediate presence of the divine nature itself.

XXI.

It was faid by the Angel—Luke i. 32.—He shall be great, and shall be called the SON of the HIGHEST. But the reafon given upon this occasion WHY Christ was called the SON OF GOD, is this, and this only, viz. because he was begotten by the Holy Ghost—" The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the HIGHEST shall over-shadow thee: THEREFORE also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of GOD."

When Jesus is called the Son of God, we understand the supreme and true God, besides whom there is no other. The Devils themselves allowed it, and said—"Jesus, thou Son of God MOST HIGH"!" But the Person in God, whose Son Jesus is said to be in this place, is the Holy Ghost, by whose power (called the Power of the highest) he was begotten of the blessed virgin, and thence called the Son of God.

Therefore, the Holy Ghoft is God, and the Highest.

XXII.

The Prophet Isaiah, in his 6th Chapter, tells us he saw the LORD OF HOSTS. And at ver. 8. that he heard the voice of the LORD, SAYING—Go and tell this people, hear ye indeed, but understand not, &c.

Luke viii. 28.

Yet these very words, which the prophet declares to have been spoken by the Lord, even the Lord of Hoss, were spoken by the Holy Ghost—Well SPAKE THE HOLY GHOST, by Esaias the prophet, unto our Fathers, saying, Go unto this People, and say, hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand, &c.

Therefore, the HOLY GHOST is the LORD OF HOSTS.

The article of the Holy Ghost's supreme and absolute Divinity being now established in the plainest terms, I shall proceed to answer, from the Scripture, the objections usually made against it from thence.

XXIII.

† Matth. xix. 17. There is none good but one, that is, god.

If this be a good objection to the Divinity of Christ, it must be equally strong against that of the Holy Ghost; for it is argued from this passage, that the attribute of goodness is confined to the fingle person of God the Father; who therefore is a Being superior to, and different from Christ and the Holy Ghoft. The Error of this argument has been fully fhewn above: for it is not one perfon, but one God, whom the Scripture has afferted to be good; and I now have an opportunity of confirming it, and of proving withal, that in the unity of this one God, belides whom no other is good, the person of the Holy Ghost is, and must be included. For it is written—Thy SPIRIT is GOOD -- la that if the fame inspired Scripture which declares the perfon of the Spirit to be good, does also as plainly declare that none is good, but God only; then the Spirit is God, even the only true and supreme God; and we are as well affured of it, as if it had been said, "there is none Good but one, " that is the Spirit, who is one with God." The Hebrew in this place is yet stronger than the English. It is not שובה good, but שובה Goodness itself, that is, divine essential un-communicated goodness, besides which there neither is nor can be any other of the like kind. There is one fort of goodness communicated to men upon earth; as we read, Psal. cxii. 5. the good man sheweth savour, &c. and Asis ii. 24. that Barnabas was a good man, and full of faith, &c., There is another fort of goodness to be found only in heaven, and that is the goodness of God, which is essential; but this goodness is also an attribute of the Spirit; who therefore is proved to be very God; and by that argument too, for the sake of which, some have denied him to be God.

¹ Acts xxviii. 26, 27.

² Pfal. cxliii. zo.

XXIV.

† Matth. iii. 16. The Spirit of God.

lute

1911 ally

HE,

for 18

re-

ind

lly

om

an naț

is

n-

·ſo

J.

at

he of

e, ot 1-

i-

The Spirit, fay they, is not God, because he is only the Spirit of God. But so likewise the human Spirit, whence the Apostle has taught us to borrow an Idea of the Divine, is the Spirit OF a man; yet, was it ever pretended, that the Spirit, for this reason, is one Being, and the man another? No, certainly: and the same must be true of God, and the Spirit of God; as far as the Being of the fame man, who is one person, can be an image of the same God, who is three persons. But there is the plainest testimony of Scripture, that the Spirit, though faid to be the Spirit OF Jehovah, is also called by the express name of Jehovah himself. For it is written, Judg. xv. 14, that the Spirit OF Jehovah CAME upon Samson. Yet at Chap. xvi. 29. it is said, Till it can that Jehovah himself DEPARTED from him. be shewn, then, that the person who came upon him was one, and the person who departed from him was another; it is undeniable, that the Spirit, though faid to be OF Jehovah, is strictly and properly Jehovah himself,

XXV.

† Heb. ii. 4. God also bearing them witness with —gifts of the Holy Ghost according to his own will.

Hence it is objected, that the Holy Ghost is subservient and subgrainate to the Will of another; therefore he cannot be the supreme and true God. But if this own will of God should prove to be no other than the will of the Spirit, this imaginary objection of the Arians, which if it be an error must also be a blasphemy, will turn to a demonstration against them. And that the will of God really is the will of the Spirit, is manifest from a Cor. xii. 11. All these workship that one and the self-same SPIRIT, dividing to every man severally as HE (even be himself) WILLETH.

F 4

S

el

hi

ti

P

b

d:

al 2:

·I

C

11

A

2

d

C

n

ti

n

XXVI.

+ Rom. viii. 26. The Spirit itself maketh inter-

The Spirit is not God, because he maketh intercession with God; and God, as it is imagined, cannot intercede with himself. But it is a matter of fact, that he has actually done this: therefore it is wicked and false to say that he cannot. For God reconciled the world TO HIMSELF, and it was done by Intercession.

The other Objections I meet with are all of this stamp: as that the Spirit is said to be given, to proceed, to be poured out, to be sent; and they argue that it is impossible for God to give, to proceed from, or to send, himself. But here the question is begged, that God is but one person, in which case it might be a contradiction: but the Scriptures demonstrate, as it will be seen in the following Chapter, that God is three persons; and then there is no contradiction in any of these things. It is also to be observed, that the giving, proceeding, sending, and ministration of the Eternal Spirit to Christ in Glory, are terms that concern not the divine nature, but relate merely to the acis and effices, which the several persons of the blessed Trinity have mercifully condescended to take upon them, for conducting the present Economy of man's redemption and sancisfication.

By this time, I take it for granted, every pious reader must have observed, how very copious and conclusive the Scriptures of the Old Testament are, upon the subject of the Trinity; and that without having recourse to them upon every occasion, occasion, it is impossible for me or for any man to deal fairly and honeftly by the Apostolical Doctrine of the Church of England. Our Lord himself has told us, that every Scribe, or teacher, instructed into the kingdom of heaven, should bring forth out of his treasure, things NEW and OLD . It was his own practice. He appealed, at every turn, to the Law, the Prophets, and the Pfalms, for the testimony of his own doctrine; and the Church has followed his example. from the days of the Apollies, almost down to the present times. And To far is the Old Testament from being no part of the Scripture, that it is the book, and the only book, the Gospel calls by the name of the Scripture. It was this book, which the noble and faithful Bereaus fearched every day of their lives, to fee whether the Gofpel then preached, and afterwards published in the New Testament, was agreeable to it; with the intention, either to receive or reject it. as it should appear to be recommended by this Authority. It was this Book, for his skill in which, Apollos is praifed as one mighty in the Scriptures; the same Scriptures, of which St. Paul was bold to affirm, for the benefit of a brother Christian, that they were wile to make him wife unto falvation, through Faith that is in Christ Jesus. As long as this Faith flourished in the Church, these Scriptures were much read and profitably understood: but now it is dwindled into a dry lifeless System of Morality, they are become in a manner useless; and some (it grieves me to say it) even of those who have undertaken to teach others, want themselves to be tought again this first Element of Christianity; that the New Testament can never be understood and explained, but by 自一(5) 建酸 comparing it with the Old.

Of this Error and its consequences, we have a sad example in the celebrated Dr. Clarke; a man, whose talents might have adorned the Doctrine of Christ, had not his Faith been eaten up by an Heathen Spirit of Imagination and Philosophy. He published a Book entitled, The Scripture Doctrine of the Trinity; a work of great pains and premeditation. In a short presace, he allows the Subject to be

ith

ith

пе

ot.

ras

ed

od

le

e,

36

ſe

g, in ut

715

ke

ı's

ıft

ity

n,

f the greatest importance in religion—not to be treated of lefuly—but examined by a ferious fludy of the WHOLE SCRIP.
TURE. And to convince the world that this and no other was his own practice, he affirms in his Introduction, p. 17. and prints it in capitals, that he has collected ALL the Ta relating to that matter. Yet his whole Collection is finish and thut up without a Single Text from the Old Tellow I cannot find that he has even mentioned frich a Book, "The Christian Revelation," says he, p. z. "is t Doctrine of Christ and his Apostles." This he calls, p. 4. The Books of Scripture;" and again, p. 5.- "The Backs of Scripture-not only the Rule, but the Whole of the only Rule of Truth—the only Foundation we have to " go upon." And he proves it thus-" because no man " has fince pretended to have any new Revelation." An argument that will prejudice few people in favour of his fincerity. For though there has been no new Revelation SINCE the Books of the New Testament, as we all confess: does it follow that there was no old Revelation BE FORE them ? and did this author never read, that the same GOD, suke sprike in these last days by his Son, spake in time past unto the fathers by the Prophets '? yet he affects to know nothing at all of the matter,

And as to the use he makes of the New Testament, who would expect, that a man who has made Nothing of one balf of God's Revelation, should be very nice in his treatment of the other? In the first place, he has not vouchfased to sollow the Apostle's Direction of comparing spiritual thing with spiritual, thence to collect their true meaning; but set down his Texts in such an order, as makes them to be all single and independent of one another; and that gives all possible liberty to the Imagination to thrust in what sort of comment it pleases. When he refers to any parallel place (which I think is never done, but on one side of the Question) the Reader is not directed to the text itself, but to the meaning he has sastened upon it. At the beginning of every

Heb. i. I.

circa of Castas ball

f

ti

fe

2 il

u

at

in

B

fa

th

to

he

PU

pe

ag

W

10 th

chapter, he fets down his own opinion at large, as the Title of it: and you are to believe, that all the passages of that Division do certainly prove it; which if cleared of his comments, and compared with other texts, are found to prove no fuch thing, but the very contrary. And this he calls The Scripture Doctrine of the Trinity: but if we call it by its true name, it is-Clarke's Doctrine of the Scripture; that is, of half the Scripture. How it came to pals, that he should thus boldly fet down his own refolutions upon the most profound article of the Christian Faith, without consulting all the Evidence that relates to it, or rightly examining any part of it: how this came to pass, God is to determine, to whom all things are naked and open. All I have to de with him, is to rescue the Word of God from such deceitful bandling. And I have prevailed with myself to make these few Reflections, because I find some modern Objectors of a lower Class, have used this Book in Conversation and in Print, as the Oracle of the Party, taking the Scripture upon trust as his principles would give him leave to retail it. I know it will be accounted an hard thing, and called invidious, to rake thus into the Alhes of a writer, who is not alive to answer for himself. And I confess, I am very far from taking any pleasure in it. But is it not much barder. that the after of this man should be scattered over the land, to breed and inflame the plague of herefy, till the whole head is fick and the heart faint, and the whole body full of putrifying blains and fores? Arianism is now no longer a pestilence that walketh in durkness, but that brazens it out against the fun's light, and destroyeth in the noon day. It is a canker, which if it be encouraged much longer, will certainly eat out the vitals of Christianity in this kingdom: and when the faith is gone, the Church in all probability will foon follow after it; for if the holy oil be wasted and spilt, the Lamp that was made to hold it, will be of no farther use.

n. E. ne ne

Ŋ

11

l-

ı,

CHAP

THE PLURALITY AND TRINITY OF PERSONS diving the about the said of

they save thereby a distribution of the Land of the same The Hebrew name fo often used in the Old Testament, which we have translated by the word God, is Elohim, a noun fubstantive of the plural number, regularly formed from its fingular *, and very frequently joined with plural verbs and plural adjectives, to express a plurality in the divine nature : though for another obvious reason, it is generally constructed with verbs and pronouns of the fingular number, and gives a good sense, though the Grammar of it be somewhat irregular.

The Jews would persuade us not to consider this word as a plural noun, but on some particular occasions. Whoever will be at the pains to examine their reasoning, will find it to be very childish and inconsistent, wholly owing to their hatred against the divinity of Jesus Christ, and the notion of a Trinity. But when the Jew is become a Christian, and the stumbling-block of the Cross removed out of his way, he can allow the name Elohim to be plural as readily as other men; and it is one of the principal points he chuses to infift upon, to convince the world that his eyes are open, and he is fincere in his profession of the Christian religion.

John Xeres, a Jew, converted here in England about forty years ago, published a sensible and affectionate address to his unbelieving brethren, wherein he lays before them his reasons for leaving the Fewish religion and embracing the Christian. " The Christians, (says he t) confess Jesus to be God; and " it is this that makes us look upon the Gospels as books

es that

th

pe

of

"

"

"

...

" t

Gen

11

N

of h

perso

Scrip

more

a figu

God,

it is c

of hir

God 1

a man

to be

King

figure

one of that ca

one to

in whi

60.75

^{*} אליה and אליה : fee the Heb. of Deut, xxxii. 17. and Hab. i. 11. † P. 53.

which is built upon this article; the Unity of God. In this argument lies the strength of what you object against the Christian religion." Then he undertakes to prove that the unity of God is not such as he once understood it to be, an unity of Person, but of Essence, under which more persons than one are comprehended; and the first proof he offers is that of the name Elohim. "Why else, (says he ") is that frequent mention of God by nouns of the plural number? as in Gen. i. 1. where the word Elohim, which is rendered God, is of the plural number, though annexed to a verb of the singular number; which demonstrates as evidently as may be, that there are several persons partaking of the same divine Nature and Essence."

the state of the section in

Gen. i. 26. And GOD said, let us make man in our image, after our likeness.

No fenfible reason can be given, why God should speak of himself in the plural number, unless he consists of more persons than one. Dr. Clarke contrived the plan of his Scripture Doctrine so as to leave out this difficulty with many more of the fame kind. Others there are who tell us it is a figurative way of speaking, only to express the dignity of God, not to denote any plurality in him. For they observe it is customary for a King, who is only one person, to speak of himself in the same style. But how absurd is it, that God should borrow his way of speaking from a King, before a man was created upon the earth! And even granting this to be possible, yet the cases will not agree. For though a King or Governor may fay us and we, there is certainly ho figure of speech that will allow any single person to say, one of us, when he speaks only of himself. It is a phrase that can have no meaning, unless there be more persons than one to chuse out of. Yet this, as we shall find, is the Style in which God has spoken of himself in the following article. due an Afgral to the Commin Society all they like Logich to Agr.

Patron I

Though it be impossible to apply this plural expression to any but the Persons of the Godhead, there is a writer who has attempted to turn the force of it by another text, in which, as he says very truly, the useskies of the argument will appear at fight. God invites the people by the prophet Islaids, and says, "Come now and he us reason together." chap, i. ver. 18. Upon which he remarks, that, "if this is form of expression puts the children of strait upon an equality with God, then we may allow some force in this argument."

And so we may if it does not. For let us reason refers to an act common to all spirits; and therefore no Christian ever thought of arguing from it. But let us make man refers only to an act of the Godhead. All spirits can reason: but only the supreme Spirit can create. Therefore the author, instead of answering the expression, but only brought together two texts as widely different as God and man.

If the King were to fay to another, "let us fee," or let "us breathe," no man would be so weak as to think that the expression denoted any equality or co-ordination in the person so spoken to. But if he should say, "let us pardon "a malesactor condemned by the law," then the expression would admit of such an inference. And the objector might have been aware of these distinctions, if he had not prematurely settled his faith before he had consulted the Holy Scripture.

TEN STOP DE MONTO ON ONE TIE

Cen. lif. 22. And the LORD GOD faid, behold the man is become like one or us.

The Jews are greatly perplexed with this passage. They and eavour to put it off, by telling us, God must here be understood to speak of himself and his council, or as they term it proma his house of judgment, made up of angels, ite. to which those needs no answer but that of the prophet,

the

will tho

11 6

(fay

Holy

plac

Gen

to w

Engl

origi

Tren

respe

have

which

only

whol

have heap

lutio

done

judgi

¹ See an Appeal to the Common Senfe of all Christian People, p. 139.

who hall drawn the mind of the Lord, or who hall been his counseller "?"

IV

Gen. xi. 6, 7. And the LORD said—let us go down and there confound (Heb. let us confound) their language.

Another instance of this occurs in Isaiah vi. 8. I heard the voice of the LORD, saying, whom shall I send, and who will go for US? Upon the plural word Nobis, us, there is a short note of Junius and Tremellius, which contains the sub-stance of all that can be said upon the occasion—" Name consilium of Dei Patris, Filii, & Spiritus Sancti"—For this stay they is a consultation of God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.—And it shall be proved to be so, in a proper place, from an inspired comment upon this Chapter of Isaiah.

n

V

Genes. xx. 13. And it came to pass when con caused me to wanden from my father's house, &c.

The Hebrew is-Deus errare facerent-God they caused me to wander: which, however strange it may found to an English hearer, is the strict grammatical rendering of the original. And the expression is affirmed by Junius and Tremellius, with other commentators out of number, to respect the plurality of the persons in the Godhead. They have a short note upon it to the following effect. Plurale verbufn cum Dei nomine, ad indicandum S. Triados mysterium: which I mention, not in the way of an authority, but only to shew how clear the case is to an Hebrew reader, whose mind is without prejudice. And though others may have attempted to conceal such evidence as this under an heap of critical rubbish, yet if we are to come to no resolution till those who dislike the destrine of a Trinity have done disputing about the words that convey it, the day of judgment itself would find us undetermined. And if we would but attend to this state of the case, and apply it also to other points of doctrine, I am well convinced it would shorten many of our disputes, and make the word of God a much more easy and intelligible book than it passes for at present.

Live VI

VI

Gen. xxv. 7. Because there god appeared unto him, &c.

Here again the Hebrew verb is plural—Deus reveluti sunt —God they appeared, or were revealed to him. So again in 2 Sam. vii. 23.—even like Israel whom God went to redem; which in the original is—iverant Deus ad redimendum; the verb being in the plural. A celebrated Latin translator of the Old Testament has ventured to render it—iverant Disad redimendum; but Dis in Latin is not answerable to Elohim in the Hebrew; and, in strictness, may be thought to countenance the notion of Tritheism, or a plurality of Gods; which is abhorrent from the express doctrine of the Scripture; and against which the name Elohim is purposely guarded, by its being connected so very often with verbs and pronouns in the singular.

VII.

Deut. iv. 7. What nation is there so great, that hath gop so night unto them? &c.

In the two preceding articles we have seen the name of God connected with plural verbs: it is here joined to a plural adjective, whose termination is the same with its own; for the original has it—Elohim Kerebim—Deus propinqui—God who are so near. Another instance of which we have in Josh. xxiv. 19. Ye cannot serve the Lord, for he is an holy God. For the Hebrew reads it—Deus sancti ipse,—he is a God who are holy ones. And again, Psal. lviii. 12. Doubtles there is a God that judgeth the earth: the Hebrew of which is—Deus judicantes in terra—a God (i. e. divine persons) who are judging in the earth.

Ser

well :

numb to be

M

Heb.

Hofts

thy me

to pre numb

in its 13.

youth,

thy C

this,

men

fome thefe

wildo

under Chap

Ec

is (=

by th

Funit

ledge

myster

T

and 1

reafo

Pr

In

Ec

² Pagninus in his interlineary version published by Montanus.

VIII.

Several other nouns there are beside the name Elohim, as well adjective as substantive, that are set down in the plural number, where it cannot be denied that the Being of God is to be understood by them.

Mal. i. 6. If I be a MASTER, where is my feat? The Heb. is ארנים Adonim, in the plural—If I tom masters, &c.

Isai. liv. 5. For thy Maker is thine husband, the Lord of Hosts is his name. Here also the Hebrew substantives for thy maker and thy husband, are both plural—בעליך עשיך. And to prove that משיך cannot signify thy maker, in the singular number, it is also sound connected with the word Jehovah in its singular form, without the 'inserted; as in Isai. li.

13. And forgettest the Lord thy maker—יהוה עשך.

Eccl. xii. I. Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth, &c. The Hebrew of which is—Remember אבוראין thy Creators, in the plural. And there is nothing strange in this, when we can prove so easily that the world and all men in it were created by a Trinity.

Instead of the usual names of God, adjectives expressing some divine attribute are very frequently substituted: and these also occur in the plural, as in the following examples.

Prov. ix. 10. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and the knowledge (prop) of the HOLY ONES is understanding. Another instance of which may be found in Chap. xxx. 3. see also Hosea xi. 12. in the Hebrew, xii. 1.

Eccl. v. 8. There be HIGHER than they. The Hebrew is (בבהים) high ones, in the plural: and is understood even by the Jews themselves to mean the holy and blessed Gods. Junius and Tremellius put altissimus in their text, but acknowledge the Hebrew to be alti-plurale pro singulari superlativo; mysterium S. Triados notans.

Pfalm lxxviii. 25. Man did eat Angels food.

The word (אבירים) mighty ones, is never used for Angels; and must in this place fignify God, for the two following reasons: 1. Because Abir in the singular is several times.

used absolutely as a name of God; who is called Abir Israe the mighty one of Israel, and Abir Jacob, the mighty one of Jacob. Gen. xlix. 24. Pfal. cxxxii. 2. where the LXX have rendered it Geos. 2. Because our blessed Saviour, is discoursing upon the Manna, John vi. 31—33, quotes this part of the Psalm, and calls that the bread of God from heaven which in the Psalm itself is called the bread of the mighty Therefore Abirim is put for Elohim, and is taken in the plura because God is plural.

IX.

Dan. iv. 26. And whereas THEY commanded to leave the flump of the tree-roots, &c.

At the 13th verse of this Chapter we read only of on watcher or holy one coming down from heaven, of whom i is said that HE cried-leave the stump of his roots in the earth Yet the number is here very remarkably changed from h faid to they commanded. And though the words of the curl upon Nebuchadnezzar were pronounced by A watcher and An holy one, in the fingular; nevertheless, at the close of the speech, this matter is declared to be by the decree of the WATCHERS and the demand by the word of the HOLY ONES. Now it is very certain that the judgments of God are not founded upon the decree and word of Angels or of any created beings: therefore this watcher could be no created angel, but a person in the Lord Jehovah; who condescends to watch over 2 his people, and is called the keeper of Israel, that neither sumbereth nor sleepeth. The change o these verbs and nouns from the singular to the plural, car be accounted for upon no other principle: it is a case to which there is no parallel in any language, and fuch as car be reconcileable only to the Being of God, who is one and We are to collect from it, that in this, as in ever act of the Godhead, there was a consent and concurrence of the persons in the Trinity; and though there was on only

only who

k an in

Miciples

f the Fo

without

ales ag

are told the name

Lord Fel the bapti

mention

fence, n

understoc 13 qui un

up. 20.

Dan. V.

chadi

hono

Ver. 20

Here

high God

of the h

sa mat

of the k

atural

imfelf

vabase.

I mig

ous pass

of, or sp

moduce

Gen. xix

mm/tone
The Lor

² Ver. 17. Compare this with Prov. ix. 10. cited in No. VIII. of this Chapter. ² Jer. xxxi. 28.

who spake, it was the word and decree of all. There is an instance of this sort in the New-Testament. The spliciples of Christ were commanded to baptize in the name is the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. And, without doubt, the baptism they administered was in all cases agreeable to the prescribed form. Nevertheless we see told of some, who were commanded to be baptized in the name of the Lord, and particularly, in the name of the Lord Jesus?: so that there was a strange defect either in the baptism itself, or in the account we have of it; or the mention of one person in the Trinity must imply the presence, name, and authority of them all; as the passage is understood by Irenæus—in Christi nomine subauditur qui unxit, if qui unctus est, & ipsa unctio in qua unctus est. Lib. III.

X.

V

n

he he

Dan. v. 18. The most high God gave to Nebuchadnezzar a kingdom and majesty and glory and honour.

Ver. 20. And THEY took his glory from him.

Here again, the word they is a plain relative to the most high God. Nor can it otherwise be agreeable to the sense of the history, or the reason of the thing itself, considered as matter of sact. For who was it that took away the glory of the king? It was not the work of men, but a superatural act of the most high God; to whom Nebuchadnezzar imself hath ascribed it—those that walk in pride HE is able wabase.

I might here subjoin in proof of a plurality, those numeous passages of the Old Testament, wherein God is spoken of, or speaks of himself, as of more persons than one. I will moduce a few of them, to shew that such are not wanting. In xix. 24. The Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah simstone and fire from the Lord out of heaven. Psal. cx. 1. The Lord said unto my Lord, sit thou on my right hand, &c.

^{*} Acts x. 48.

² Ibid. viii. 16.

Dan. ix. 17. Now therefore; O our God, hear the prayer thy fervant-for the Lord's Sake. Prov. xxx. 4. Who has established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, an what is his Son's name, if thou canst tell? Isai. x. 12. Whe the Lord hath performed his whole work upon Jerusalem I we punish, &c. Ibid. xiii. 13. I will shake the heavens, and the earth shall remove out of her place, in the wrath of the Lord of Hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger. Ibid. xxii. 19. An I will drive thee from thy station, and from thy state shall h pull thee down. Ibid. lxiv. 4. Neither hath the eye feen, God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waitet for him. Hof. i. 7. I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, and will fave them by the Lord their God. Zech. ii 10-11. I will dwell in the midst of thee, faith the Lord; and many nations shall be joined to the Lord in that day and shall be my people; and I will dwell in the midst of thee, and thou shall know that the Lord of Hosts hath fent me unto thee. Ibid. x 12. And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walk up and down in his name, faith the Lord.

The Passages hitherto produced in this Chapter are defigned only to prove an indefinite plurality in God. In the remaining part of it, I shall bring forward another class of texts, which shews this plurality to be a Trinity.

XI.

Pfal. xxxiii. 6. By the word of the LORD were the heavens made, and all the host of them by the breath (Heb. SPIRIT) of his mouth.

The breath or spirit of the Lord's mouth, does undoubtedly mean the third person of the Trinity; who is called, Job xxxiii. 4. The Spirit of God, and the Breath of the Almighty. And it should here be remembered, that when Christ communicated the Holy Ghost to his disciples, he did it by breathing upon them ': a demonstration that Christ our Saviour, who, as a person, is the word of the Lord, is in nature the Lord himself; because the spirit or breath of the Almighty

alfo the

for the W

Nicene Cre

SPIRIT The Sp rer. 12. C dare him by his Spi guse the with the . if this sho reason, is Essay on have chie the purfu Father, b " fays he " anothe " Lord, " him ". fentation hould gi in the W the wife fif, befo occasion.

NOT (

GREAT

this, he comes u

work of " that]

haracte

I John xx. 22.

falso the breath of Christ. And this fact is also decisive for the word FILIOQUE, so much controverted in the size Creed.

XII.

w

th

1 0

An

h C

9 ii

in 6

fai. xlviii. 16. And now the LORD GOD and his SPIRIT hath fent ME.

The speaker in this verse is no other than Christ, who at nt. 12. calls himself the first and the last, and does here dedare himself to be fent, not only by the Lord God, but also whis Spirit: which should be taken some notice of, besufe the Arians have objected to the co-equality of the Son with the Father, because he is said to be fent by him. But this should hold, it will follow that Christ, for the same rason, is also inferior to the Spirit. The author of an May on Spirit, whose violent proceedings in the Church have chiefly moved me to draw up these papers, is warm in the pursuit of this argument, that Christ is inferior to the father, because he was fent by him. "We may therefore. " fays he, fairly argue, as our Saviour himself does upon "another occasion—that as the servant is not equal to his "Lord, so neither is he that is fent equal to him that sent " him '." Not quite so fairly: for here is a gross misreprefentation, of which, and of many other things, this author hould give us some account, before he proceeds any farther in the work of reformation; it being a maxim, I think, with the wife and learned, that a man should always reform him-If, before he undertakes to reform the world. Upon the occasion he refers to, our Saviour has said—The Servant is NOT GREATER than his Lord; neither is he that is fent GREATER than he that fent him 2. But in the place of this, he has ventured to substitute another reading that comes up to his point, and agrees better with the intended work of Reformation—" he that is fent is not equal to him "that fent him;" printing the word equal in a different haracter to make it the more observable; and then puts an

* P. 98. 2 John xiii. 16.

per

the

pref

who

in t

who is t

gin Alp

the

and

the

Ra

no

dig

and Al

ix.

rei

M

2

2

objection of his own forging into the mouth of our bleffed Saviour. He professes himself a great enemy to human compositions: and we have reason to believe him, where those compositions are not his own. But his making so free with this and many other texts, does not look as if he was any great friend to the compositions of the Holy Ghost; and can do but little credit to a Vindicator of the Holy Scriptures from the cavils and scoffs of an Insidel.

XIII.

Isai. xxxiv. 16. Seek ye out of the Book of the Lord and read—for MY mouth it hath commanded, and HIS SPIRIT it hath gathered them.

In these words, there is one person speaking of the Spirit of another person: so that the whole Trinity is here included. Whether God the Father or God the Son is to be understood as the speaker, it is neither easy nor material to determine. I am rather inclined to think it is the former.

XIV.

Numb. vi. 24, &c.

The LORD bless thee and keep thee.

The LORD make his face to shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee.

The LORD lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace.

After this form the High Priest was commanded to biess the children of Israel. The name of the Lord, in Hebrew Jehovah, is here repeated three times. And parallel to this is the form of Christian Baptism; wherein the three perfonal terms of Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, are not represented as so many different names, but as one name: the one divine nature of God being no more divided by these three, than by the single name Jehovah thrice repeated. If the three articles of this benediction be attentively considered, their contents will be found to agree respectively to the three persons

leffed

2 com

those

s any dcan

from

the

m-

m.

birit

led.

ood

ne.

ıd

d

s

N

persons taken in the usual order of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost. The Father is the author of blissing and preservation. Grace and illumination are from the Son, by whom we have the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jesus Christ. Peace is the gift of the Spirit, whose name is the Comforter, and whose first and best fruit is the work of Peace.

Petrus Alphonsi, an eminent Jew, converted in the beginning of the 12th Century, and presented to the font by Alphonsus a king of Spain, wrote a learned treatise against the Jews, wherein he presses them with this Scripture, as a plain argument that there are three persons to whom the great and incommunicable name of Jehowah is applied. the unconverted Jews, according to Bechai, one of their Rabbies, have a tradition, that when the high Priest pronounced this Blessing over the people-elevatione manuum sic digitos composuit, ut Triada exprimerent—he lifted up his hands, and disposed his fingers into such a form as to express a Trinity. All the foundation there is for this in the Scripture, is Lev. ix. 22. As for the rest, be it a matter of fact or not, yet if we consider whence it comes, there is something very remarkable in it. See Observ. Jos. de vois. in Pug. Fid. p. 400, 556, 557.

XV.

Matt. xxviii. 19. Baptizing them in the name of the FATHER, and of the son, and of the HOLY GHOST.

XVI.

2 Thef. iii. 5. The LORD (the Holy-Ghost, see c. 2. art. 4. 18.) direct your hearts into the love of GOD (the Father) and into the patient waiting for CHRIST.

XVII.

2 Cor. xiii. 14. The grace of our LORD JESUS CHRIST, and the love of GOD, and the communion of the HOLY GHOST.

In this and the foregoing article, the order of the persons is different from that of Matth. xxviii. 19. The Holy Ghost having the first place in the former of them, and Christ in the latter: which is a sufficient warrant for that clause in the Creed of St. Athanasius—" In this Trinity, none is "afore or after other." And Dr. Clarke, I presume, apprehended something of this sort; because he has corrected the Apostle, and transposed the order of the persons in 2 Cor. xiii. 14. without the least apology, or giving his reader any warning of it. §. LV. p. 377.

XVIII

fobn v. 7. There are THREE that bear record in heaven, the FATHER, the WORD, and the HOLY GHOST—

There has been much disputing about the authenticity of this Text. I firmly believe it to be genuine for the following reasons: 1. St. Ferom , who had a better opportunity of examining the true merits of the cause than we can posfibly have at this distance of time, tells us plainly, that he found out how it had been adulterated, mistranslated, and omitted on purpose to elude the truth. 2. The Divines of Lovain having compared many Latin copies, found this text wanting but in five of them; and R. Stephens found it retained in nine of fixteen ancient manuscripts which he used. 3. It is certainly quoted twice by St. Cyprian 2, who wrote before the council of Nice: and also by Tertullian; as the reader is left to judge after he has read the Passage in the Margin 3. Dr. Clarke, therefore, is not to be believed when he tells us, it was " never cited by any of the Latins before St. Ferom 4." 4. The sense is not perfect without it; there being a contrast of three witnesses in heaven to three upon earth; the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghoft, whose testimony water, an upon eart
see this t
Socinus, I
I wish h
upon it volume

But end but what with regular Testimon fons whe from the John vii

The FA

1 For Christ

of with and tests

which cause i

I am O

IJа. v

that ca

with C

"

alf

" tw

ff pe

Præf. ad Canon. Epist. 2 De Unit. Eecl. 109. Epist. LXXIII.

³ Connexus patris in filio, & filii in paracleto, tres efficit coherentes, alterum ex altero; qui tres unum sunt, &c. adv. Prax.

⁴ See the text in his 2d Edition.

testimony is called the witness of God; and the Spirit, the water, and the blood, which being administered by the Church upon earth, is called the witness of men. He that desires to see this text farther vindicated from the malice of Faustus Socinus, may consult Pool's Synopsis, and Dr. Hammond; and I wish he would also read what has lately been published upon it by my good and learned friend Dr. Delany, in his volume of Sermons, p. 69, &c.

But even allowing it to be spurious, it contains nothing but what is abundantly afferted elsewhere; and that both with regard to the Trinity in general, and this their divine Testimony in particular. For that there are three divine perfons who bear record to the Mission of Christ, is evident from the following Scriptures:

John viii. 17, 18. The Testimony of two men is true.

I am ONE that bear witness of MYSELF.

The FATHER that fent me beareth witness of me.

I John v. 6. It is the SPIRIT that beareth witness. And Christ has also mentioned, upon another occasion, a plurality of witnesses in heaven,—WE speak (says he) that we do know, and testify that we have seen, and ye receive not OUR Witnesses which can be no other than the witnesses of the Trinity; because it is added—no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven; therefore no man could join with Christ in revealing the things of heaven to us.

XIX.

Isa. vi. 3. And one cried unto another and said, HOLY, HOLY, HOLY is the LORD OF HOSTS. See also Rev. iv. 8.

"They are not content (fays Origen) to fay it ance or twice, but take the perfect number of the Trinity, thereby to declare the manifold holiness of God; which is a repeated intercommunion of a threefold holiness; the holiness of the Father, the holiness of the only begotten Son,

❽

" and of the Holy Ghoft "." And that the Scraphin did really celebrate all the three persons of the Godhead upon this occasion, is no conjecture; but a point capable of the clearest demonstration.

The prophet tells us, ver. 1. he faw the Lord fitting upon a throne; and at ver. 5. that his eyes had feen the king, the Lord of Hofts. Now if there be any phrase in the Bible to distinguish the true God, it is this of the Lord of Hosts. I never faw it disputed by any Arian writer. The author of an Effay on Spirit confesses it 2; and Dr. Clarke supposes the name Lord of Sabaoth (Jam. v. 4.) proper to the Father only. So that in this Lord of Hofts, fitting upon his Throne, there was the presence of God the Father.

That there was also the presence of God the Son, appears from John xii. 41. These things Said Esaias, when he saw his (Christ's) Glory, and spake of him *.

And that there was the presence of God the Holy Ghost, is determined by Acts xxviii. 25. Well spake the Holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet unto our Fathers, saying, &c. then follow

the WO the Lor

The this of the Lo manne " the " Sab as of t " and the O Christ the fa Hosts them have monf one a to be The one, and t as th This little he y And will anfv

orth

repl

of i

the

Lor

cha

nati

Non eis sufficet femel clamare sanctus, neque bis; sed persectum numerum Trinitatis affumunt, ut multitudinem fanctitatis Dei manifestent; quæ est trinæ sandtitatis repetita communitas; sanctitas patris, sanctitas unigeniti filii, & spiritus fancti. Orig. Hom. in loc.

² P. 65.

^{*} It is written at ver. 3.-Holy, boly, boly is the Lord of Hofts, the who's earth is full of HIS GLORY. This St. John has affirmed to be the Glory of Christ; but it was the glory of the Lord of Hosts: therefore Christ is the Lord of Hofts. . And if the parallel passage of Rev. iv. 8. be compared with this, it will appear (as it hath already Chap. I. Art. XXIII.) that he is the God Almighty spoken of in that Book. The Greek version of the LXX. hath it thus:

ayio, ayio, ayio Kupio oalland.

In Rev. iv. 8. it is, ayio, ayio, ayio Kupio o Oso o warroxparae. Whence it evidently appears, that Kupi o Oto o way Tonparag, is equivalent in the language of heaven to Jebovah Sabaoth: therefore, as Christ is the Lord of Hofts of the Old Testament, he is thereby proved info facto to be the God Almighty of the New. Which shews the weakness of those frequent remarks Dr. Clarke has bestowed upon the word warronparme, as the great term of distinction between the person of Christ, and that of God the Father, the words which the prophet affirms to have been spoken by the Lord of Hosts.

The text of John xii. 41. which being compared with this of Isaiah, proves the second person of the Trinity to be the Lord of Hofts, is evaded by Dr. Clarke in the following manner: " The Glory which Ifaias faw, Ifai. vi. I. is plainly " the glory of God the Father; whence the followers of " Sabellius conclude, becaufe St. John here calls it the Glory " of Christ, that therefore the Father and the Son are one " and the fame individual person "." It is concluded by the Orthodox of the Church of England, that the person of Christ, and the person of God the Father, are not one and the same individual person, but one and the same Lord of Hofts; because the Scripture, thus compared, hath affirmed them so to be; and THIS is the conclusion Dr. Clarke should have answered. But instead of this, he has produced the monstrous and impossible doctrine of Sabellius, that they are one and the same individual person, and answered that: which to be fure is eafily done, and is quite foreign to the purpofe. The other conclusion, which is the only true and natural one, is kept out of fight, because it cannot be answered: and this of Sabellius is flurred upon his credulous Readers. as the doctrine of the orthodox, who disclaim and ahhor it. This is no flander; for let any person read his book with a little circumspection, and he will soon find who and what he would mean by the followers and doctrine of Sabellius. And let me give the reader the following caution, which he will find to be of great fervice in detecting the fallacious answers of the Arian writers in their controversies with the orthodox. Always be careful to examine whether they have replied to the proof itself, or to something else in the place of it. For when you have obtained any clear evidence from the Scripture, that two or more persons are one God, one Lord, &c. they will give a new face to your conclusion, by changing the terms God or Lord, which are names of a nature, for that of person, which can belong only to an individual. And then they shout for victory. O, say they, this man is a Sabellian! he believes three persons to be one person! But on the other hand, if you make it appear that in the Unity of the one God or Lord there are more perfons than one, then they change the word perfons for that of Gods: fo that you are confuted this way also; and they cry you up for a Tritheift, a maintainer of three Gods! By the help of this artifice, Dr. Clarke attempted to deal with the Scripture; and the Author of an Effay on Spirit with the Creeds and Liturgy of the Church. And, though it be a matter scarce worth mentioning, thus also the Authors of a Monthly Review have attempted to deal with myfelf. Some time ago I published a full Answer to the Essay on Spirit, which has fince been reprinted in Ireland, and I humbly hope may have done some little service. But when these Gentlemen had deliberated with themselves upon it for three or four months, it was retailed from their scandalous Shop as a System of Tritheism, Sabellianism, and what not? I hope God will forgive them! and this is all the answer I shall ever make to fuch men and fuch writers.

❽

IF ordinat vealed Asts; made l no diff distine that th of the fore b compr fons h counfe in the fuppo! to be That are th divine expre

" the " of " lity

Th

world

CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

THE TRINITY IN UNITY.

IF there be any diversity of nature, or any essential subordination in the persons of the Godhead, it must be revealed to us either in their names, or their attributes, or their Act; for it is by these only that they are or can possibly be made known to us in this Life. If the Scripture has made no difference in any of these, farther than that of a personal distinction, (which we all allow) we are no longer to doubt that there is a natural or effential Unity in the three Persons of the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghoft. It shall therefore be shewn in this Chapter, by a fort of proof more comprehensive than what has gone before, that these Perfons have the same Names, the same attributes, the same counsel or will, and all concur, after an ineffable manner, in the same divine Acts: so that what the Scripture is falfely supposed to have ascribed to God in one Person, will appear to be ascribed by the same authority to God in three persons. That therefore, these three persons are but one God; they are three distinct agents, yet there is but one and the same divine agency: or, as the Church has more fully and better expressed it, that "that which we believe of the glory of " the Father, the same we are to believe of the Son, and " of the Holy Ghost, without any difference or inequa-" lity "."

I.

The Trinity in Unity is the one Lord, the Creator of the world.

Proper Preface upon the feast of Trinity.

Pfal. xxxiii. 6. By the Word of the Lord were the heavens made, and all the hoft of them by the breath (Heb. Spirit) of his mouth. The whole Trinity therefore created the world;

yet this Trinity is but one Lord: for it is written,

Ifai. xliv. 24. I am the Lord that maketh all things, that Aretcheth forth the heavens ALONE, that Spreadeth abroad the earth BY MYSELF. It follows therefore, either that the word and spirit did not make the heavens, or, that the Father, with his word and Spirit, are the ALONE Lord and Creator of all things.

The Trinity in Unity is the one Supreme Being or Nature, distinguished from all other Beings by the Name Jehovah. For the Scripture gives us the following polition.

Deut. vi. 4. The Lord our God is ONE JEHOVAH: and again, Pfal. Ixxxiii. Thou whose name ALONE is JEHO-

VAH, art the most high over all the earth.

Yet Christ is Jehovah.

Fer. xxiii. 3. This is the name whereby he shall be called, JEHOVAH our righteousness.

So is the Spirit also.

Ezek. viii. i. 3. The Lord JEHOVAH put forth the form of an hand, and took me, and the SPIRIT lift me, &c. fee alfo CHAP. II. Art. IV. and XXIV.

Therefore, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost are the ONE Jehovah: they are three persons, yet have but one name, and one nature. And it is the great advantage of this argument, that the Name Jehovah is not capable of any fuch equivocal interpretations as that of God; it has no plural; is incommunicable to any derived or created being; and is peculiar to the divine nature, because it is descriptive of it. The Author of an Essay on Spirit has endeavoured to avoid the force of this proof, by pretending that there are two Jehovahs, one a distinct Being from the other. But in this he has exposed the cause he meant to defend, and left the argument in a worse state than he found it: for if there be two, then it is false that there is a most high over all the earth, whole of hi mero that I the e Fath thing to it whole

recor

T Hebi R that

L

R

Feho

or u fron the . perf iii. ESINrit: bec ver the the foll

the

Lor

1 a to be t

the

whose name ALONE is Jehovah; and let him try if he can reconcile it. Dr. Clarke also pretends, in the Titles to two of his Sections, wherein the collection of texts is very numerous, to have set down the Passages wherein it is declared that the Second and Third persons derive their Being (that is the expression he was not assaid to make use of) from the Father. But he has not produced one such passage; no such thing being declared in the whole Bible; and the contrary to it is plainly revealed under this application of the name Jehovah.

III.

The Trinity in Unity is the Lord absolutely so called; in Hebrew, Adonai; in Greek, o Kupi.

Rom. x. 12. † The same LORD over all, is rich unto all that call upon him.

Luke ii. 11. A Saviour which is Christ the LORD.

Rom. xi. 34. For who hath known the mind of the LORD, or who hath been his counsellor? Which Lord, as we learn from the prophet whence this is quoted, is the Spirit; for it is written, Ifai. xl. 13. who bath directed the SPIRIT of the Lord, or being his counsellor hath taught him? That the person of the Spirit is the Lord, is also plain from 2 Cor. iii. 18. now the Lord is that Spirit-o de nupi to Theuna esw-we are changed from glory to glory as by the Spirit of the Lord; καθαπες απο κυριε Πνευματώ, as by the Lord the Spirit: which is all along to be understood of the personal Spirit, because the Apostle begins expressly with that at the 3d verse of this chapter. And it was from the authority of these words-The Lord is the Spirit-added to those of ver. 6. the Spirit giveth life—that the council of Nice borrowed the following claufe of its Creed-" I believe in the Holy Ghoft, the LORD and GIVER OF LIFE."

[†] The Reader is defired to observe, that as I cannot in all cases fix upon a text that does precisely distinguish the purson of the Father, I shall therefore be frequently obliged, as in this instance, to set a passage down in the first of the three ranks, that does consessedly denote the true God.

The Trinity in Unity is the God of Ifrael.

Matth. xv. 31. The multitude glorified the God of Ifract.

Luke i. 16, 17. The children of Israel shall he turn to the Lord THEIR GOD: and he shall go before HIM *—that is, before Christ.

2 Sam. xxiii. 2, 3. The SPIRIT of the Lord spake by me—the GOD of Israel said, &c. So that unless he who spake was one being, and he that said was another, the Spirit is the God of Israel.

* Dr. Clarke allows that the word him means Christ, yet denies that he is intended by the Lord their God, which is the antecedent to it: and calls this a manner of speaking.

V.

The divine Law, and consequently the authority whereupon it is founded, is that of a Trinity in Unity.

Rom. vii. 25. I myself serve the LAW of GOD.

Gal. vi. 2. Fulfil the LAW of CHRIST *.

Rom. viii. 2. The LAW of the SPIRIT of life *.

The divine Law then, is the law of God, Christ, and the Spirit of life. But it is written, Jam. iv. 12. There is ONE LAWGIVER who is able to save and to destroy: therefore, these THREE are ONE. And here we have the true reafon why the Scripture has represented the whole Trinity as tempted and resisted by the disobedience of man. For sin being the transgression of the Law, and the law being derived from the undivided authority of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, every breach of it is an offence against the Trinity: therefore it is written,

Deut. vi. 16. Thou Shalt not TEMPT the LORD thy God.

I Cor. x. 9 .- neither let us TEMPT CHRIST.

Acts v. 9. How is it that ye have agreed together to TEMPT.
the SPIRIT of the Lord? For Dr. Clarke's opinion of this matter, see Ch. II. Art. XV.

1 No. 354-

 Dr.

tion; t

The nity in

Thid.
Rom
is the N

I Co

Acts
thou for 2 Po

HOL

I T

* T God of but th Saul, Jefus.

ture w

Epl effectu 2 (

Th

upon n Ros SPIR

That St. P

Dr. Clarke has left both thefe texts out of his collection; though he pretends to have fet down all the bighest Expressions relating to Christ and the Spirit. this principle.

other it is unintelligible, as. IV reader may from fall

The mind and will of God is the mind and will of a Trinity in Unity.

The mind of God.

1 Cor. ii. 16. Who hath known the MIND of the LORD? Thid .- We have the MIND of CHRIST.

Rom. viii. 27. He that fearcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the MIND of the SPIRIT.

The will of God.

I Theff. iv. 3. This is the WILL of GOD.

Acts xxii. 14. The God of our Fathers bath chosen thee, that

- 2 Pet. i. 21. Prophecy came not in old time by the WILL of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the HOLY GHOST.
- * This passage is meant of Chrift, and of his will. The God of our fathers (faid Ananias) bath CHOSEN thee, &c. but the person in God who appeared to Ananias, and said of Saul, he is a CHOSEN veffel unto ME, was the Lord, even Jesus. Acts ix, 15, 17. For want of comparing the Scripture with itself, Dr. Clarke has set down the text of Acts xxii. 14. as a character of the Father only. No. 366. the led of or movil.

The Power of God is the Power of a Trinity in Unity. Eph. iii. 7 .- The grace of GOD given unto me, by the effectual working of HIS POWER.

2 Cor. xii. 9 .- that the POWER of CHRIST may reft upon me.

Rom. xv. 19.-figns and wenders by the POWER of the SPIRIT of God.

The Scripture therefore has ascribed divine power, and that in the same exercise of it (the ministry and miracles of St. Paul) to Christ and the Spirit in common with God the Father.

Father. So that when all glory and power is ascribed to the only wife God, what God can that be, but the Trinity? Upon this principle the Scripture is easily reconciled: upon any other it is unintelligible, as the reader may soon find by consulting Dr. Clarke, and some other of the Arian writers; who to avoid this plain doctrine, have tried to amuse us with a religion made up of scholastic niceties and unnatural distinctions, which no man can understand, and which themselves are not agreed in, nor ever will be to the world's end. Yet they often dispute against us from the acknowledged simplicity of the Scripture!

VIII.

The Trinity in Unity is Eternal.

Rom. xvi. 25, 26. The mystery—made manifest according to the commandment (always) of the EVERLASTING GOD.

Rev. xxii. 13. I (Jesus) am the FIRST and the LAST *.

Heb. ix. 14.—who through (awww) the EVERLASTING SPIRIT.

*Dr. Clarke allows these words, in this place, to mean Christ; yet where the same words occur in Rev. i. 8. with the addition of the epithet Almighty, he denies it; though they are demonstrated to be spoken of the same person by the context and tenour of the whole chapter †: and he tells us, the character in one place differs from the other. So that upon his principle, the Scripture has revealed to us two different beings, both of whom are the first and the last, yet not coeternal. Which is sufficient of itself to justify all that was said above concerning his distinctions, &c. See Ch. I. Art. III.

2 Cor. sil. 9 - that the F.XI.

John vii. 28. He that fent me is TRUE,

Rev. iii. 7. These things saith he—that is TRUE, he that hath the key of David, &c.

1 John

1.7

Re

rify th

fired

ix. 24

ONE

called Fo

one.

70

 E_{i}

LOI

in al

RIT

down

L

thy appe

1

MP

I

the SP

1. John v. 6. It is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the SPIRIT is TRUTH—n annosia THE truth.

. . X.

is Holy.

Rev. xv. 4. Who shall not fear thee, O LORD, and glorify thy name? for THOU ONLY art HOLY.

Acts iii. 14. But ye denied THE HOLY ONE, and defired a murderer to be released unto you, &c. See also Dan. ix. 24. and Rev. iii. 7.

one; that is, an anointing from the Holy Ghost, who is called

John xiv. 26. TO wveuma TO ayov, The Spirit the Holy one.

XI.

TIMOR you all Miss.

-is omnipresent.

Jer. xxiii. 24. Do not I fill heaven and earth, faith the LORD?

Eph. i. 22.—the fulness of HIM (Christ) that filleth all in all.

Pfal. cxxxix. 7, 8. Whither shall I go then from thy SPI-RIT?—if I go up into heaven THOU art there; if I go down into hell, THOU art there also.

XII

is the fountain of life.

Col. iii. 4. When CHRIST who is OUR LIFE shall appear, &c.

Rom. viii. 10. The SPIRIT is LIFE. . . UOY MI

XIII.

The Trinity in Unity made all mankind:

Pfal. c. 3. The LORD he is GOD, it is HE that hath MADE US.

John i. 3. By HIM (Christ) were ALL THINGS MADE. H 2 Job

Job xxxiii. 4. The SPIRIT of God bath MADE me. SEIRIT & TRUTH-VIX for THE numb.

quicken the dead.

John v. 21. The FATHER raiseth up the dead, and QUICKENETH them.

Ibid .- even fo the SON QUICKENETH whom he will. Ibid. vi. 63. It is the SPIRIT that QUICKENETH.

XV.

instruct us in divine knowledge.

John vi. 45. They fhall be all TAUGHT of GOD.

Gal. i. 12. Neither was I TAUGHT it but by the revelation of JESUS CHRIST.

John xiv. 26. The Comforter, the holy SPIRIT, will TEACH you all things.

XVI

have fellowship with the faithful.

1 John i. 3. Truly our FELLOWSHIP is with the FATHER.—Gr. Kolvavia.

Ibid. And with his Son JESUS CHRIST.

2 Cor. xiii. 14. The FELLOWSHIP (Korowia) of the HOLY GHOST be with you all.

XVII.

are spiritually present in the elect.

1 Cor. xiv. 25 .- GOD is IN YOU of a truth.

2 Cor. xiii. 5. CHRIST is IN YOU, except ye be repro-Colonia a Mar CHRIST and a OUR LIFE. Estate

John xiv. 17. The SPIRIT-dwelleth with you and shall Rom. vin. 10. The SPIRIT is LIFE. . UOY NI 36

So again,

2 Cor. vi. 16. GOD hath Said, I will DWELL in them. Ephef. iii. 17. That CHRIST may DWELL in your

Rom. viii. 11. His SPIRIT that DWELLETH in you.

XVIII.

Ph

Ga

Lu

H

21

M GH(

A

verec

perfo

to al

yet 1

SON

GH(

fame

and .

RA]

QU

ET

by n.

phets.

in me

TIO

GHC

HIXXI ED WW. SPIRIT

— reveal to us the Divine Will

nd

H

Phil. iii. 15. God fall REVEAL even this unto you.

Gal. i. 12.—neither was I taught it but by the REVELA.
TION of JESUS CHRIST:

Luke ii. 26. It was REVEALED unto him by the HOLY GHOST.

So again,

Heb. i. I. GOD who SPAKE unto the fathers by the pro-

2 Cor. xiii. 3. Ye feek a proof of CHRIST SPEAKING in me.

Mark xiii. 11. It is not ye that SPEAK, but the HOLY GHOST.

And as prophecies are revealed by, so are they also delivered in the name, that is, by the special authority of each person in the Godhead. For though the usual introduction to any divine revelation be—Thus SAITH the LORD—yet we also find the expressions—These things SAITH the SON of GOD. Rev. ii. 18. And—Thus SAITH the HOLY GHOST. As xiii. 3. with many other passages to the same effect.

XIX.

- raised the Body of Christ from the grave.

I Cor. vi. 14. GOD hath both RAISED UP the Lord, and will also raise us up by his OWN POWER*.

John ii. 19. Destroy this temple, and in three days I WILL RAISE IT UP.

1 Pet. iii. 18. Christ-being put to death in the flesh, but QUICKENED by the SPIRIT.

* See Art. vii. of this Chapter.

XX.

----conduct the people of God.

If ai. xlviii. 17. I am the LORD thy GOD, which LEAD-ETH thee by the way that thou shouldst go.

John 3. 3. He (Christ the Shepherd) calleth his own sheep by name, and LEADETH them out.

H 3

Rom.

Rom. viii. 14. As many as are LED by the SPIRIT of God, they are the fons of God. The au of the or A. His. Cold Mail M.

IXX THE STATE OF THE CERTY -give a commission and authority to the ministers of the Gospel.

2 Cor. iii. 5, 6. Our sufficiency is of GOD, who bath MADE us able MINISTERS.

I Tim. i. 12. JESUS CHRIST—counted me faithful, PUTTING me into the MINISTRY.

Acts v. 28. Take heed therefore—to all the flock over the which the HOLY GHOST hath MADE you OVERSEERS.

Mercialists. It is not AIXX SAEAK, the Holly

- Sanctify the elect.

Jude 1 .- to them that are SANCTIFIED by GOD, the FATHER.

Heb. ii. II. He that SANCTIFIETH, and they who are Sanctified, are all of one; for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren.

Rom. xv. 16. Being SANCTIFIED by the HOLY GHOST.

XXIII.

-perform all spiritual and divine operations.

I Cor. xii. 16. It is the same GOD which WORKETH ALL IN ALL.

Col. iii. 11. CHRIST is all, and IN ALL.

I Cor. xii. II. But ALL these WORKETH that one and the self-same SPIRIT.

2 1 12 1 100 mo che co a chemit inche ilministre 30.

Tong will this Lington.

in ter

wh

is fir

w

the mo

an

the

G

w

fe

ha

br

T

re

G

pi

ev

fo fr fle

> W fo

fr

CONCLUSION.

deposition to the Cookes of Child but to the Telis then

LET us now take a review of what has been collected in these papers, and sum up the evidence in its own natural terms.

th

1,

be

Gody for their rests made a the holdy God College

It has appeared from the first Chapter, that Christ Jesus, whose Divinity is daily blasphemed amongst us, because it is not proved in the Scripture, is the Lord of Hofts', the first and the last , than whom there is no greater , and beside whom there is no God : that he is the Saviour of the world s, the Lord and God of the holy Prophets and Apostles, the most high God, the searcher of all hearts?, comprehended and made known to us under the name of that God to whom the world was reconciled'. Who though he was the Word of God, that came forth from the Father into the world; yet he was God 2, and of the same divine nature 3 with him that fent him. Though he was perfect man, of the feed of Abraham, born of his mother, and in all things made like to his brethren; yet the fulness of the Godhead dwelt in him bodily . Though he fuffered, died 5, was pierced upon the Crofs, and redeemed us by his blood; yet that blood was the blood of God s, and upon kis Cross Fehovah was pierced?.

That the objections urged against all these positive proofs, proceed wholly upon salse principles; being drawn, partly, from natural religion and Philosophy, which never was, nor ever will be subject to the law of God; and is not intended so to be by those who set it up and dispute for it. Partly from the economical offices and humiliation of Christ in the sless in which it is nevertheless affirmed, that God himself was made manifest. And lastly, from the unity of God so often afferted and insisted upon in the Scripture; not in opposition to the Godhead of Christ, but to the Idols? then worshipped all over the heathen world. Hence it is, that God is called the true God; for they were false ones: one God; for they were many?: the living God?; for they were vanities without life. Yet in the place of these idols, who are to supply the contrast, they have substituted the person of their blessed Redeemer, the true God?, the everlasting Father?, the Lord of Glory, who is able to subdue all things to himself, and of whose kingdom there shall be no end.

⁵ Chap. I. Art. II. III. 2 HI. 3 XLV. 4 HI. 3 IV. 5 IV. 5 V. 7 XI. 8 IX. 9 XLIII. 1 XIV. 2 XIX. 3 XLIV. 4 XVIII. 5 XLVII. 5 XLVII. 5 XLVII. 7 XLIV. 8 XXV. XXVII. XXXIX. 9 1 Tim. iii, 16. 11 XXIV. XXXIII.

❽

From the second Chapter it has appeared, that the Holy Ghost is our spiritual Father?, by whose divine power we are begotten to a new life; and to whom we daily pray that he would not lead us into temptation. That he is the Lord?, even the Lord of Hosts, the ruler of the Christian occonomy, calling men to that honour in his church, which God only 2 can bestow upon them. That he is incomprehensibly united with God, and sensible of the omnipotent will in himself; even as the human Spirit is united to man, and understandeth its own thoughts 3. That his power is the immediate power of God himself?; his inspiration, is the inspiration of God 5; his presence, the presence of God 6. That he is God?, even the highest; for the man Christ Jesus, who is the Son of God, and the Son of the highest, was so called BECAUSE he was begotten of the Holy Ghost?

That the objections usually brought to disguise and destroy this evidence, are taken from the unity, the attributes and will of God, and the ministration of the Spirit in the occonomy of grace; all of them falsely interpreted? For as to the unity of God, it is not an unity of person. As to the supreme attribute of goodness, it is also possessed by the Spirit. As to the Will of God, according to which the gifts and graces of the Spirit are distributed, it is opposed to the will of man, not to that of the Spirit; which is said to blow gifts,

It

fied

plur

ftan

ftro'

com

pre

and

nor

à T

in pe

H

ter

be til

at

th

h

P

ment side

where it lifteth, and to divide or distribute unto every man his gifts, not as man the receiver, but as he himself willeth.

It has appeared from the third Chapter, that God is fignified to us throughout the Old Testament by a name that is plural , and proved to be fuch from many particular inflances; yet generally fo restrained and qualified, as to destroy the suspicion of a plurality of Gods. That to this common name of God, many other plural names and expressions are added 3; and that an interchanging of the plural and fingular 4 is frequently observed, which neither grammar nor reason can account for upon any principle, but that of a real divine plurality. That the perfons of God are three in number, precisely distinguished on some occasions by the personal names of the Fat er, the Word, or Son, and the Haly Spirit 5, and also by different offices. That the same term is not always peculiar and proper to the same person; because the words God, Lord, Jehovah, and Father, are sometimes applied to one person, sometimes to another; while at other times they are not personal, but general names of the divine nature. That in the Lord of Hofts 6, sitting upon his throne, and speaking of himself in the plural to the Prophet Isaiah, there was not one person only, but three; The Father, Jesus, and the Holy Ghost, all expressed under one name in the Old Testament, but personally distinguished to us by three different ones in the new, where this matter is referred to.

In the fourth and last Chapter, the passages of the Scripture have been laid together, and made to unite their beams in one common center, the Unity of the Trinity. Which unity is not metaphorical and figurative, but strict and real: and there can be no real unity in God, but that of his nature, essence, or substance, all of which are synonymous terms: this unity considered in itself, is altogether incomprehensible: but it is one thing to read and to know that there is a divine nature, and another thing to describe it. That it is proved to be an unity of essence; 1st. because the three persons are all comprehended under the fame individual and supreme appellation. They are the one Lord absolutely so called. The Creator of the world, and the God of Ifrael 2. 2dly, because they partake in common of the name Jebevah 3, which, being interpreted, means the divine Effence: and what it fignifies in one person, it must also fignify in the others; as truly as the fingular name Adam, in its appellative capacity, expresses the common nature of all mankind. And this name neither is nor can be communicated, without a contradiction, to any derived or inferior nature, as well on account of its fignification as its application, which is expressly restrained to one only. 3dly, It is farther proved, in that the authority 4, the fecret mind 5 or counsel, and the power by which all things are established and directed, is ascribed to Christ and the Spirit in common with God the Father; and that in the same exercise of it, and upon the fame occasions. 4thly, because there is a participation of fuch divine attributes? as cannot subsist but where they are original. Our understanding, if it be moderately instructed, will fatisfy us there can be one only who is eternal, and posfessed of holiness, truth, life, &c. in and from himself. Yet the whole Trinity is eternal, holy, true, living, and emniprefent: therefore these three were, and will be one God from everlasting to everlasting. 5thly, and lastly, because there is a concurrence of the whole undivided Godhead in all those acts, every one of which have in them the character of a divine wildom and omnipotence; and express such an intimate union and communion of the Holy Trinity, as the understanding of man cannot reach, and which no words can explain. For though it is and must be one God who doth all these things, yet it is the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, who gave us our being, instruct and illuminate us, lead us, speak to us, and are present with us; who give authority to the church, raise the dead, sanctify the elect, and perform every divine and spiritual operation.

T

differ

tical

dom

who alter

wor

this

fub

hat

cor

Go

tor

mi

m

F

T

n

W

n

V

¹ Chap. IV. Art. I. III. ² IV. ³ II. ⁴ V. ⁵ VI. ⁶ VII. ⁷ VIII. IX. X. XI. XII. ⁸ XIII. &c. ad fin.

This is the God revealed to us in the holy Scripture; very different from the Deity fo much talked of in our systematical schemes of natural divinity; which with all its wifdom, never yet thought of a Christ, or an Holy Ghost, by whom nature, now fallen and blind, is to be reformed, exalted, and faved. The Bible we know to be the infallible word of God; the rule of our faith and obedience. I find this doctrine revealed in it; therefore I firmly believe and fubmit to it. And as the Liturgy of the Church of England hath affirmed the fame in all its offices, and contains nothing contradictory thereto; I believe that also: and hope the God whom we ferve will defend it against all attempts toward reforming Christianity out of it: that the Church militant here on earth, may continue to agree in this fundamental doctrine with the Church triumphant in heaven. For there the Angels rest not day and night, praising this Thrice-Holy', bleffed and glorious Trinity. They have neither time nor inclination to dispute against that Glory, which they cannot stedfastly behold. And had we a little more humility and devotion, we should not abound so much with disputation. If, in such a subject as this, we trust to our own reason, and it should prove at last to have betrayed us into error, irreligion, and blasphemy; what shall we have to fay in excuse for ourselves? we shall not dare to plead the dignity and strength of our rational faculties before the tribunal of Him, who came into the world to bring the wisdom of it to nought. And if the Religion of Fesus Christ is to be corrected and foftened till it becomes agreeable to the natural thoughts and imaginations of the human heart, then in vain was it faid-Bleffed is he who foever shall not be offended in me.

As for him, who is convinced that God is wifer than him-felf; who believes as he ought, and as the Catholic Church of Christ hath given him an example from the beginning; his danger lies on the other side: and while I venture to give him warning of it, I beseech him to suffer the word of exhortation, and to take in good part the faithful wounds of a friend. Let him take care then, that while he values his orthodoxy, he be not led unawares to evervalue it, by drawing false conclusions from it, and conceiting himself to be already perfect. If he knows and believes in the true God, he doth well: but let not that which is an honour to him be any encouragement to dishonour God; the knowledge of whom will only ferve to encrease our condemnation, if we live in any lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles, who know him not. And though it be the faith of a Christian, and not his morality, that diftinguishes him from the rest of mankind; yet that faith must appear in the conduct of his life; even as love to a friend is best witnessed by a readiness to do him service. It is true, the service is not the love, nor of equal value with it; yet the love that refuses the fervice will be accounted as nothing. The mystery of faith is an invaluable treasure; but the vessel that contains it must be clean and undefiled; it must be held in a pure conscience; as the manna, that glorious symbol of the word of faith, preached to us by the Gospel, was confined to the Tabernacle, and preferved in a veffel of gold. A mind that is conformed to this world, and given up to its pleafures, though it repeat the creed without questioning a single article of it, will be abhorred in the fight of God, as a veffel unfit for the master's use; and unworthy, because unprepared, to fland in the most holy place. It is the great excellence of faith, that it can produce such a transformation in the life and manners, as no other principle has any power to do: and many are possessed of this truth without applying it to their own advantage. It is to be feared, that a consciousness of this damps their zeal, and creates that poor; pitiful, cowardly indifference, fo much in vogue; which if it had not by accident found the name of charity, would have been ashamed to shew its face in a Christian country. They are cold and backward to promote any religious conversation; they will not appear to be in earnest about their faith in the eyes of the world, left they should be forced to abridge somewhat from the gaiety of their lives, and to live as they Speak.

fpeak.

fhall
be fur hard
the fr
to br
blood Holy God
fhall
and fhall teouf

these transenous they end,

speak. But let them remember, that without holiness no man shall see the Lord: no dross or impurity of this world will be suffered to continue in his sight. And in this, he is no hard master, reaping where he hath not sown, and requiring the fruit of good works without giving us strength and ability to bring them forth. He has provided for us the precious blood of the Lamb, and offered to us the assistance of his Holy Spirit, that we may be enabled to serve that living God in whom we believe. If we are purged by him, we shall be clean: if he washes us, we shall be whiter than snow: and when the kingdom of God shall come, and his glory shall appear, we shall be prepared to behold his face in righteousness.

This, and no other, is my fincerest wish and prayer for every Christian, who shall give himself the trouble to peruse these papers, in which I pretend to no merit but that of a transcriber; which I shall always esteem to be honour enough, where the word of God is my original. And if they should be any way instrumental to promote so good an end, he will not have read, nor shall I have written, in vain.

La transport of the contract o

The said no criter, is any discount with and prover to a continue of the conti

POPU

A LET-

LETTER

TO THE

COMMON PEOPLE,

IN ANSWER TO SOME

POPULAR ARGUMENTS against the TRINITY.

BRING AN

APPENDIX

TO THE

CATHOLIC DOCTRINE OF THE TRINITY.

8

LETTER

SHT OF

COMMON PEOPLE,

SHOW OF MANAGE TO SOME

POTULAR ARGUMENTS against the TRINITY

NA DEITE

APPENDIX

SHT CT

CATHOLIC DOCTAINS OF THE TAINITY

ME

C

A S of your the Name

the Hol are dire three pe miserable

From a fort of opinion quietly to their Nature in the fargued,

being, ture its A Lorent to the Common Cittle

for project seek polosis in reight winder in graffin gaffin so there were the second with a second contract on the print to fuch a delice, that is everywhat at each

the base of on the photherman planetal more sold

nelf in leben were trouved and to electronic which bus end Oalls eld a struct and a State of the state of the state of the

LETTER ROLL WIND

Completed to THE College of Carolina's

COMMON PEOPLE.

MEN AND BRETHREN,

A S Christians and members of the Church of England, you have been taught, that the True God, whom you are bound to believe and worship, is a Trinity in Unity. In the Name of these three Persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, you have been baptized: and in the Litany are directed to pray to this Holy, blessed, and glorious Trinity, three persons and one God, that he would have mercy upon us miserable sinners.

From the first propagation of the Gospel, there has been a fort of men in the Christian church, who had too high an opinion of their own knowledge and wisdom to submit quietly to this doctrine. They pretended it was contrary to their Reason and common sense, and impossible in the Nature of Things, that the true God should be made manifest in the sless for the Salvation of the world; and hence they argued, that the Incarnation must either have been a delision, a fact brought to pass only in shew and appearance; or that the Person incarnate must have been some created Being, far inferior in power and dignity to the divine Nature itself.

About

bee

affe

mi

aga

vai

mu

cip

bei

pro

all,

end

up

and

me

upo

adv

fior

you

conj

bef

imi

of

wit

are

Ch

lait

Rei

mo

in pof

it t

Ib

imp

C S

About three hundred years after the death of Christ, when Paganism, or the worship of idols, was losing its influence in the Roman empire, this Heresy, being come to its full growth, did immediately supply the place of it, and prospered to such a degree, that it overspread the greatest part of the East, and ended at last in the imposture of the false prophet Mahonet; whose doctrine was readily embraced wherever Arianism prevailed, and no where else among Christians; and his disciples do at this day most zealously deny that Trinity which you worship.

When the Teachers of the Church found themselves disturbed, and their people corrupted, more and more by the daily increase of this heresy; upwards of three hundred Christian bishops, many of whom had been tortured and maimed in the heathen persecutions, assembled together at the city of Nice, in Bithynia, and one Arius, a principal promoter of this wickedness, was summoned to appear before them: his doctrine and writings were condemned; the Faith which these holy men had brought with them to the council was declared, and is now preserved in the Nicene Creed; which form we make use of in the church because it comprehends the sense of our faith in a few words. But we do not rest our besief upon the Authority of any human form, because the doctrine therein expressed is secured by the unquestionable authority of the Old and New Testaments.

The Evidence of this faith, as it is found in the Scripture, I have endeavoured to extract and methodize in the best manner I could. The work was made public rather with an humble and charitable desire to assist the studies of the younger clergy, than to instruct the common people; and therefore it was first printed at Oxford. Nevertheless, I am well persuaded, that so many of the arguments therein contained are level to all capacities, that an unlearned reader may thence be able to satisfy himself, and inform his Christian neighbours. I shall therefore have no occasion in this place to urge any new evidence from the Scripture, but only to refer to some of the old; it being the design of this Address to obviate a set of popular arguments, which have been made use of by some nameless writers to turn your affections from the doctrine of the Trinity; most of which might be applied with as much propriety to prejudice you against any other article of faith in the Christian Religion.

I. You know, my dear brethren, that pride is a very prevailing passion in human nature; and unless we are very much upon our guard, and are fortified with the true principles of Christian humility, we are all of us in danger of being enfnared by it. Men are proud of their clothes, and proud of their riches, and proud of their titles; but, above all, they are proud of their understanding. Some men are endued with a strength of mind which enables them to bear up with cheerfulness under the common trials of sickness, and losses, and disappointments; while, perhaps, the same men cannot endure the thought of being cheated and imposed upon, because it is a reflection upon their understanding. Our adversaries, therefore, hoping to make the stronger impresfion, apply themselves first of all to your pride, and inform you, that this doctrine of the Trinity is imposed upon your consciences by Church Authority . But if the fact be laid before you, it will foon appear that no point of faith is thus imposed upon you by the Church of England. The points of faith which you are required to believe are interwoven with all the forms and offices of our public Liturgy. They are collected together for the younger fort of people in the Church Catechism; and for all teachers, whether clergy or laity, they are drawn out more at large in the Articles of Religion, generally printed at the end of the Book of Common Prayer. So that all the articles of faith being imposed in the same manner, it will follow, that they are all imposed by Church Authority, or none of them. Let us put it to the trial, and begin with the first article of the Creed-I believe in God the Father Almighty. How is this article imposed? Does the Church determine by her own authority

I See the title-page of a pamphlet called "An Appeal to the Common, Sense of all Christian People," &c. printed for Millar, in the Strand.

❽

whether there is a God or not? And so for the rest! Does! the Church determine whether there is a Christ, or an Holy Ghoff ? whether there will be a refurrection of the dead, and a life everlasting? Certainly the Church neither does nor can pretend to determine any of these things for us; because where any thing is determined by authority, fuch authority must be superior to what it determines : to suppose which, in this case, would be equally false and presumptuous. Therefore the truth of the matter is this; that the Church does only declare that faith which it has received; and instead of her imposing, this faith is imposed upon the Church by the uncontrolable authority of God in the Holy Scripture, to which every private Christian is referred for the proper evidence of any particular doctrine, and for that of the Trinity amongst the rest. Those articles which are of a nature inferior to the Church itself, are the only subjects of Church authority. Thus, as the body is more than the raiment that is worn upon it; fo the life and being of the Church is superior to those outward regulations, which serve only to the order, decency, and well-being of it; and which the Church may, for this reason, appoint, alter, and improve by her own authority. But if any man informs you, that points of faith, or moral practice, are imposed upon your consciences by the same authority, he has either mistaken the case, or is himself endeavouring to impose upon your understanding.

II. But "the Gospel," they say, " was designed for perfons of all capacities," and unless all persons of common sense are qualified to understand what the Lord requires of them, we must "charge Almighty God with dealing unfairly with his creatures"." Now if the Gospel be so easy, that nothing but bare common sense is wanted for the understanding of it, why do these authors write so many books to help you to understand it in the Arian sense? If you are able, as they statter you, to instruct yourselves out of the Gospel, then their practice is a contradiction to their principle, and their labour is superstuous by their own confession. My brethren, we do not argue in this manner; we know that you have sense and ability to understand the merits of a cause, and are ready to hear reason, when it is plainly represented to you; but if you were able to make all things intelligible to your ownselves, we should neither preach to you, nor write books for you.

2 Ibid. p. 2.

When God appointed Teachers in his Church (1 Cor. xii: 28.) he certainly did not suppose that the congregation would be equally capable of teaching themselves. If this were true, then indeed God would seem to have dealt unfairly with Christian people, by appointing a ministry of learned men, and providing for their instruction, as if bare common sense, with the Bible in its hand, were not so sufficient as our adversaries would have you believe; in opposition to us, but not to themselves.

The Duty of a Christian Minister is to teach; his studies are intended to qualify him, and his time is fet apart for that purpose. For the bulk of the people, God hath appointed labour and business of another kind, as necessary to support themselves and their families; and their duty is to hear. But if God has required you to do our work and your own too, then your lot is hard indeed. You will not, therefore, think it any reflection upon your common fense, that God has appointed an order of Teachers in his Church, who will never defire you to believe what they are not at all times ready to prove; but will rather befeech him that thefe Teachers may be endued with faith and affection to fulfil the labour of love to which they are called, and courage to declare that truth which they have learned from the Holy Scriptures; and by thus praying for the Clergy, you will convince them, that God hath added Grace to your common fense, and that you practise that Christian charity which is more acceptable in His fight than the attainments of learning and knowledge; for these are no more than temporary qualifications, and are to be used only as means; but Charity is the end and perfection of all.

❽

III. They tell you, moreover, that people of all forts have a right to judge for themselves in matters of Religion 3. As this principle very nearly affects the peace of the Christian world, and the salvation of individuals, I would advise you to enquire strictly into the meaning of these terms; and to consider how far they may be justified, and how far they are to be condemned. Right is a pleasing thing, and liberty is an old temptation; but if any Christian doth so affert his right against an human law, as to depart from his obedience and subjection to the divine law, such a right will do him no good when he has got it, because it will not protect him under his religious mistakes against the superior judgment of God; so far from it, that it is probably one of the chief mistakes he will have to answer for.

When they affert that you are to judge for yourselves, they must mean, either that you are to judge of truth by its proper evidence; or that by a certain prerogative of conscience, you are to guess for yourselves what is right or wrong, without any evidence at all. If only the former of these Senses is intended, they say no more than we all say, and what the Church hath faid ever fince the Reformation. If the latter is also allowed, and unlearned people have a right to follow their conscience (that is, their inclination) without any evidence, or with some false and partial reprefentation of it; then it will follow, that the difference between good and evil is not real, but imaginary; that truth and falshood, like temporary fashions, are not the objects of reason but of fancy; which doctrines, if admitted in their full latitude, would turn all reason and religion upside down; and I think they have done it in part already.

When they come to apply this principle, they take oceasion to add, that if you are convinced of such doctrines as they teach you, viz. that God Almighty is only one and the same person; that the Holy Ghost is first minister in the goverment of the church; that he has angels to assist him; that Christ is to be honoured with mediatorial worship, &c. "then you have a Right to protest against the Athanasian Greed." But

righ

Ou

unk

can

that fhip

pro

But

we

at 1

lefs

in pro

hai

on

un

the

the

W

th

fe

no hi

on u

al

W

But I say, neither you nor I can possibly have any such right as this, unless we are convinced by sufficient reasons. Our persuasion can never be turned into any argument; unless it be also maintained, that a man who is persuaded can never be mistaken. The Mahometans are convinced, that their Alcoran is a divine revelation; that all Christians are guilty of blasphemy in believing, and idolatry in worthipping, a Trinity in Unity; and that they have a right to protest against the foundations of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. But as they are convinced of these things for very bad reasons, we pity the blindness of their understanding, and only laugh at the right they have assumed, as one of those many groundless castles, which human vanity and bigotry have builded in the air.

But allowing that Arians thus convinced have a right of protesting, what are orthodox Christians to do on the other hand? have they no right? does a persuasion confer a right on one side, and none on the other? that would be very unreasonable. Therefore we, who are convinced that the Creed of Athanasius is more agreeable to the Scripture than the doctrines of Arianism, have a right to remonstrate against the repealing of it; though we can never expect to do so, without being persecuted and revised for it as long as we live.

IV. To prejudice your minds against the Athanasian Creed, they inform you, that the doctrine of the Trinity, as there set forth, is not expressed in the words of Scripture: there are no such propositions to be found in the declarations of Christ and his Apostles. By this it is meant, that you do not find any such expressions as—Trinity in Unity—not three Eternals, but one Eternal—and such like. The best course you can take upon this occasion, is to argue with them upon their own principles, which generally stop a man's mouth sooner than any other. Ask them, where they find it afferted in the words of Scripture, Almighty God is one supreme intelligent Being, or Person? Ask them, in what chapter or verse, Christ or his Apostles did ever declare, that the Holy Spirit is sinfer Minister in the Government of the Church; and where it is said that he has Angels for his Assistants? Ask them, again, where they meet with the proposition—the worship of Christ is inserior, or mediatorial? And you might ask them twenty more such questions, which they can never answer upon their own principles: so that they have employed an Argument to corrupt you, which returns upon themselves, and with this disadvantage on their side, that they have departed from the sense as well as the words of Scripture; but the Church, if, besides the words of Scripture, it uses others, does still retain such a sense, as the words of Scripture will clearly justify.

V. But lest you should believe this, they assure you the Athanafian Creed has proposed a downright contradiction as an Article of Faith; and if this be the case, then indeed we must allow that such a contradiction cannot be justified by the words of Scripture. "You must believe (say they) if " this Creed has any weight, that three Gods is one God 6." If you examine the Creed itself, you will find no such doctrine as they have put into it; but, on the contrary, that the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghoft, are NOT THREE GODS, but ONE GOD; and again, "We are " forbidden, by the Catholic Religion, to fay, there be Three " Gods." I pray you to observe this; and to consider with yourselves, whether our adversaries, supposing them to be fatisfied in their own consciences that they were able to confute the Catholic doctrine of Three persons, and one God, would have endeavoured to take advantage of your simplicity, by putting this false notion of Three Gods into the place of it?

VI. Upon other occasions, they try to give you an ill opinion of our ecclesiastical forms, by calling them the decrees of fallible men?, and Creeds of human invention?; which is a very mean objection, unless they who make it, and propose a contrary sort of belief, are themselves infallible.

fe

n

tl

We readily own that the persons, who drew up the forms used in the Church were men like ourselves. But did they deliver the doctrine of these forms as their own doctrine, or as the doctrine of Almighty God in the Scripture? If they delivered it as their own, then their fallibility would be a pertinent confideration; but if it is the doctrine of the Scripture, then the fallibility of the men who delivered it, is nothing to the purpole; and as fuch only we take it, using our own private judgment in relation to the men, but fubmitting our reason to the infallible Spirit of God. A judge who fits upon the bench by the king's authority, to determine civil causes, is a fallible man: but so far as he makes the law of the land the rule of his judgment, he is infallible. And we never attempt to perfuade you, that the teachers of our Church are infallible, but so far only as they make the Scripture the rule of their judgment, Therefore, when you hear them reflected upon as fallible men, do them fo much justice as to ask yourselves the question, whether they who make this objection are themselves infallible? Is not the Author of an Appeal to the Common Sense of all Christian People, a fallible man, when he tells you, in terms of human invention, that God is one Supreme intelligent Agent, or Perfon? that the Holy Spirit is his first Minister? that Christ did really fuffer in his highest capacity ?? that he is to be honoured with Mediatorial Worship? Doth he not deliver these doctrines as a fallible man? Yea verily, not only as one who may be, but who actually is, deceived, if the Scripture is true.

VII. As a farther encouragement to opposition, you are taught that any body may deny the Trinity upon Protestant principles. And here give me leave to tell you, my friends, that there are some people who seem to think it is the profession of a Pratestant, not to believe but to deny; and that a man is no good Protestant, unless he disputes every thing that falls in his way. Had this been the true Christian spirit, our Saviour would probably have recommended it to his hearers, by fetting a bear, or a tyger, or a fox, before them, and proposing these creatures as the best examples of it. Instead of which he shewed them what his followers ought to be, by prefenting to them a little child as their pattern; whence the people were to understand, that as a little child receives the instruction of its parents, without any of the perverse disputings of a corrupted mind; so ought they to receive the kingdom of heaven, that is, the doctrine of the Golpel. This is a disposition levely in the fight of God and men, and fo far from rendering the possessors of it more liable to be imposed upon, that none but persons of this temper are able to differn the truth when it is offered, according to that expression of Christ-I thank thee, O Father, Lord of howen and earth, that thou haft hid thefe things from the wife and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. There would be more peace in the world than there is now, if men would but remember this; and there would be more wildom too: for none are so blind as they who are always boasting of the quickness of their own eye-fight; they are fo filled up with the opinion of their understanding every thing, that it is impossible to make them understand when they are mistaken.

❷

But it may be dangerous to enlarge any farther upon this subject, lest it should be suspected that I am leading you into Popery.

negrees

There is, however, a very false light, in which your liberty, as Protestants, is represented to you, and therefore I think it my duty to make you aware of it. "No Pro"testant (they say) can, consistently with acknowledging the Scripture as the only rule, charge you with the least presumption, for bringing decrees not found there to the test of a rational enquiry." The decrees here alluded to is the doctrine of a Trinity in Unity. As to myself, my whole Book bears witness for me, that I thought it my own duty, and would have it also be your practice, to bring this doctrine to the test of Scripture, as the only sufficient rule in such a case. And I am persuaded, no reasonable Christian will hav

the

the cha

und

in tak

it v

you

vife

me

ma A

pre

wa

tric

£12.

Ca

up

and

the

fre

the

m

bu

tia

At

he

m

of

U

in 11

have any objection to your proceedings, if you examine in the best manner you are able, whether the Catholic doctrine of the Trinity is found in the Scripture, or not. But we shall charge you justly with a great deal of presumption, if you undertake to compare it with Scripture as a decree not found in Scripture: for this is to beg the question; that is to take it for granted that a decree is falfe, and then compare it with the Scripture to fee whether it be true. If this is your method, you must unavoidably conclude as your advifers have done before you. To prevent which, I recommend those words of the wise man-He that answereth & matter, before he heareth it, it is folly, and shame unto him A Protestant who enters upon a mock enquiry with these prejudices and anticipations, is guilty of great injustice to: wards his Christian brethren, and is all the while putting a trick upon himfelf, lis dain lander vinistres orange offer den

If you confult the discourse to the reader, prefixed to the Catholic Doctrine, you will fee, toward the latter end of it; upon what grounds I have charged the learned Dr. Clarks. and his followers, with this unfair practice of bringing to the Scripture that knowledge which they ought to receive from it. Perhaps you never heard any history of that Author. therefore I will tell you thus much of him: that he was a man greatly to be respected for his temper and scholarship; but it happened, unfortunately for his character as a Christian, that he wrote a celebrated book upon the Being and Attributes (or perfections) of God; and having discovered, as he thought, by the force of his own wit, what God was and must be in all respects, he rejected the Christian doctrine of the Trinity; and to put the best face he could upon his Unbelief, spent much of the remainder of his life in writing ambiguous comments, and finding various readings, that is, in picking holes in the Bible. ad.

The Author of an Appeal to the Common Sense of all Christian People, calls him, the immortal Dr. Clarke 3, and has borrowed from him the substance of that whole book, which was the worst thing he ever wrote in his life. The glittering characters of great, learned, and immertal, are frequently thrown out with an intention to dazzle the eyes of common headers; and chiefly by those writers who are most forward to accuse us of an implicit obedience to human anthority, and the decrees of fallible and interested men. But if you leave the faith and hope of a Christian, your loss will be equally great, whether you are tempted to it by the Pope of Rome, or by the immertal Dr. Samuel Clarke.

₿

VIII. Now we are upon the subject of human characters. I will propose to you, on the other hand, those learned and godly Martyrs, who were concerned in reforming the Church of England from the errors of Popery. If the doctrine of the Trinity is fo contrary to the Scripture, as our adverfaries would have you believe, how did it happen that these men, who were certainly endued with all the advantages and ornaments of human learning, and had the Bible fo often in their hands, that they translated every word of it into the English tongue, suffered this doctrine of the Trinity to fland unreformed? I will shew you how the Arians endeavoured to folve this difficulty, which is indeed a very great one. They fay, "it may fairly be prefumed, that as they " were just come out of the gross corruptions of Popery, " they did not fee the whole truth as it is in Jefus "." So that notwithstanding their resolution to reform, yet Popery hung about them still, and they did not reform To much as they ought to have done. But if you are to be guided by presumptions, you will soon discover, that the fairer prefumption is on the other fide, when the nature of men and things upon such occasions is rightly considered. When tares, growing amongst wheat, are to be plucked up, there is not nearly fo much danger that any tares should be left behind, as that fome of the wheat should be plucked up along with them. If you have a crooked flick in your hand, and would make it straight, the first step you take is to bend it too much the contrary way; after which it may come to be right at last. Just so it happens, that if mankind are of

they a

averfi

extret

but ag

little,

every

be in Pope

Afp

to G

it W

are I

Eng

caut

be i

men

pro

Tri

uni

of

the

the re

66.

66

q

tl

P

are offended with any thing, and fenfible of a past error, they are apt to fly from it with such an undistinguishing aversion, as to fall, before they are aware, into the contrary extreme : and their prejudice, if they have any, is not for, but against, what they are correcting. Instead of doing too little, they are in danger of being in such a heat as to over-doevery thing they fet about: whence it is most naturally tobe inferred, that our Divines, who reformed the errors of Popery, were not then inclined to act in favour of Popery. A spirit of Reformation is an excellent thing; and I wish to God it abounded amongst us more than it does, provided it would exert its force against those real corruptions, which are but too visible to all serious members of the Church of England; but unless it is tempered with great wisdom and caution, it degenerates naturally into a spirit of contradiction. Which things being considered, I would advise you not to be influenced by any prefumptive reflections upon the judgment of our first Reformers, till the Arians are able to prove, by some direct evidence, that the doctrine of the Trinity, as now expressed in our Creeds and Offices, is an unreformed article of Popery.

IX. Our adversaries lay so great a stress upon this charge of popery, and find it so convenient at every turn, that they are determined to make papists of us at any rate; therefore they assure you, in words not sit for a Christian to repeat, that "the Church of Rome had as good a right to "impose the worship of angels, and the Virgin Mary, upon the consciences of men, as the church of England had to impose the worship of the Holy Spirit as God, and of "Three Persons as one God". The papists, without question, will thank them for putting the worship of the Virgin Mary upon a level with that of the Holy Spirit. But this respect being paid to the papists at our expence, it is proper you should be made acquainted with the merits of this affair.

The papils do not pretend to justify their worship of the blessed Virgin by any precept or example of the Scripture; but tell you, in some sabulous legends, what heavenly savours have been granted to her worshippers; that ignorant people, may be encouraged to the like idolatry. But where will the Arians find any such stories imposed by the church of England, to justify the worship of the Holy Ghost?

If you ask the papists how they can prove that we ought to worship the blessed Virgin, the best argument they can allege, is the practice and infallibility of their own Roman Catholic church: but do we ever attempt to quiet your seruples with any pretensions to unscriptural authority, or perfonal infallibility?

Let us pass at length to the Scripture itself, which will hew you how dangerous it is for unlearned and well-meaning people to trust themselves in the hands of an Arian reasoner.

Doth the Scripture, in any chapter or verse of it, call the bodies of Christian people the Temple of the Virgin Mary? But the apostle St. Paul faith-Know ye not that your body is the Temple of the Holy Ghost ? And what is the use of a temple? Is it not an house of prayer, praise, and sacrifice? He that has a temple must be entitled to divine honours in it; or we shall be guilty of idolatry when we worship him in his own temple; which is abfurd. The apostle himself makes this practical inference in the words which immediately follow-Therefore glorify God in your body. And if the word God in this place denotes an object of worship exclusive of the Holy Spirit, (as our adversaries are obliged to suppose, or give up the point) then it will follow, that the Temple belongs to one Being, and the glory and worship to another; which is one of these many strange things you are bound to believe, before you can be of the Arian opinion?.

Can you find it any where written in the Scripture, that the angels of heaven worshipped the Virgin Mary? Read the sixth chapter of the prophet Isaiah, in which the Sera-

phim

⁶ See Carb. Doct. Chap. ii. Art. 10. 7 You may fee the Author of the Appeal driven to this abfurdity, and endeavouring feriously to uphold it, if you consult his book, p. 61, 62.

phin ascribe Glory to that Lord of Hoss who space the following words to the prophet—Go, and tell this pople, hear se indeed, but understand not, &c. Now St. Paul eaches us, in the last chapter of the Acts, that these words were spoken by the Holy Chost. So that when we say, "Gory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the HOLY CHOST," we have the example of the seraphim in heaver for this way of worship; a consideration which will mak us easy under all the opposition it meets with here below in the world.

2

10

H

2

When you have reflected upon these things, hen you may ask yourselves the question, Whether Christans who are born of God are any where faid to be born of the Virgin Mary? Whether the Apostles, who were called of God to the ministry of the Gospel, were called of the Virgir Mary? Whether the Virgin Mary can be tempted and basphemed by finners? Whether the conferred divine inspiration upon the prophets of the Old, or the apostles of the Nev Testament? Whether we are baptized in the NAME, that is, into the religion and worship of the Virgin Mary? But all these things, and many more, are true of the Holy Spirit; who dwelling in our body as in his own temple, istherein to be ferved and glorified; and being also worshipsed and glorified, together with the Father and the Son, by the angels of heaven, I think we have a better right to worship him here upon earth, than the papifts have to worship the Virgin Mary, Jong and a page bow more red . Todo.

Our adversaries would persuade you we have so ittle to say upon this subject from the Scripture, that it is a great sayour in them not to triumph over us, and insult us or it? As if it were no insult upon the Church of England to suppose her worship as groundless as the idolatry of the papists!

The Argument drawn from the words of Isaiab with those of St. Paul is very plain, and very close: "The Lord of Hosts, whom the seraphin glorified, spake those words

See Cath. Doft. Chap. III. Are KIK. 9 See Appeal, p. 104. note.

" which were spoken by the Holy Ghast: therefore the " Holy Choft is the Lord of Hofts whom the feraphin " glorified" Yet the author of the Appeal declares, tha nothing car be more fallacious than this way of reasoning, and that he cald in the same manner conclude that Isaiab is the Lord, becuse the words of the Lord (I was found of the that fough me not) are applied to Haiah, Rom. x. 20. Where the Aposte thus introduces them-But Esaias is very bold and faith, I was found of them that fought me not !. This author, I believe, is the first Christian who did ever suppose that the Apostle applied the words in this verse to the person of Elaias, or those in the preceding to the person of Moses. This, hovever, is not worth infifting upon, because he has militaken the nature of the argument. The force of it lies here; that the speaker of the words above-mentioned, as they stand in the prophet Isaiah, is called by the name of the Lord of Hofts, was glorified by angels, seated upon the throne of heaven, and fent a prophet by his own authority; and this speaker, as St. Paul informs us, was the Holy Ghost If the Scripture doth any where affert that Isaiah spake under the fame name, and with the fame circumstances, then we shall be ready to allow that the cases are parallel, and will worshiphim also. Had the objector expressed himself clearly, his meaning would have appeared to be this: that because God fpeaks by a prophet, and fpeaks also by his Holy Spirit, as much may be inferred in honour of the one as of the other. But when God speaks by a prophet, he speaks by another when he speaks by his Spirit, he speaks by himself. He reconciled the world by Jefus Christ, but not as by another; for God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. So when he fpeaks by his Spirit, he fpeaks by himself; as truly as a man utters his voice by the fairle or breath of his own mouth; or fearcheth his own thoughts by the operation of his own mind. I am not afraid to infift upon this comparison, because I borrow it from St. Paul: and it demonstrates such an unity between God and the Spirit of God, as Christians believe, and Arians do not: nor do they attempt to get over it by any folution I have yet feen. which will not also prove that a man and his spirit must be two different beings; or that we may correct an Apostle's argument till it squares with our own opinion. In this manner reasons the author of the Appeal. The Spirit is represented as a Person who searcheth the deep things of God, and confequently be cannot be God 2. But if he cannot be God, because he searcheth the things of God; then the spirit of a man cannot be a man, because it knoweth the things of a man. But observe how he proceeds: "No man, says he, " can know, or make known to others the thoughts of a " man, but either the man himself, or he to whomsoever the " man will discover them." In which words the premises are manifestly changed. The Apostle saith, what man knoweth the things of a man, but the spirit of man which is in bim; that is, the man himself: but the author of the Appeal fays, either the man himself, or some other. The Scripture itself gives us the Catholic conclusion; this alteration of the Scripture will admit of the Arian conclusion. From St. Paul's comparison, the Spirit is God himself; from this author's, he is either God himfelf, or some other.

X. In a book lately published against the Articles of Religion, under the title of The Confessional, I have met with a new objection to our way of worship; which, as it can deceive none but common readers, I shall present you with it in this place. "The Athanasian Creed says," as the author of this work observes, "that in ALL THINGS the Unity in Trinity, and the Trinity in Unity is to be worshipped 3." Then he asks, "Is this the case in ALL our forms of wor-"ship? Turn back to the Litany," (that is, turn forward, the Litany stands after the Athanasian Creed) "and you will see three distinct invocations of the three Persons, to each of whom the term God is assigned, implying a sufficiency in each, in his personal capacity, to hear and grant the rious deviation from the Athanasian maxim; and that other might be given in great abundance.

the

the 25

ten

ters

bro

ceff

But

bou

in f

is, r

fhan

of o

trine

of A hind

the objec

that

Chri

faith

fhoul

is, w

admi

to th

up.

libert

that (

a Chi

this d

the A

and t

long

If

T

(

By an Athanasian, he means a Christian maxim; but call it Athanafian, that your faith may feem to fland in the wifdon of men: and our deviation from this maxim is evident t him, from the three distinct invocations in the beginning of the Litany, But if you look into the Litany itself, yo will discover, that these three invocations are followed by fourth, addressed to the "Holy, blessed, and glorious Tri " nity, three Persons and ONE GOD." In the three former petitions, the Unity in Trinity; in the fourth, the Trinity in Unity is worthipped. But of this fourth he take no notice; and then accuses the Church of a remarkable and notorious deviation from her own maxims; whereas he ough to have taken the whole address together, and then have urged his exceptions, if any fuch could have been reason ably made against it. To take one portion of any form abstracted from another which completes it, and then charg his brethren with defects and contradictions of his own making, is agreeable neither to found criticism, nor indee to common equity. Such a practice as this will convice even the Scripture itself of atheism: for if you leave ou the words-The fool hath faid in his heart, there will remain the naked affertion-there is no God. Or it might be proved from the Gospel, as I once heard it attempted by an excommunicated infidel, that the Old Testament is now to b utterly condemned and laid aside, because it is said-Han all the law and the prophets. But if the fentence be taken it that form in which the Scripture hath given it, the fense i entirely altered; and fo it happens with the objection latel discovered by the author of the Confessional. His brethren as you have feen, accuse us of believing in Three Gods; an he mocks at our worthip, as if it could be reconciled wit no other principle.

XI. But it is said farther, that the doctrine of the Trinit is an offensive doctrine 4, which has done infinite mischief the cause of Christ's religion, and that it is in vain to expect the conversion of Jews, Mahometans, and Heathers, so long as we hold this doctrine necessary to salvation.

On such occasions as this, the Gospel, I fear, will countenance but a very small degree of compliance. In matters indifferent, and for the sake of those who have not yet broken the bond of peace, and Christian unity, every concession ought to be made that can be made with innocence. But if we once quit our moorings, to launch out into the boundless ocean of worldly Policy, miscalled Moderation, in search of proselytes, whose pride, pleasure, and merit it is, not to be found and converted, we shall be rewarded with shame and disappointment, and shall also make shipwreck of our own fasth.

The Socinians objected it to us long ago, that the doctrines of the Trinity and Incarnation prevent the conversion of Mahometans, Jews, and Pagans. And the same doctrines hinder our Arians and Socinians too from being converted; the true character of the Christian Saviour, and the true object of Christian worship, being so essential to the Gospel, that no man is to be accounted a convert, till he agrees with Christians in these articles. Were we to alter the Christian saith into what Jews, Turks, and Pagans believe, then we should gain them all; for then we should be agreed; that is, we should cease to be Christians as well as they.

If this reasoning is of any force in one case, it must be admitted in others. The Trinity, they say, is so offensive to the Turks, that we shall never gain them till it is given up. No: nor then neither. For Mahomet gave them a liberty of having several wives; but Christ hath taught us, that God in the beginning made them male and semale, and that a Christian must have no more wives than Adam had. Of this doctrine I may therefore say, with as much reason as the Arians do of the Trinity, that it has done infinite mischief, and that we can never expect the conversion of Mahometans, so long as it keeps its place in the Cospel of Christ. If an

Arian or Socinian were to preach in the streets of Constantinople, infissing properly upon this doctrine, he would make no converts: for the Turk will as soon be persuaded to worship the Trinity in Unity, or even three different Gods, as submit to have no more than one wise. And this may serve to shew the weakness and absurdity of such popular arguments; to which, I apprehend, our disputants against the Church would not apply themselves so very often, could they depend safely upon better topics. If the present saith and worship of the Church are against the Scripture, that is enough; and we shall want no other arguments to persuade us out of them. But if they are not, I leave you to judge, my friends, whether we ought to forsake them out of civility to the Turks, who pray five times a day that they may never become Christians.

But there are Papists in the world who have fouls to be faved as well as the Turks; and what would they think of us, if we thould gratify Jews, Heathens, and Mahometans, by denying the Trinity? They have always been found in the belief of this doctrine; and we could never hope to recover any profelytes from the errors of Popery; but, on the contrary, should make the religion of Protestants more odious than ever, if, under the name of reformation, we were to root up the foundations of the Gospel. You have heard, perhaps, that they have called us Heretics for these two hundred years past; and very falsely: but if we should abjure the Christian Trinity, we should no longer have the name for nothing; but should be guilty of adding that truth to the accusation, of which they would not fail to make their advantage. And, lastly, the far greatest part of Protestants would reject us.

These things being considered, we are brought at length to the following issue: that to please some, we must part with the doctrine of the Trinity; and to please others, we must keep it. Which may shew plainly enough what I have had in view from the beginning of this Epistle, that merely popular arguments are of no use towards settling points of scriptural doctrine; but it may be turned this way or that as the manager finds it most convenient. Discretion and charity are indeed to be consulted by every Christian, and on every subject; but a writer who has a good cause to maintain, and knows where its proper strength lies, will not go out of his way to amuse people with what is nothing to the purpose. Whereas, if a cause is not so strong as it should be, popular considerations serve to put the reader into an heat; and when a man's passions are up, he will hear no reason on one side, and requires none on the other.

XII. There is one more of their infinuations, which is the last I shall make any remarks upon at present; and it is this, viz. that "there are feveral Clergymen of the Church of England, who groan under the weight of the Athana-" fian forms and worship, that would be very glad of your " affiftance to be delivered from fo great a burden upon " their consciences "." For the credit of the Church of England, I hope there are not many such: but if any Clergymen should be so mistaken as to imagine, that a contempt for any of the Christian doctrines is an argument of their superior sense and learning, they are more truly the objects of Pity, than of Envy or Imitation: and your Arian counsellors, who are so forward to caution you against human authority, will give me leave to advise you not to depend upon human example. An error is still an error though it resides in a Clergyman; and instead of being thereby sanctified, is only more deformed and dangerous than it was before. A profane oath, or a curfe, would found the more horrible, if a Bishop were to have the uttering of it. A toad is an hideous creature in every fituation; but is never fo much abhorred as when it creeps into the best room of the house. The ministers of Christ are the salt of the earth: and if this falt have loft its favour, wherewith shall it be fea-Soned?

The Scripture will teach you, that the worship of the Golden Calf was a grievous sin, though Aaron, who was a Clergyman, had the making of it. And there was a time, when the whole body of the Clergy, I mean the Jewish, determined Christ himself to be a blasphemer and deceiver, and were instant with loud voices requiring that he might be crucified.

⁶ Appeal, p. 120.

Those Clergymen, who, like Dr. Clarke and his follower, the author of the Appeal, do by their own confession believe two different Gods, while they falsely accuse us of believing Three, would undoubtedly be very glad to be well rid of a Trinity in Unity; as the Turks were, when they took the religion of Mahomet into the place of it. And if they should at length prevail, by dint of popular clamour and importunity, of which some wonderful effects have been seen in this kingdom, the Turks, and the Jews too, would congratulate them upon their victory; and so would every determined Deist and Atheist in the nation. Yet, after all, none of them would worship that imagined inferior Deity, whom this author would persuade you to worship.

I believe it also to be very true, that they would, as their advocate tells you, be very glad of your assistance. And I have been considering with myself in what form and manner your assistance can be administered. They can hardly mean, that you should assist them with the pen, and write books upon Reformation; for very sew amongst you are scholars; nor with the tongue, for you are no orators. And I know not how you can assist them otherwise, except it be with fire and sword, as the reformed Clergy were assisted in the last century, when loyalty was malignity, and episcopacy was anti-christianity, and the most miserable oppression and slavery of two thirds of the people, was celebrated as a state of Christian liberty to the prevailing party.

We know but too well, that the Gospel, with all its doctrines, is an insupportable burden to those who do not believe it: and so is the law of the land to those who do not like to be under the restraint of it. Some men are fond of liberty in one shape, and some in another. Some think as they please; and others act as they please. This latter sort of people, many of whom are greaning under the weight of political farms, would also be very glad of your assistance toward amending Amending the constitution, and restoring gentlemen to that state of freedom, in which they might follow their conficiences without any danger. And, perhaps, they would not object to your assistance as unwarrantable in the sacred cause of liberty, though you should accomplish their purposes by pulling the magistrate from his chair, the judge from his bench, the two houses of parliament from their seats, and the King from his throne.

These are the prospects I have before my eyes, when I hear Deifts and Socinians haranguing the public upon the fubjects of Conscience and Imposition: which prospects having been once realized in this Church and Kingdom, cannot be deemed altogether chimerical. Such popular reafonings as I have now been contending with, have already produced the most fatal consequences, to the triumph of the Papists, and the scandal of the Reformation: they have deceived you once: and unless you are upon your guard, they will deceive you again: and the last error shall be worse than the first; worse in itself, and worse in its consequences. It pleafed God to deliver the Church from its captivity under the Puritans, and the people from their infatuation: but if experiments, when they have been tried, leave us no wifer, or, perhaps, not fo wife as they found us, it is much to be questioned whether we shall again meet with the like indulgence: at least, it will be safest always to bear in mind that course of divine Providence in a similar instance, proposed as a warning to all Christians by the apostle St. Jude, How that the Lord having faved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterwards destroyed them that believed not.

Those authors who would stir you up to seditious motions, make you so many fair speeches, and lay claim to so much candor and charity, that you may easily mistake them for your best friends. But I must now leave you to judge for yourselves, whether a writer, who lies sculking in the dark, under a nameless title-page, can really love you better than one who is not afraid to subscribe his name at length to what he has written, and is exposing himself for your sakes to be reviled and persecuted in the monthly publications of infidel Critics, who on account of the information I have here given you, with a defire to clear away fome of that dust, which they and their friends are perpetually throwing into your eyes, will find, if possible, some worse names for me than they have ever done yet. They have expressed their wrath against me more than once or twice; and prebably they will now do it again. But a little more ill language will do me no harm; and if I can do you any good at such an expence, it will all be chearfully taken by your

Very fincere Friend, and most affectionate

Brother in Christ,

PLUCKLEY, Dec. 16, 1766.

WILLIAM JONES.

FINIS.